AMERICAN VICTIMS OF SEA RAID SAFE

BRYAN LIFTS VOICE TO MAKE STATE DRY

NINE LANDED BY JAP SHIP

ELEVEN BRITISH WARSHIPS IN CHASE

Belief Grows That Moewe Has Other Raiders in Drive on Commerce.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Nine Americans were among the crew of the British ship, St. Theodore, taken by the German raider and landed with other survivors at Pernambuco, on the Japanese ship Hudson Maru. Consul Stewart today reported they were all safe and that so far as reported no other Americans were on the other ships.

The state department today made public the following telegram from the consul and received this morning "Hudson Maru brought 237 St. Theodore crew. List shows American Ben Stevens, Royal Gregory, Frank Magee, David Johnson, E. Judy, all colored, and Fred Smith, Harry Picot, Guy Vondoren. Minieh shows Charles Jones. No American on other vessels named. All nine safe here.

Fate of 440 in Doubt.

"Survivors state that Yarrowdale, Georgic, Mount Temple, Voltaire, Snowden Range, King George, one English schooner and one Norwegian were captured to Dec. 12, when prize crew and 440 were placed on Yarrowdale and not heard from since."

Another dispatch from Mr. Stewart, dated Jan. 16 and received here Jan. 17, says: "Crews of St. Theodore, Dramatist, Radnorshire, Minieh, Netherbyhall, Nantes and Asnieres arrived today. Several Americans. Reported no lives lost."

The department also received a cable from Consul General Gottschalk at Rio, containing substantially the same facts as was contained in the report from Consul Stewart with the exception that Gottschalk places the date of the capture of the St. Theodore as January 7 and the sinking of the Minieh as January 9.

BRITISH GIVE CHASE.

Eleven Fighting Craft in Search for Daring German Raider.

New York, Jan. 19.—Notwithstanding the activity of British warships, eleven of which are hurrying from many directions into south Atlantic waters in search of the German commerce destroyer which sank the Voltaire, Georgic and other entente vessels, increased apprehension was felt in marine circles today owing to undenied credence which the shipping world in general has placed on overnight reports that the black raider,

Thomas W. Wilson, aged 79 years, one of the pioneer attorneys of Fort Wayne, died Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at St. Joseph's hospital where he had been a patient for two weeks. Death was due to infirmities arising from old age. He resided at 413 Dawson street and was well known throughout the city. At one time he was one of the most successful lawyers in the city. His wife preceded him in death. Surviving he leaves three sons —Talbott, George and Lemuel Wilson, two brothers—Albert and Donaldson, of Uniondale, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Peppert, of Bluffton.

ABANDON HOPE FOR MISSING AVIATORS

Military Authorities Fear Two Army Airmen Have Perished.

Calixeco, Cal., Jan. 19.—Military authorities practically convinced of the death of Lieutenant E G. Bishop and Lieutenant W. A. Robertson, jr., who have not been heard from since attempting an airplane flight from San Diego January 10, were nevertheless determined today to prosecute the search until all doubt of their movements since that date, had been removed. Three army airplanes are to ascend today to visit the locality in the desert of northern Sonora, Mexico, where rumors said, Papago Indians reported yesterday they had seen the bodies of two white men clad only in underclothing at a water hole. Whether the unarmed aviators perished of thirst or exposure, was not indicated by the reports.

SAY WHIPPLE WILL ACCEPT

Boston Lawyer is Expected to Appear as "Leak" Attorney.

RESENTS MESSAGE FROM UNTERMYER

Washington, Jan. 19.—Members of the house rules investigating committee, investigating the leak on President Wilson's note, apparently were confident today that Sherman L. Whipple, noted Boston lawyer, would accept the committee's invitation to act as its counsel in the inquiry. He will come to Washington tomorrow to confer with the committee and definite announcement of his acceptance is expected to follow.

Mr. Whipple was agreed upon by the committee last night, after a long and bitter contest over the selection of counsel Samuel Untermyer, a New York lawyer, had been strongly urged for the place, but on objection by some democrats, as well as all the republicans, his name was dropped.

The committee will hold no further public hearings until Monday, when a score or more of witnesses will be on hand ready to testify. Meantime, the committee will confer with counsel to perfect plans for continuing the leak investigation.

Resent Untermyer Telegram.

A telegram from Untermyer protesting against the use of his name as though he "had been seeking a job" read to the house by Representative Fitzgerald, precipitated a new discussion of the leak inquiry. The telegram declared Untermyer did not want the place and could only have accepted it at a great sacrifice. Representative Miller, Minnesota, objected to the tone of the message, which he said reflected upon the house.

"I think he is not justified," said Mr. Miller, "in sending a message that is an insult to congress. I do not think his message is either parliamentary or decent."

Mr. Fitzgerald said he objected to the "throwing of bricks" at private citizens who have rendered public service.

Representative Moore, republican, Pennsylvania, ended the discussion by saying: "Mr. Untermyer was retained to investigate the money trust; he was the people's representative for that inquiry, but I know that he represented great corporations. When Lawson suggested Untermyer I questioned his right to serve. He is the last person to be considered in connection with counsel for this investigation."

MARY GARDEN SINGS AT HOBO COLLEGE.

CALLS NEW BALFOUR NOTE FALSIFICATION

Amsterdam, Jan. 19.—The Cologne Gazette, commenting on the note of Arthur Balfour, British secretary of foreign affairs, says "The note is a falsification of history apparently aimed to wipe out the bad impression made in large circles of Americans and neutrals by the entente's rude reply to President Wilson. Naturally Balfour suppresses the fact that England possesses a world empire which certainly was not brought together by peaceful means. He suppresses the fact that a ring was drawn around Germany which was designed to exclude us as far as possible from the distribution of colonial territory to be disposed of. He invents for this purpose a story of Germany's lust for world empire without giving the least proof of his charges.

"We now know exactly the aims of the entente and our answer will be by deeds. We do not want peace such as they offer, not even by neutral mediation. We ourselves will secure such a peace. Our sword will prove stronger than their lies."

The Cologne Volks Zeitung says: "Our reply to English arrogance, distortion and menaces must be the sword and torpedo."

INDIANAPOLIS MEN ARE HONOR GUESTS

Indiana Engineering Society Hears Many Speakers at Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 19.—One hundred members of the Indianapolis branches of the National Societies of Electrical Engineers and Mechanical Engineers were guests of honor at today's sessions of the Indiana Engineering society convention here. A joint meeting was held this afternoon. Pete. Junkersfeld, of Chicago, and Harrington Emerson, of New York, were the speakers, dealing with technical subjects. Prof. C. Francis Harding, of Purdue, spoke on "Public Utility Regulation," and said it should be given a thorough trial before being condemned. Harry O. Garman, reviewed the work of the Indiana public service commission during 1916. Tonight the convention banquet will be served.

SUBSTITUTE PLAN SUBMITTED BY LEE

Trainmen's Head Offers New Rail Legislation Program.

Washington, Jan. 19.—W. G. Lee, head of the Trainmen's Brotherhood, today presented a substitute plan for President Wilson's railway labor legislation to the house commerce committee. A board of eight, equally divided between railway workers and operating officials, appointed by the president, would solve all the present difficulties over working conditions he said, would command unqualified support of the four brotherhoods and despite the fact that it would be evenly divided he predicted there would be no deadlocks.

Lee appeared primarily to oppose the Adamson bill to compel 90 days of a strike or lockout. "Let the president create so as to take it out of politics," said Lee. "A board of eight members for handling this work, four practical railroad workers such as conductors, brakemen, trainmen or engineers, and four practical operating officers.

"There would be few deadlocks on such board, despite the fact that it was evenly divided. Men who know their subject as these men should, would seldom be without a majority. Under such a plan both sides would get justice and there would be no necessity for the Adamson bill now before you or any other legislation relating to hours or wages."

Today's War News Given in Summary

Neither Berlin nor Petrograd today reports any notable change as the result of the fighting in Rumania. The Germans, according to their report, repulsed attacks north of the Suchitza valley, on the Moldavian frontier. German long range guns, the Russian statement announces, are bombarding Ocna, an important town on the lateral railway behind the Russian front in southwestern Moldavia, doubtless with the object of interfering with Russian transportation on this line. In eastern Galicia the Germans took the offensive in the sector near Zborow, east of Lemberg, but according to Petrograd, were repulsed after they had succeeded in penetrating the Russian lines at one point.

Elsewhere in the field of military operations there have been few activities of importance. This holds true of the Franco-Belgian front, where the quiet has been broken recently only by the British activities north of the Somme, which have resulted in advances for them recently near Beaucourt-sur-Ancrex. Indications are not lacking, however, that the present comparatively pacific conditions are not likely to endure long, and in this connection the extreme southern sector of the line is being closely watched. A belief is said to exist in Switzerland that the Germans contemplate an offensive with the object of freeing Alsace of the invaders.

The Swiss federal council early this week, while expressing confidence that none of the powers contemplated a violation of Swiss neutrality, ordered the mobilization of additional troops as a measure of precaution. Both Germany and France assured Switzerland that they would continue to respect her neutrality.

No further news of the whereabouts of the German sea raider, which has been sinking entente shipping in the south Atlantic, has been received, but the arrival at Cape Verde islands of the British steamer Yarrowdale with the crews of eight ships disposed of by the raider, said to number some 400 persons, is reported in unofficial advices received at Rio de Janeiro.

INDIANA GUARDSMEN ARE MUSTERED OUT

Five More Units Given Release from the Federal Service.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—The five units of the Indiana national guard which recently arrived at Fort Benjamin Harrison, after service on the Mexican border, were mustered out of the federal service this morning and were to leave the fort for their homes this afternoon. All the guardsmen will leave the fort, only the army post detachment of the regular army remaining. The units mustered out are: Battery C of Lafayette, sanitary detachment of Martinsville and Battery A, headquarters company and supply company of Indianapolis. The troops were not expected to get away from the fort before 2:30 o'clock.

RUSSIANS HAVE TAKEN OVER 428,000 IN YEAR

London, Jan. 19.—More than 428,000 officers and men were taken prisoner by the Russians during the past year, and 525 guns captured, according to the Russian service organ, as quoted in a Central News dispatch from Petrograd today. The journal closes its review of the war operations during the year with the following approximate figures of men and booty taken: Officers, 8,770; men, 420,000, guns, 525; machine guns, 1,661, trench mortars and mine throwers, 421. More than eight per cent of the foregoing was yielded by the operations of Gen. Brusiloff.

SHRINERS HAVE CHOSEN ROUTE TO MINNEAPOLIS

Fort Wayne Nobles to Have Special Train to Imperial Council.

Route over which the Nobles of Mizpah temple will make the trip from Fort Wayne to the imperial council session at Minneapolis in June has just been chosen by Mizpah temple's committee and official divan. The trip will be made in a special train of steel cars, leaving Fort Wayne at 8:55 o'clock on Sunday evening, June 24, over the Pennsylvania lines. From Chicago the train will be routed over the Burlington system, making one stop at Lake Pepin. The return trip to Chicago will be made over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul line, with a stop at The Dells, and thence over the Pennsylvania lines home.

Approximately one hundred shriners and their wives will accompany the band and patrol of Mizpah temple, and a commodious apartment house in Minneapolis has been leased as Fort Wayne headquarters during the stay there. Arrangements were completed through a committee composed of Charles E. Read, Charles H. Gumpper and E. H. Kilbourne.

POSSE BRINGS BACK BODIES OF THREE MEN

Okmulgee, Okla., Jan. 19.—A posse of ten men which left here early today in search for alleged bank robbers, returned about noon with the bodies of Oscar Poe, Will Hart and Harry Hart.

The men killed were engaged in a skirmish with the posse about 11 miles southwest of this city.

BARS COAL SHIPMENT UNTIL BLOCKADE ENDS

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 19—Orders were issued yesterday by M. S. Conners, general manager of the Hocking Valley, that no cars of that company should be loaded with coal for shipment to points requiring transfer at Toledo to the Pierre Marquette, Michigan Central, Lake Shore line or the Ann Arbor, until the present congestion on those four lines is relieved. The Hocking Valley has 1,200 cars of coal in the Columbus yards and 1,400 cars in Toledo the bulk of which is for delivery to the four connecting lines.

The order does not affect coal destined for public institutions or public utilities. General Manager Conners said he expected conditions to ease up within a few days when the order will be modified.

Wants to Clear Legislative Calendar of Administration Measures.

FEARS TO RELY ON NEXT HOUSE

Washington, Jan. 19.—In an effort to clear the legislative calendar of administration measures before the next house with questionable political status comes into power, President Wilson conferred at the capital today with the senate steering committee.

For two hours he went over the program he outlined in his opening address to congress last December, laying particular stress upon the railroad labor measures, he said, that he still desired enactment of the whole program before March 5 if possible.

What Wilson Wants.

In addition to revenue legislation the president also urged action on a corrupt practices bill, the Webb bill to permit domestic corporations to maintain collective foreign selling agencies;

OVER 1,000 AMERICANS ASK HELP TO GET AWAY

Number Seeking to Flee Syria and Palestine Now Trebled.

Washington, Jan. 19.—More than 1,000 Americans have petitioned Ambassador Elkus, at Constantinople, to get them out of Syria and Palestine. The ambassador cabled the state department today that the original estimate of 300 has more than trebled since the Turkish military authorities acceded to strong representations by the state department that American citizens be allowed to leave.

From Jaffa and Jerusalem alone an increase of over 500 American refugees has been noted, while the remainder come from scattered localities.

HE SPEAKS IN STATE SENATE

TAKES WALLOP AT INDIANA BREWER

Bill for New Constitution Advanced by House to Engrossment.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—William J. Bryan spoke two hours upon current issues in the senate chamber of the Indiana general assembly this morning. He emphasized woman suffrage and prohibition in particular. The galleries were packed as were the corridors. Mr. Bryan was escorted to the rostrum by a special committee of the senate and Governor Jas. P. Goodrich, who shared the platform with Lieut. Gov. Bush during the address.

Mr. Bryan remarked in the beginning that "it is a pretty good thing sometimes to be forced to show respect for an opponent," in reference to the evenly divided membership of the senate. "It is never safe to be too harsh with anyone who differs with you, for you never can tell when you will need him and you never can tell when he might change his mind," he added. "New questions are arising constantly," said Mr. Bryan, "that do not divide us on party lines."

"I am not so presumptuous as to come from the outside and attempt to discuss with you questions that are purely local.

A Word for Economy.

"Economy is a subject that is sure to be talked about during the campaign and very likely to be forgotten afterward. I think you are very fortunate, in this state, in having a governor who is willing to join with those out of power to reduce the number of those in power."

Mr. Bryan then discussed the housing question, in which he advocated steps to make all public buildings fire proof and urged a strict supervision of

ARMED MOB OF 150 STORMS COUNTY JAIL

Clay, W. Va., Jan. 19.—A mob of more than 150 armed men appeared at the Clay county jail here early today and demanded Andrew and Howard Sampson, who were confined there charged with murdering Preston Tanner and burning his home. The turnkey, who had the keys, could not be found and the mob fired into the jail but no one was wounded.

On the promise of the lawyers that a special term of court would be called and the prisoners given a speedy trial the mob dispersed.

ORPHAN SAYS HUNGER DROVE HIM TO MURDER

Cleveland, O., Jan. 19.—Starving pangs of hunger drove Lawrence Southall, 14, a Chicago orphan, to murder Charles H. James, 40, Baltimore & Ohio railroad car inspector, who had befriended him here late last night, the boy confessed today, say the police.

The lad had been ordered out of town. He took refuge in the railroad yards. Nearly frozen, he was taken into the inspector's shanty by James to warm himself. He says he attacked James to get money for something to eat. James' body was found by fellow workmen.

Gov. Goodrich Hears Arguments in Lee Case

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—Arguments before Gov. Goodrich on the charges filed against Edwin M. Lee, former progressive state chairman, asking his removal as a member of the Indiana public service commission, were to be heard this afternoon. The final evidence was submitted late yesterday.

The testimony at yesterday's hearing was to the effect that two men employed in the advertising departments of local newspapers were directed by D. R. Mellett, publicity agent for the progressives, to call at the office of Democratic State Chairman Korbly to get copy for a half page advertisement during the last campaign.

The direction, it was alleged, was given in Lee's presence. One of the charges against Lee is that he is a democrat. Lee testified he had voted a straight progressive ticket. Evidence in the form of letters and telegrams he signed, answering requests that he support some of the national democratic candidates were introduced in his behalf. Lee refused to do as requested.

Germany Has Withdrawn Charge Against Vopicka

Washington, Jan. 19.—Germany has withdrawn charges of unneutral conduct against Minister Vopicka, accredited to Rumania, Serbia and Bulgaria, it was announced today at the state department. An explanation of the full facts in the charge of unneutral conduct was made to Germany which proved satisfactory. It is probable that Minister Vopicka, now in Berlin, will be granted leave of absence, which he requested many months ago and to which he is entitled, in order to avoid embarrassment in sending him on to his post at the Rumanian capital at Jassy, just after gaining considerable military information in his trip through the central empires.

The removal of Minister Vopicka from Bucharest was necessary [illegible] and it is probable that a special [illegible] with consular rank will be [illegible] shortly by the [illegible] many to have had nothing to do with the previous charges of unneutral conduct, but to have been occasioned by the insistence of the military authorities that all neutral diplomats be withdrawn. This is in accord with international law and the diplomat is accredited to the government and not to the locality. All other neutrals have left except the Persian minister who is to go shortly.

Who will care for American interests in the occupied part of Rumania and for the allied legations and interests entrusted to Minister Vopicka on the withdrawal of the allied diplomats has not been decided. There is no American consul resident at [illegible] and it is probable that a special [illegible] with consular rank will be [illegible] shortly by the [illegible]

BIG BANKERS CALLED IN WALL STREET "LEAK" PROBE.

WHO SHOT PARRANT IS STILL MYSTERY

Who shot Joseph Parrant?

Police, who have been working day and night since the murder, feel that they are little nearer solution of the crime mystery than they were when Parrant, the grocery clerk, crashed to the floor in the little Maumee avenue store, with a bullet through his head, while his slayer fled through the front door into the sheltering blackness Monday night.

George Geerken, deliveryman for the Cattez grocery and who was in the room when Parrant was shot, has told but one story since he dashed, wild-eyed, into the saloon next door and gasped out, "Parrant is shot."

Geerken only knows that a tall man in a long black overcoat and wearing a stocking cap fired the fatal shot.

Julius Wrasse, of Mishawaka, who was brought to Fort Wayne from Kendallville Wednesday as a suspect, is still being held in the city jail. He will be sharply questioned again on Friday afternoon. Police believe that Wrasse may be able to prove an alibi for himself, as Wrasse says he was in Elkhart on the night of the murder.

There are other suspects. While all clues which police have followed so far have led to nothing, yet Chief Lenz says he feels that some more definite action may come before the week-end.

Referring to the primary election law, which was pending, he said, during a previous visit, Mr. Bryan indorsed the second choice idea and expressed the hope that the legislature would not "take a step backward" by repealing this provision.

Constitutional Convention.

In advocating a constitutional convention Mr. Bryan, when corrected in the assertion that this promise was a part of the platforms of both political parties and informed that it was a part of the recommendations of both the retiring and incoming governors, said, "Well, that's even better. For I have known platforms to be ignored after election. But when a democratic and republican governor can get together on anything it ought to make it certain."

"You will find very few states that have a constitution as old as yours," he said. "You need a new constitution in this state more than most states, because your constitution hampers you in attempting to change the constitution."

Attacks Compulsory Training.

Mr. Bryan attacked compulsory military training, saying, "You cannot have compulsory training unless you cultivate a military spirit that is a menace to your country."

The speaker declared the railroads of the country are trying to secure "less regulation" by having supervision of their affairs transferred from the states to the nation and he argued against such a change. He advocated an official newspaper for the nation and state, to be bi-partisan in character and carrying official news and editorials from both "sides."

Introducing his plea of suffrage Mr. Bryan said, "There is one advantage in talking on this subject, that is you know you are on the side that is going to win. And that is a consolation I have not always had."

Raps Indiana Brewer.

Mr. Bryan charged that "a man connected with a brewery in Indiana was one of a committee of four who brought in a minority report against suffrage" at the democratic national convention in St. Louis and he asked that this man be rebuked as his colleagues have been. Mr. Bryan added: "I believe this country needs the votes of the women more than the women need the ballot. I am anxious that the women shall be invited to help us in that titantic struggle which shall not end until this nation is saloonless forevermore."

Mr. Bryan advocated a law prohibiting newspapers from carrying liquor advertisements and added: "I want Indiana to join with Nebraska and the other states to throw her influence on the side that is high and holy."

Passed to Engrossment.

The bill providing for a constitutional convention was passed in the house to engrossment this afternoon, after an amendment, offered by Representative McGonagle, republican, and seconded by democratic floor leader, Cravens, had been adopted.

The amendment provides that the representation in the convention shall be based on the legislative instead of the senatorial districts but does not change the number of delegates to the convention.

After being in session only a few minutes, during which the committee on judiciary A reported for passage the bill to place a tax of 50 cents on all mortgages of $100 value, the lower branch of the legislature this morning recessed for one hour to permit the members to hear William Jennings Bryan, who addressed the senate on invitation of the members of the upper house. The house by a vote of 54 to 33 earlier in the week declined to invite Mr. Bryan to address a joint session of the legislature.

New Primary Bill Coming.

Representative Mason, of Milton, announced today that he would introduce a new primary election bill in the lower house next Monday, to replace the primary bills killed in committee yesterday. The bill will provide for the holding of primaries in May, but will not be effective until 1918, whereas the bills killed changed the primary dates this year. The Mason bill, according to the author, would provide for holding the registration of voters on the same day as the primary. By this feature, he asserts, there will be a larger vote cast in the primaries and the choice will represent more nearly the will of the people.

Kills Off Primary Change.

Two bills changing city primary election dates in Indiana from March to May, August or September were indefinitely postponed by the house committee on elections yesterday after a public hearing in which there was a practically unanimous expression of opinion that the March date should be permitted to stand this year. Under the present law all primaries will be held March 6.

The bill chiefly under consideration was that written by Senator Kinder, of Gary, changing the Indianapolis primary date to the first Tuesday after the third Monday in May, and election dates in other cities to the first Tuesday after the third Monday in August. House bill No. 49, by Representative Alldred, of Anderson, proposed a change of all elections to the first Tuesday after the first Monday in September.

Spokesmen for second class cities urged that they be included in the provision applying to Indianapolis. Speakers from Indianapolis preferred the March date, because the primary campaign is far advanced, and a change of date would result in confusion and unnecessary additional expenses.

The organization will be composed of one man from each trade, craft and profession in Fort Wayne. No line of business can be represented by more than one man. POSTAL CENSORSHIP ON DEPORTED WORKERS

Belgian Government Gives Out News of German Regulations.

New York, Jan. 19.—A postal censorship affecting deported Belgian workers was established by the Germans, according to a cablegram received from the Belgian government in Havre, France, by Pierre Mali, the Belgian consul here. A translation of the message was made public today by Mr. Mali. It reads:

"Official German record of the military zone in Belgium under date of December 15, publishes a set of regulations for the postal service of the deported workers, prohibiting their mentioning to their families their places of work, thus seeming to indicate that they are working for the German army.

"A new batch of deported working people from Ghent were returned to Ghent, sick and several dying. They relate unheard of suffering on the German front in France and considerable mortality owing to exhaustion from forced labor."

believed to be the famous Moewe, is not operating unassisted.

According to these reports this fugitive raider carried several sets of armament and has furnished guns to at least two of her captive ships, the St. Theodore and the Yarrowdale which in turn became preying rovers.

The Yarrowdale, British, is reported to have arrived at the Cape Verde islands with the crews of eight of the ships which were sunk. Her early departure on a raiding mission would cause no surprise among shippers.

Reports as yet unconfirmed place the present whereabouts of the Moewe a considerable distance north of the Ireland-to-Brazil sea lanes, where her havoc was accomplished. Meanwhile the entent war vessels are keeping close watch on several merchant vessels suspected of supplying the Moewe and her allies with food and of assisting them in other ways.

As a precaution against an illegal use of Brazilian territory as a base of operations for the German ships a portion of the Brazilian navy is maneuvering off that country.

water power and mineral land leasing measures, and the Porto Rican citizenship bill.

Although there was no suggestion of an extra session in case the president's program cannot be completed by March 4, Senator Kern declard that the thought in the minds of all was that it would be much less difficult to enact the measures to which the democratic party has been committed at this session than in the next congress.

Newlands Divulged It.

Senator Newlands acknowledged to the senate today that it was he who furnished to Interstate Commerce Commissioner Daniels, while it was yet held confidential, the executive session speech of Senator Cummins, attacking the commissioner's confirmation. Opponents of Commissioner Daniels contend that by having possession of the speech, he was enabled to prepare a reply.

After the statement of Senator Newlands, the senate went into executive session to consider the resolution of Senator Norris to investigate the disclosure of the speech.

DOCTOR TO EXPLAIN JUST WHAT HE MEANS

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 19.—Dr. Safford, autopsy surgeon, who examined the bodies of those killed by a bomb explosion during a preparedness parade last July as the result of which Thomas J. Mooney is on trial here, on a charge of murder, is to take the witness stand today and explain to the court just what he means when he said yesterday that in his opinion the bomb had not exploded from the sidewalk because of the wounds in the heads of several of the victims.

The state contends that the bomb was placed on the sidewalk by Mooney and Warren K. Billings, now serving a term in prison. Dr. Stafford was being cross examined by Attorney W. Bourke Cockran when he made the damission which the defense said it considered a break in the chain of state's evidence. Dr. Stafford requested that he be allowed to qualify his opinion.

A half dozen physicians were expected to testify today regarding the death of the ten men and women while two score relatives of the dead will be summoned to the stand.

Must Find Substitute for Saloon Says Former Barkeep, Now Preacher

Man Who Devotes Life to Reclaiming Souls Says Normal Man is Social and Place Must Be Provided Where He Can Be Sociable.

(By HONOR FANNING.)

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 19.—"Big Bill" Saunders, former barkeep at a hotel in Smithton, Pa., is today Rev. William McClellan Saunders, an ordained minister, preaching temperance at the Avondale Presbyterian church, Chicago.

"I'll give the saloon ten years," says the Rev. Saunders. "We will vote them out before 1927.

"We can't close the saloon until we find a substitute for it. The normal man is a social man. Civic, church or social organizations must provide places where men may meet for sociability.

"Worry, loneliness, over-work or no work and sometimes pure devilment are some reasons men go to saloons. Let us give the decent fellows better working conditions and starve out the saloon."

"Just plain decency made me quit the saloon.

"When the light came, I saw myself standing behind the bar warping, maybe killing men's souls. They couldn't hit back at me. My whisky had taken away their only weapon of defense—self-respect and will power.

"Money was rolling in. I was living high.

"But one day a lad was killed on the railroad tracks near my saloon. A bottle with my saloon label was found in his pocket. That made me feel queer.

"A man went out of my saloon drunk and later he committed murder. Then I began to ask myself, 'Am I my brother's keeper?' The jingle of whisky money jarred me after that; the sight of a drunken man made my conscience sting.

"It was while playing cards, strangely enough, that God called me. The card game turned into a Bible class. I saw myself as the wives of drunkards and the children of drunkards saw me—a wrecker of men, a destroyer of homes."

The Rev. William McClellan Saunders, Former Barkeep, Now Minister.

"I sold my saloon. With my family I was reconsecrated in the church—we had all been church members once.

"I was 48, but decided to consecrate the remainder of my life to reclaiming men's souls.

"I entered the Moody Bible institute in Chicago and later I studied at the McCormick Theological seminary for three years. Last April I was ordained and took charge of this parish."

LYRIC THEATRE BLDG. GLASSES, INCLUDING EXAMINATION, $5.00 UP.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in Fort Wayne by Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. and other druggists.

PLANS IMPROVEMENT OF ELECTION LAWS

Washington, Jan. 19.—One of the most important bills pending in congress was introduced this week by Representative Warren Worth Bailey of Pennsylvania—a bill to permit states to elect their representatives in congress by the proportional system of election. The idea of this system is that all voters, even if they happen to be minority voters, are entitled to representation, in proportion to their numbers. The present system enthrones the majority and entirely disfranchises the minority.

"Our system," said Mr. Bailey explaining his bill, "is supposed to be representative, but everyone knows that it is not truly so. What representation is there for a democrat in Vermont or for a republican in Texas? There are democrats in Vermont, as there are republicans in Texas, but they are as utterly denied representation in congress as if they did not exist. They indeed go through the forms of exercising their citizenship. They vote for candidates for congress. But for all the good their ballots do toward securing for them representation here they would as well stuff their ballot into rat holes or chuck them into the kitchen stove. The only real purpose a democrat serves in Vermont is to entitle the republican in that state to a larger representation in this house than they would otherwise get. But the democrats might just as well be dead in actuality as they are politically for all same is equally true as to republicans came is equally true as to republicans in Texas."

Mr. Bailey shows that the "political boss" and even the "pork barrel" are both by-products of the balance-of-power system now in vogue. Congressmen are nominated and elected by a compact body of controlled voters, who are swung between the parties, and it becomes essential to the representative's political life that he cater to the local influences which control this balance of power, even though in such catering it becomes necessary to get public buildings and river harbor graft.

Mr. Bailey pointed out that the beginning of the end of the progressive party began with the injustice of having only a handful of representatives in congress when the party had cast more votes than the republicans who, in congress outnumbered them about five to one. Under proportional representation the minority parties: Progressives, prohibitionists and socialists, would have representation in congress in proportion to the vote cast. The injustice of the present system is illustrated by the fact that the increase of the socialist vote from half a million in 1912 to a million in 1914 resulted in actually losing the only representative the party had in congress.

The proportionate representation system has just been adopted by the city of Calgary in the province of Alberta, Canada, for the election of members of the council.

It is obvious to those who have looked into the subject even casually that proportionate representation would do much to make our national legislature representative—a thing which it is not at present.

Why Rheumatism Comes With Cold Weather

(By Valentine Mott Pierce, M. D.)

A close connection exists between these two—cold weather and rheumatism. Prof. Alex Haig, of London, has the most followers in the medical profession in the belief that the presence in the system of uric acid, or its salts in excess, is the real cause of rheumatism. Every one has recognized the difference in the appearance of their water as soon as it gets cold: there is often a copious sediment of "brick-dust."

Several causes may lead up to an accumulation of uric acid in the system, which, in turn, cause rheumatism or gout, or creaky joints, swollen fingers, or painful joints. For one reason the skin does not throw off the uric acid, by profuse sweating, as in the hot weather, and the kidneys are unable to take care of the double burden. Another reason is that people do not drink as much water in cold weather as in summer, which helps to flush the kidneys. Again, they eat more meat in cold weather, and some people are so susceptible that they soon develop rheumatism after eating meat.

At all such times persons should drink copiously of hot water, say, a pint morning and night, and take Anuric (double strength) three or four times a day. This Anuric comes in tablet form and can be had at almost any drug store. It dissolves the uric acid in the system and carries it outward. I would advise everyone to take Anuric occasionally, and continue for three or four weeks, and in that way avoid rheumatism, gout and many of the painful disorders due to uric acid in the system.

Make yourself healthy and strong by open-air exercise and diet. Then cleanse the liver by occasionally stimulating its action with a pleasant laxative composed of the May-apple, dried juice of aloe, and root of jalap, sugar-coated and long sold by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.—Advertisement.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN GERMANY TODAY

As Told by Newspapers We Get from the Teutonic Empire.

Smuggling of food into Germany for sale to rich residents has become a profitable industry along the Dutch frontier.

A correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt announces one smuggler offered him 20 pounds of bacon for $50.

The Tageszeitung tells of canvassers from house to house seeking the owners on various pretexts, then offering to deliver food surreptitiously at a scale of prices about as follows:

Smoked herrings, 23c apiece; smoked eels, $2.25 a pound; flounders, 25 to 35c apiece; red cabbage, 21c a pound; goose liver, $6 a pound; a goose weighing 21 pounds, $29; a pear, 20c; butter, $2 to $2.75 a pound.

Discounts Allowed Buyers With Gold.

The Cologne Zeitung offers 10 per cent discount on ads and subscriptions paid for in gold. Leading Cologne merchants are offering 5 per cent off on bills paid in gold.

German racetracks for some time have given reduced rates to patrons who pay admission or bets in gold.

Hindenburg's Name Is on Every Lip!

Illustrating the wide homage paid in Germany to Field Marshal von Hindenburg, the Berlin Tageblatt publishes a poem which mentions (freely translated):

Hindenburg honey and Hindenburg money,
Hindenburg brandy and Hindenburg candy.
Hindenburg fats and Hindenburg mats,
Hindenburg ice and Hindenburg spice,
Hindenburg clocks and Hindenburg socks,
Hindenburg beer that gives us cheer,
Hindenburg pills that cure all ills,
Hindenburg rings and Hindenburg stings,
And a thousand other Hindenburg things.

Soldiers' Relatives Get Free Hospital Treatment.

The publicity office of the Berlin magistracy reports:

"The city hospital commission has decided to grant free medical and surgical treatment to the relatives of participants in the war. Furthermore, opportunity for free treatment in a city hospital, following preliminary clinical care, will be given participants in the war, their relatives and the poor."

Germany Has Its Car Shortage, Too.

The United States is not the only nation in which freight is held up because of a lack of freight cars.

The Cologne Volkszeitung, in an article on the sugar-beet crop, says:

"There are factories which were unable to deliver a single load of raw sugar in November, owing to lack of railway trucks."

Emperor's Death on Back Page—Suppression!

Vienna Arbeiter Zeitung prints official notice of the suspension for two months of the Bohemian socialist paper, Norboehmische Volksstimme, because:

"Despite last year's warning, in consequence of the issue of Aug. 18, 1915, containing no article on the imperial birthday festival, the Nordboehmische has recently been guilty again of disloyal conduct in relegating the announcement of the late emperor's death and his successor's proclamation to a back page, and in not exhorting its readers to subscribe to the fifth war loan."

Farmers to Give Unused Products to Needy.

The Bavarian Farmers' associations have united in a special request farmers to give away all their unused products to those who need them.

The East Prussian district of Darkehmen, in a telegram to the war maintenance office, declares it is ready to furnish 5,000 pounds or more of bacon during December and January to a commual society in west Germany or direct to munitions workers, at 2.30 marks (55 cents) a pound. (The regular price of bacon in Germany is about 70 cents.)

During the year ending November 30, 1916, the United States bureau of lighthouses established sixteen new lighted aids and fourteen unlighted aids, thirty in all, in Alaskan waters.

YEP; SEEK POTATO SUBSTITUTES NOW

Other Starchy Roots Are Fine, Say Government Experts.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—A number of starchy roots, tubers and corms of vegetables, including Jerusalem artichokes, cassavas, dasheens, yams, yautias, and taros, in addition to the well-known sweet potatoes, have food values and degrees of digestibility approximate equal to those of the Irish or white potato and, like the latter, merit extensive use as a part of mixed diets, according to specialists of the office of home economics of the United States department of agriculture.

Of these vegetables, the sweet potato is best known in this country and is most extensively consumed both in the fresh and canned forms. Cassava is grown extensively in Florida and may be prepared directly as food by cooking or may be made into flour from which bread and cakes are to be prepared. Tapico, which is prepared from it, it widely used.

The Jerusalem artichoke, a member of the sunflower family, which grows throughout a large portion of the United States, may be obtained in many markets throughout the winter since it is not injured by frost and can be dug when wanted. It may be prepared in many ways and gives a wholesome variety to the diet.

A number of the tropical edible roots are known to Americans chiefly in the island possessions of the United States. The dasheen, however, can be grown easily in the warmer portions of continental United States and, because of its good shipping qualities, already has found its way into a number of markets. The department of agriculture has published recipes for its preparation in a variety of dishes in bureau of plant industry bulletin No. 164 and bureau of plant industry document 1110.

BAD ON BARGAIN HUNTERS.

London, Jan. 19.—Women bargain hunters who have been going over the offerings in the new year bargain sales find this year an average increase of thirty per cent, in woolens, silks and shoes, as compared with the bargain prices of a year ago. One of the big department stores has its counters decorated with notices informing shoppers that owing to the shortage of dress material, this month is probably the last time that it will be possible to offer any materials on the bargain counters.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

Acts 9:1-8.

1 And Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem.

3 And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven.

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

6 And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

7 And the men which journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

Give It a Fair Trial.

The Indiana house committee on elections has decided to recommend the indefinite postponement of two bills designed to defer to a later date the primary election for the naming of candidates for city offices, and the nominations will now be made in March according to the provisions of the law as it now stands. The important thing in the action is that it removes the element of doubt injected by proposals to change the date to August or September, and candidates already announced or those who are preparing to get into the race may now get busy in the effort to do their respective causes as much good as possible during the few weeks intervening before the voters will render the primary verdict.

In all probability something very similar will happen to the bill by Representative Moore, of Allen county, to abolish the primary plan of nominations altogether and revert to the convention system of making nominations. We shall be much surprised if it does not develop that the legislative axe is not lying in wait for this as well as for the ludicrous proposal in another bill by the Allen county man to forbid a candidate for any office using newspaper advertising space to further his cause, to issue individual placards or other printed matter of similar character in the effort to convince the hesitating voter that he is the pick of the lot and ought to be elected.

Let us admit at once that in the light of experience to date in Indiana the primary system of making nominations is not a complete and glowing success. It has its defects. It is expensive and it is, to a considerable extent, a cumbersome and unwieldly affair, yet the single trial that has been made of it—in the general election last year—is scarcely sufficient to warrant the conclusion that it is unequivocally bad and should be wiped out forthwith. The idea behind the primary is to permit the fullest and freest expression of the will of the individual voter in the selection of nominees. Whether it succeeds or fails in this is not, after all, a question of the law itself but depends altogether on whether the rank and file of the voters make use of the opportunity and manifest enough interest in government to express their will at the primary. The percentage of those who did this last year can hardly be said to have been encouraging, yet it was a first attempt at the working of a law with which voters were generally unfamiliar. They may be glad of an opportunity to manifest a keener interest next time. The thing ought to be given a fair trial before it is condemned and cast out for return to the system, complaint against which brought the primary law about in the hope that it might bring relief.

Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, in a speech in New York sounds the tocsin of alarm by declaring that this country's biggest problem is what he calls "an unheeded and unhindered drift toward federal socialism." Still, it is much to be doubted if Senator Harding can get serious attention for any new perils, problems, menaces or dangers which he sees looming to assail the perpetuity of the nation. Just now we're quite too busy with the war, with the Mexican situation and with the high cost of living to be disturbed by the conjuring of added harassments. Enough is plenty of these as of other things.

A Richmond woman has just presented her home to Wayne county to be used as a hospital for tubercular patients, and the donation is a splendid manifestation of beneficence and humanitarian interest in the welfare of the unfortunate victims of the white plague. Yet the generosity of the Fort Wayne public, recently displayed in the purchase of the Christmas seals, was equally splendid. We cannot all do so large a thing as this fine-spirited Richmond woman has done, but we all have opportunity, if in a smaller way, to aid the good cause in which she has aided so largely.

And very shortly the Indiana legislature is going to give us a practical demonstration of whether or no it believes the 200,000 Indiana citizens who have signed petitions asking the passage of the state-wide prohibition bill are worth listening to, or whether it regards the expression of their convictions as more or less a joke.

A Rushville man has just brought suit to recover $3,200 which he alleges he lost playing poker with two of his cronies in that town. This is the kind of thing that invariably makes one wonder what sort of attitude the man would have taken in the matter had he won the $3,200 instead of losing it.

Carranza should be able to sympathize deeply with the war department over the fact that conflicting reports as to Villa's operations makes it quite impossible to know just what the bandit chieftain is doing. The constitutionalist first chief is in the same fix.

Five bills designed to remedy city court conditions in Indianapolis are ready for introduction in the legislature, which leaves one to infer that with the exceptions noted city court conditions in Indianapolis are about as good as one could expect to find them.

Yet we fail to see why the creation of an additional court at Gary should occasion so much fuss in the legislature. Gary seems to need a few more courts in dealing with conditions that erupt there every once in awhile.

What Indemnity Due for No Man's Land?

Whatever the peace terms—no matter when they are made—who can estimate a just indemnity for No Man's Land?

That narrow strip which twists and turns between the trenches of Europe's opposing armies has a value different from any other stretch of land on earth.

Over 5,000,000 men have been killed since the war began, according to figures computed by the War Study society of Copenhagen. How many hundreds of thousands have died in No Man's Land will not be known until the army records of all nations have become a part of history.

It is not by its width and length that the price of the uneven lane between the barbed wire entanglements can be reckoned; the number of its dead, the blood which the ground has soaked up, the agony of wounded men who lived hours or days beyond help of a friend or mercy of an enemy, the thwarted purposes of youth must be added to the estimate.

With the last breath of every soldier dying so, there went out to the world a spark of heroism—and who can set a price on heroes?

Every man dying there left behind some unfulfilled ambition, some duty unaccomplished, some plan of living uncompleted, some work of love undone—just as dear to him, and just as likely to be made true by him, had he lived, as any great project or hope of men living in the safe places of the world today.

Painters, sculptors, poets, inventors, men of the shops and the fields all are buried or burned together, or their bones lie bleaching somewhere along this modern "sacra via" of the nations.

All who survive the war will profit by their sacrifice if the right kind of peace is made. All the world is debtor to them, but all the nations together cannot pay a suitable indemnity for No Man's Land.

No material compensation can be made for spiritual values.

The most that anyone can do is to stop, once in a while, and think in all humility and sincerity of those who died in war that a better world may come.

COMMUNITY WELFARE.

To the Editor of The Sentinel:

If the saying, "A state is no greater than her citizens," is true, which we all will admit, then most invariably we must say that the neighborhood or community is no better than its inhabitants. Coming down to the point: We may think that our thoughts, words and deeds will not effect the community in which we live. In this we are very much mistaken.

Every bad thought which we harbor in our minds may form word or deed which may visibly and vitally effect the community center. On the other hand every good thought we cherish may develop in word and deed which also may vitally effect the same, but for betterment.

At a glance, we may say that the idle, vacant-minded "store boy whittler" doesn't make history very fast. I will admit he doesn't make history himself, but his actions cause much future history to be made. He is ever ready with tongue and knife—tonguing and knifing nearly every one in the community who is trying to do something for himself and others in the world.

Besides having curses against the Almighty or a vulgar story at his tongue's end, he never fails to interest some young boys who have not had proper raising or are wayward, and very easily-interested in such things. In studing such a personage we now will say that the acts of such a one will influence the youth of the community in the wrong way in life.

If you are not sick of the "filthy story" or the curse against God, get sick as soon as possible. For these two things are certainly a disgrace to a neighborhood. Such influences thrown round as environment in which to live will make a poor class of citizens for a community. Remember that some boy may be led wrong by hearing such things.

The "tattler" comes in for his or her share of the blame for the standard of efficiency in the neighborhood.

Don't tattle every bad thing you hear about your neighbors and make it a little worse than it was told to you. Don't believe that every bad thing you hear about some one is true until you are absolutely sure.

If you can't tell anything good about someone, don't say anything at all. Don't be the first one to kick at one who is down. If he's down help him up instead of kicking him on down further. Enough will do that during his trials; be in the minority. Help him instead of kicking him on down.

We have quite a job to hold down if we tend strictly to our own business. We will be classed as heroes if we do this.

But when we try to tend to everybodys business we let our own suffer greatly. Besides we cause trouble for ourselves and nearly everyone else. Thereby the community welfare has to suffer.

Think of a community where every one set the right example, where every one did right. We would find there a true, high-minded citizenship with every one striving for high community ideals. Each one esteeming the other better than himself. What would this mean? Certainly a model community, nearly a heaven in which to live.

The question is: Don't we all want such a community? I believe we do. We all wish to be called boosters of "Community Welfare" and not knockers. None of us claim to be saints. We have all been guilty of some of the things mentioned possibly. That's not the question. Let us be willing to get behind a movement in our community which will give to it the best possible environment.

If this is obtained there will be no room for the curse, the dirty story, the untruth and other tools of the devil. What is past is gone. Let us here resolve to make the community better during this year because we have lived therein.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Miss Lucy Rosselot, of 101 Riverside avenue, has accepted a position at Mergentheim's Bazar.

The good sleighing has opened the logging traffic and logs are being hauled to the city day and night.

Yesterday Mrs. James Liggett, wife of the liveryman, was 45 years old, and a surprise party was tendered herself and her husband last night.

Miss Lizzie Stemen has resumed her duties as bookkeeper in the office of Dr. Stemen after a visit at Warsaw.

A sleighing party, chaperoned by Miss Kate Remmert, came to a disastrous end the other evening, by the upsetting of the sled. Fortunately no one was injured.

George B. Fleming, formerly of this city, has been appointed chief of the clerk's document room in the government department at Washington at a salary of $1,600 a year.

Last evening a large party of young people went to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Furthmiller, one mile east of New Haven, where the greater part of the evening was spent in a very pleasant manner to all.

Dr. S. Curtice has moved to this city from Springfield, O., and will practice medicine in the drug store at 363 South Lafayette street. He is the father of John F. Curtice, the real estate man, and lived here many years.

At noon today Clarence Nulf, a brakeman on the Fort Wayne road, was brought home from Lima, O., where he was placed under the care of physicians last night, suffering with frozen feet, both members having been badly frozen from exposure. Mr. Nulf resides at 110 Thomas street.

Messrs. Joe Schwerzgen and August Bruder have been appointed a committee to secure new quarters for the Philharmonic club, the present rooms at 108 Calhoun street being too small to accommodate the present membership, which has greatly increased since the first organization.

Peter Nussbaum will have a handsome brick residence erected on Spy Run avenue on the premises of the old Tivoli Garden, which has been abandoned and the ground platted into residence building lots. The property is owned by Mr. Nussbaum, who is head brewer at Centlivre's. The plans for the house will be drawn by J. M. E. Riedel.

WOULD PRAISE GIRLS' BLOW AT "HIGH COST"

Short Skirt Seen as "Real Economy" by Milwaukee Assemblyman.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19.—Assemblyman Carl Pieper, of Milwaukee, believes the eighth wonder of the world is the American girl who has tackled the high cost of living proposition and is making a good job of it.

Because he regards the short skirt as "real ecenomy and retrenchment" he has prepared a joint resolution congratulating the women of the state for pointing out one avenue for the smashing of high prices.

"What has bothered our best experts," said he, "is accomplished by the American girl with a grace and style that excites the admiration of every human being, from the bootblack in the street to dignified justices of the supreme court.

"Having gone the limit in saving material in the make-up of the dress from the neck down, the American girl now startles the world with her economy and retrenchment on the other end."

WHAT HAS BECOME OF—

THE MESSENGER BOY WHO NEARLY BROKE HIS NECK TO DELIVER YOUR MESSAGE

IT'S YOUR LIVER! YOU'RE BILIOUS, HEADACHY, SICK!

Don't stay constipated with breath bad, stomach sour or a cold.

Enjoy life! Liven your liver and bowels tonight and feel fine.

Tonight sure! Remove the liver and bowel poison, which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascarets from the drug store now? Eat one or two tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarets never gripe or bother you all the next day like calomel, salts and pills. They act gently but thoroughly. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascaret any time. They are harmless and children love them.—Advertisement.

Take Tollo Water—A Wineglassful Will Flush the System in Thirty Minutes.

Keep you bowels regular, your liver active and your skin will clear up and stay clear. Sallow skins, pimply faces, coated tongues, foul breath, headaches, biliousness, dizzy spells and that nervous, tired, run-down feeling all come from poisonous toxins the blood absorbs from decaying waste in the bowels.

Tollo Water from Dawson Springs, Kentucky, will give quick relief. Get a 15-cent bottle from the drug store and take a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water before breakfast. In half an hour it will wash out the stomach and bowels and start you feeling good.

But to clear up the skin and remove the poison from the system you should take a wineglassful before breakfast for several mornings. After that you can keep your bowels as regular as a clock, your liver active and your skin clear and peachy by taking a wineglassful occasionally.—Advertisement.

DEMANDS $1,000 DAMAGES.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 19.—Suit for $1,000 damages has been brought by John H. Grindle, a farmer, residing near Burket, against Earl R. Barr, of Akron. The plaintiff alleges that on March 18, 1916, he contracted with Barr, a stockbuyer, for the sale of fifty-four head of cattle and eighty-four hogs. A written contract was signed by both men, providing that Grindle deliver the hogs at Burket in June, 1916, and that he should receive $8.50 per hundred. The cattle were to be delivered at the same place in July at the same price per hundred. Grindle claims that Barr accepted the hogs, but refused the cattle.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 19.—Suit for $15,000 damages has been filed in the Kosciusko circuit court by Miss Helen Lentz, of Milford, against the Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland and St. Louis Railway company. The suit was brought here on a change of venue from the Elkhart circuit court. Miss Lentz was seriously injured in an accident near Goshen in August, 1913, in which Miss Lucile Fryberger was killed. The touring car in which the plantiff was riding was struck by a C. C. C. & St. L. excursion train.

WOMAN TRIES SUICIDE.

Lagrange, Ind., Jan. 19.—Ill health is believed to have prompted Mrs. Charles Rowe, a well known woman of this city, to drink carbolic acid with suicidal intent yesterday. Her husband, Charles Rowe, committed suicide about a year and a half ago by hanging himself in the barn back of the home.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY.

Rev. John McMillan is Found Lying in Snow Unconscious.

Auburn, Ind., Jan. 19.—Apoplexy caused the death of Rev. John McMillan, pastor of the Radical United Brethren Waterloo circuit Wednesday evening at his home six miles northwest of Auburn.

Rev. McMillan was hauling small logs for wood from the woods near his home and was at the house at 3 o'clock. Soon after he went back to the woods and his continued absence worried Mrs. McMillan.

When the daughter, Miss Angie, a student in the Waterloo high school, came home, the mother expressed her anxiety and shortly afterwards the daughter started out to hunt her father.

She followed his tracks to the woods and found him lying in the snow unconscious. It was evident that he had lain there some time as the snow was melted around his body. He was taken to his home and lived about a half hour, passing away shortly after 7 o'clock, never having regained consciousness.

LIGHT ORDINANCE SIGNED.

Van Wert, O., Jan. 19.—With the signing of the two light franchise ordinances by C. S. Mauk, new mayor of the city, the fight on the granting of the franchises to the Northwestern Ohio Light company will end and the ordinances will become effective as soon as signed by the officials of the company. In brief, the ordinances call for an extension of the contract of the city for four years, or for ten years from the present time, gives the light company to adopt a minimum charge of 50 cents a month to consumers of light current for which in return the company will install a new ornamental lighting system on the main streets to supplant the old arch system now in use, at no cost to the city.

AUTO STRIKES BOY.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 19.—When he stepped from a tea wagon in front of an automobile driven by Manson Reiff, grocer, Russell Shaneyfelt, residing in the south part of the city, was knocked down but was not injured Wednesday afternoon. The accident occurred in front of the Rev. T. J. Simons home on West Cherry street. The boy did not notice the auto approaching and did not have a chance for escape. Reiff was in no way to blame for the accident. He was driving slowly and the automobile was stopped soon enough to prevent running over the boy.

CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 19.—A most satisfactory and decided change in the mouths of the pupils of the public and parochial schools was noticed by the dentists of this city who, assisted by Dr. R. G. Knoff, of Geneva, made the annual dental inspection Wednesday. The change noted was very much for the better. In some of the schools the teachers have been urging the daily use of the tooth brush and some dental cream or powder and it was certainly surprising and pleasing to see what results had been accomplished. Many schools are using the tooth brush drill regularly.

RAID ON DRUG STORE.

Portland, Ind., Jan. 19.—Headed by Sheriff Thomas Fleming, his deputy Glenn Arbaugh, Henry Miley, who was sworn in as special officer, and Deputy Prosecutor Wheeler Ashcraft, a raid was made on the Guy Shull drug store at Bryant Wednesday evening, resulting in the confiscation of a quantity of whisky. The raiding force was clothed with a search warrant issued on affidavit filed by Erastus O. Houser, of Bryant, who is vice president of a civic organization banded together for the express purpose of aiding in the enforcement of law.

PAVING COST $19,000.

Pierceton, Ind., Jan. 19.—The paving at Pierceton completed last fall cost $18,989.30, according to the assessment roll just issued by Engineer McCarter. Of this amount the town is assessed $4,397.44 and the property owners $14,589.86. The town board will offer bonds for sale on January 23 to pay their share of the paving expense. It is probable that the majority of the property owners will pay cash for their pavement rather than have a lien placed upon their home for a period of ten years.

JOHN EBERSOLE DEAD.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 19.—John H. Ebersole, aged 70, a well known resident of this city, died at his home on West Market street Thursday morning at 1:30. His death was due to an attack of Bright's disease and followed an illness of more than a year's duration. For some time his condition had gradually been growing worse and for the past six weeks he had been confined constantly to his bed.

WILL SIGN CONTRACT.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 19.—The contract for the removal of the H. C. Bay company piano factory from Chicago to Bluffton, will be signed here on Friday, is the optimistic view of the situation regarding the large new industrial plan for which negotiations have been under way for some time between Mr. H. C. Bay, president of the Bay company, and citizens of Bluffton.

DEATH AT OSSIAN.

Ossian, Ind., Jan. 19.—Grandma Henline, aged 80 years, died at the home of her son, Joseph H. Henline, here yesterday. Mrs. Henline had been confined to her bed for about four weeks, having been in poor health, however, for a much longer time with a complication of diseases caused by old age. The direct cause of her death was pneumonia.

EARNINGS TOTAL $11,000.

Auburn, Ind., Jan. 19.—That the Auburn Electric Light and Waterworks plant showed a net earning above operating expenses for the year just closed of nearly $11,000, and that among its customers are numbered practically every family and business of the city, are some of the interesting facts brought out in the report of Supt. E. E. Wineland for the year 1916.

FARM IS TRADED.

Plymouth, Ind., Jan. 19.—Through a local agency Theodore Duwelius Wednesday traded his 160-acre farm west of Plymouth on the Pretty lake road to Emanuel Giller for his 80-acre farm two and one-half miles north of Plymouth on the Michigan road, the brick residence on North Michigan street, built by Ed Garn, and the 68-foot frontage on Laporte street, just west of the Bissell building.

TEACHER TO RETIRE.

Huntington, Ind., Jan. 19.—In honor of Miss Frances E. Hutsell, retiring teacher of the fifth grade of Tipton street school, the twelve teachers of that school, composing the faculty, will entertain her today at noon at a farewell party. Mrs. G. E. Chenoweth, wife of Principal Chenoweth, and Albert Lininger, custodian of the school, will be guests at the event.

SCHOOLS HIGHLY PRAISED.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 19.—The schools of Kosciusko county, outside of the city of Warsaw, are highly praised in a report made as the result of an inspection made by J. P. Pearcy, of Indianapolis, who has just completed his annual inspection. Mr. Pearcy was accompanied on his inspection by County Superintendent Bruner.

The teachers of the Harmar school entertained on Friday afternoon the members of the senior class of the Fort Wayne normal school and the principal, Miss Wilber, and teachers of that school. The party is given in the Harmar building and is quite an affair, with decorations, refreshments, music and games. The hours are 4 to 6 o'clock and everyone will enjoy a truly delightful time.

Mrs. Phoebe Chase, who is the widow of Stephen Chase, and who lives at 1707 St. Mary's avenue, is known to the children in the neighborhood as Grandma Chase. Thursday was Mrs. Chase's 82nd birthday anniversary and she celebrated the day by entertaining her little friends who appeared at her door with baskets of things for a luncheon. The Archer children led the surprise party and the procession of small friends.

Master Billy Bassett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bassett, celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary this morning with his kindergarten playmates at the South Wayne school, his teacher and his mother both assisting the children. Kindergarten games and music were followed by some various goodies, all representing a heart party, with heart napkins, cakes and cookies, ice cream and candies, all telling the same pretty heart story and suggesting Valentine day. There were about fifty children present.

A Country Party.

A well planned surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gilliaum, who live near Thurman, on Saturday evening. A number of young folks planned the surprise. There were progressive contests in which prizes were won by Ella Hollman, Minnie Henschen, Raymond King and Merle Fahlkner. Dancing was a later amusement. The guests were Alma and Marie Bobay, Clara Schoppmann, Benradette and Alice Bobay, Lydia and Wilda Witte and Mary Schoppmann, Alfred Bobay, Charles and Will Baatz, Howard Walbold, Mart Witte and Frank Grice.

AT THE PALACE.

COMEDY DRAMA "DOPE."

The Joseph Medill Patterson comedy dramatic story, "Dope," a cleverly written bit of serio-comedy, is being related by Herman Lieb and his Broadway players, as the feature attraction on the bill for the remainder of the week at the New Palace. Two reformers attempt to cause the arrest of the druggist who has been selling cocaine to men, women and children, but their virtuous righteousness is smashed to smithereens when the druggist shows them that they are as bad as he, since the money they are spending is derived from the dope selling, directly. The girl's mother owns the building and the youth's uncle owns the wholesale company that sells the drugs to the dealers.

Jimmy Lucas and his partner have a medley of foolishness and song that goes over big. Lucas' enthusiasm helping it materially. Roy and Arthur close with the gill with a laughable stunt. Fun in a Dining Car, in which one of them juggles dishes while the other smashes them. Kate Watson, the inimitable Hoosier Girl with the amusing stories and more amusing songs; the Three Du For Boys in songs and comedy dancing, and Charles and Anna Glocker, the water juggling novelty artists, complete this bill.

The Second Anniversary bills open with the coming of the Boyle Woolfolk Junior Follies, the first of the week. Three special added vaudeville attractions will help make this bill the house's record breaker.

AT THE LYRIC.

Five-Year-Old Leading Lady Stars in Film at Lyric.

Another "Little Mary Sunshine" picture, starring Baby Marie Osborne, is to be shown here soon. Everyone remembers "Little Mary Sunshine" and "Shadows and Sunshine," which made two of the biggest hits ever scored by a motion picture in this city.

A particularly interesting point about the production of "Joy and the Dragon," little Marie's latest vehicle, is that in it her director, Henry King, also plays an important part.

The story is by Will M. Ritchey, one of the most successful scenario writers in the business, and it deals with the manner in which Little Joy succeeds in softening a hardened miner and restoring him, a changed man, to his father. In addition she is responsible for saving the miner's life and is the means of rounding up a band of clever crooks.

Pajama Comes in One Piece

BY BETTY BROWN.

Nighties, unless they be grandma's, are no longer respectable looking gowns. Harem-gowns or pajamas take their place. You'll know what I mean if you take a look at the fluffy person in the picture. The newest slumber robe is a one-piece pajama. The too masculine coat has been discarded and a bifurcated garment made usually of flowered silk, or rose crepe de chine or blossom-sprinkled cotton crepe is what shoppers want. The model is wearing a lace coat over her flesh color crepe de chine one-piece pajamas.

INDUSTRIAL NIGHT.

All of the girls' clubs which are joined together under the industrial extension department of the Y. W. C. A. met last night at the association. The Elex club held its annual election, which resulted as follows: Cora Blue, president; Emily Guth, vice-president; Eleanor Honeler, secretary; Evelyn Bockman, treasurer. They also initiated nine new members. All of the other clubs had some sort of "stunts" to help with the entertainment and a "big time" was enjoyed by all who were present. Announcement was made of the Federation banquet which will be held February 15.

Woman's Secrets!

There Are Three of These She NEVER Will Tell Any Man, Says Winona Wilcox!

(By Winona Wilcox.)

Woman has some special secrets which she never discusses with any man. She has pretenses and affectations, such as a pet timidity, to which she will coyly confess. If married, she will betray the hidden dreams of her spinster sisters. If a bachelor girl, she will ridicule the concealments of her married friends.

But of the one great universal feminine secret she will never talk to any man!

This secret is her supreme horror of that indefatigable worker in human clay, that most accomplished and most merciless of sculptors, Father Time.

The fact that woman often conceals her age or mis-states it, amuses man; but from it he can never guess the depths of the tragedy which advancing years holds for her.

It is customary to glorify the serenity which age brings and to exalt the wisdom of great-grandmothers, but all this is no comfort to any woman, although she may pretend it is. She may repeat this fine philosophy as if it were a litany, but in her heart she scorns it like a heretic.

Father Time may mold majesty into her form and dignity into her features, but no woman ever yet watched the rose tints fade from her cheeks and a net of wrinkles masque her face without a spasm of secret tears.

The change may denote a spiritual improvement—but when did man prefer that to beauty?

A woman never seems old to herself so long as she is sure that a man loves her—and her alone.

When he divides his allegiance and his admiration, she first begins to criticise the work of Father Time. She finds the first flaws when the man she adores looks past her, beyond her, at a younger face in the crowd.

She may not cry out—but from that minute she begins to experiment with wrinkle eradicators and chin bandages.

Youth is very short and age is very long. And the great riddle of every woman's life is not how to make the best of youth and beauty—they will take care of themselves—but how to make love last when both have passed.

Some women pose before Father Time in the flapper's dress and the actress' make-up; some represent industry and usefulness; some symbolize power or patience; but anyone of these models is apt to prove as faulty as another.

Ask their secret of those who have acquired the perfect pose, those beautiful old women who keep their men folk loyal to the grave, and they are never able to tell it.

Self-forgetfulness! That is the mainspring of woman's happiness.

A man seldom ceases to love a woman who "finds herself" only through her devotion to him. Absolute devotion of this kind is probably the only antidote for the poisoning fear of age which haunts and spoils the lives of most women.

(The second of these secrets of women will be reavealed in The Sentinel soon.)

STRAIGHT FROM PALM BEACH COME THESE TIPS FOR THE NEW SPRING HATS.

Note the curves of the brims—there lies the secret of all that is most charming in Easter millinery.

Becomingness means style this year. No matter how good looking a hat may be it is not YOUR hat unless it makes you smile every time you put it on.

The large hat of the illustration is of a style which almost any woman can wear. It is of gray hair braid and has a facing of blue Georgette crepe. The flowers are novelties made of twisted braid, the small fruits are of blue velvet, and the final touch of becomingness is given by a smashing bow of blue ribbon placed well toward the back of the right side.

Sport hats are now worn with the most elaborate of chiffon frocks.

For facing and banding the hat with the striped brim, blue and gold taffeta was pulled into a swirled effect. The line of the crown and brim of this hat are most artistic.

Equally elegant in shape and unique in decoration is the smaller hat of coarse blue straw. The facing is of crepe and the flat embroidered blossoms are worked in crewel directly on the straw.

HIGH STORAGE RATE BLOCKED

WILL NOT PERMIT BOOST IN CHARGE

Says Remedy for Abnormal Conditions Must Be Lawfully Permissible.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The interstate commerce commission today disapproved proposals by railroads to double and quadruple storage charges on export grain at elevators at New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Newport News and other Atlantic ports, where such grain is held longer than sixty days.

New charges for the storage of export grain in cars awaiting unloading at Baltimore and Philadelphia also were disapproved. The proposals made by the trunk line railroads were designed as a measure to relieve congestion at Atlantic ports and to insure, through enforcement of penalties, a freer flow of grain through the elevators. They were opposed by the Baltimore Chamber of Commerce, the Commercial Exchange of Philadelphia and other similar organizations. A considerable proportion of the millions of bushels of grain shipped to Atlantic ports for export to the warring nations of Europe would have been affected.

Another intention of the railroads was to prevent the premature shipment of grain to the seaboard without export contracts or prior to making arrangements for its ocean transportation. The scarcity of ships is said to have resulted in choking the elevators with grain which could not be moved without long delay.

A large number of cars also have been withdrawn from traffic because of the congestion at the elevators, augmenting the general car shortage and tending indirectly to increase the cost of living. In its decision the commission holds that the objects sought by the railroads should be attained by other methods than the one proposed, which would place heavy penalties upon the traffic.

"We are of the opinion," reads the decision, "that the carriers should study the situation in all its aspects and that they can and should devise methods to correct the msuse of their equipment and facilities, which would have the full sanction of the committee.

"It has not been shown that the proposed charges will accomplish the end they seek, nor will they be free from unjust discrimination. The possibility of abuse leads to abuse and the present chaotic conditions of the carriers' terminals of their tracks and facilities make it imperative that corrective measures should be carefully studied and analyzed and established and enforced rigidly to the end that the equal treatment of all, which the law requires, should not be easily capable of being frittered away in the hands of those who take advantage of the least loophole to escape the obligations which should rest upon all. While abnormal conditions require drastic remedies, the cure must be one which is lawfully permissible."

CHARGES ANARCHIST PLOT TO KILL WILSON

Prosecutor in Bomb Trial Promises to Reveal Conspiracy.

San Francisco, Jan. 19.—Evidence showing that President Wilson's life was threatened by an anarchistic organization known as "The Blasters" will be presented in the trial of Thomas J. Mooney for murder, Edward A. Cunha, assistant district attorney, announced in the superior court in his opening address to the jury.

"I will prove," said Cunha, "that these men plotted revolution against the government. I will prove that they said in an edition of the Blast, 'The weathercock in the White House had better watch out. Suppression of the voice of the discontented leads to assassination.'"

Sees Self-Conviction.

Beginning his address in court, Cunha outlined the history of the bomb explosion here last July in which ten persons lost their lives and in which it is charged Mooney had a part.

"I will show a motive for Mooney's participation in this crime and that he advised and encouraged it," said Cunha. "I will prove that prior to January, 1916, Mooney, Alexander Berkman, Miss M. E. Fitzgerald and others entered into a conspiracy to bring about an uprising against property owners, the confiscation of private property and the destruction of government, and that they called themselves 'The Blasters' and publicly announced in the Blast the objects of their conspiracy.

"I will connect Mooney with this conspiracy by letters in his own writing and by articles he wrote in the Blast. I will show that they planned to create a prejudice against and to betray the American Federation of Labor.

Tells of Plan to Kill.

"I will show that before the parade Mooney declared 'preparedness must be thrown back into the teeth of its advocates.' Mooney declared that if the government had a large army the revolution would be nipped in the bud."

Cunha said that Mooney and the other conspirators in their campaign against preparedness decided that the first one of them to be approached by a recruiting officer should shoot him down.

The Blast, an anarchistic publication, is printed in San Francisco. Berkman, its editor, at last accounts was in New York city raising funds to use in Mooney's defense. Miss Fitzgerald is associate editor. The office of the Blast was raided recently by the district attorney.

ORDER OF SERVICES FOR DEWEY FUNERAL

Committees of Congress Give Out Their Formal Announcement.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—The order of services for the funeral of Admiral Dewey tomorrow at the capital was announced today by the committees of the house and senate having charge of the arrangements. The official announcement follows:

The capitol will be closed on the morning of January 20, to all except members and officers of the senate and house of representatives and remain closed until after the cortege has left the capitol. At 10 o'clock the lower doors under the arches beneath the marble of the senate and house wings of the capitol will be opened to those holding tickets of admission.

The services will begin at 11 o'clock a. m. Saturday.

The body of the late admiral, George Dewey, will be placed in the rotunda prior to the services.

The president of the United States and his cabinet, the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court, the diplomatic corps, the members of the senate and house of representatives, the chief of staff of the army, and the officers of the army and navy will occupy the seats assigned to them.

The suprme court will meet in the supreme court room.

The diplomatic corps and the chief of staff of the army will meet in the senate reception room.

The committee on arrangements will meet in the room of the committee on naval affairs of the house.

After all invited to attend have been announced Chaplain F. B. Brazier, United States navy, will conduct the religious services.

Orders for the placing at half mast of flags on all postoffices throughout the nation in honor of Admiral Dewey were issued today by Postmaster General Burleson, who directed flags to remain at half mast until after the funeral on Saturday and that the postoffice department be closed all that day.

In announcing other details of arrangements today, Secretary Daniels said the midshipmen from Annapolis would form the only escort for the body when it was removed from the Dewey home to the capitol. The officers in charge of the ceremonies decided to exclude the other military organizations from attendance at the home in deference to the admiral's wishes, made known when he first realized the hopelessness of his condition. "The admiral also said at that time," the secretary said, "that he wanted the midshipmen to come as his friends and not under orders. His wish will be respected."

The other military organizations will be stationed at the capitol and after the services there will form the larger escort to accompany the cortege to Arlington cemetery.

The president and Mrs. Wilson will attend the private services at the home.

PRUSSIAN DIET NOW GOVERNMENT CRITIC

But Conservative Leader Refrains from Attack on United States.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—The Prussian Diet took upon itself today the role of critic of the government which the reichstag at its latest session refrained from doing. Nevertheless the prediction which was heard yesterday that the session would be marked by the most vigorous attacks on Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, turned out to be incorrect. The speech of Dr. von Heydebrand, conservative leader, who is associated with the centrist and national-liberal parties, in favor of a more unrestricted use of submarines was far more moderate than on earlier occasions and was not characterized by attacks on the United States.

Paul Breitenbach, minister of public works and the chancellor's second in the Prussian cabinet, said in a carefully worded declaration in behalf of the government: "This grave and difficult epoch requires ever renewed discussion of what ways and means are to be adopted," he added, however, that he considered any expression of the government's views at present to be undesirable. Responsibility for decisions he said rested on the chancellor and he appealed to the patriotism of the house to support this difficult task by refraining from criticism of his policy—an appeal which the proceeding showed to be unnecessary. It was commented that even Dr. von Heydebrand in advocating unrestricted submarine warfare demanded its only at such times as the emperor and Field Marshal von Hindenburg thought to be advisable. "If we are to win a victory it is absolutely imperative to use the weapons which give us the possibility of winning a victory against the toughest and strongest adversary, England. * * * * * * If our military authorities, the higher command and the emperor find it suitable and timely to make the necessary use of unlimited submarine warfare the German and Prussian people will be prepared to bear the consequences."

DEATH NEAR CHURUBUSCO.

Columbia City, Ind., Jan. 19.—Mrs. James Graves, 74, is dead at the home of her son, Alexander Graves, five miles north of Churubusco. Death was due to a stroke of apoplexy.

Indications are that after the war Europe will become a strong competitor of the United States for the trade of Guatemala.

Mrs. Wilts left Germany with her two kiddies in November and started for Honolulu recently from San Francisco.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Legislation to forbid importation of nursery stocks except by the federal department of agriculture for experimental purposes was proposed to the American Forestry association at its conference on the Pine Blister disease here today as the only means of preventing spread of a multitude of insect pests and plant afflictions now threatening forests and farm crops.

Nursery men opposed the suggested legislation on the ground that high prices of many fruit trees and shrubs now imported, would result from their propagation in this country. J. G. Sanders, Pennsylvania state zoologist, declared that many plant diseases heretofore unknown would be imported from Europe unless a federal embargo is established.

Dr. Haven Metcalf, chief of the federal bureau of forest pathology, said, "We must stop all movement into the area west of the Mississippi of nursery stock, five needle pins, currants and gooseberries on which the white pine blister fungus grows." Among other speakers were C. L. Marlatt, chairman of the federal horticultural board; David T. Fairchild, federal agricultural explorer in charge of foreign seed and plant introduction; C. R. Pettis, New York state superintendent of forests, and S. B. Detwiler, federal forest pathologist.

BIG CELEBRATION AT INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Ninety-Seventh Anniversary of Its Founding Duly Celebrated.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 19.—The ninety-seventh anniversary of the founding of Indiana university was celebrated here today with Ambassador Romulo S. Naon of the Argentine Republic as the principal speaker. The exercises were held in the new $200,000 gymnasium which will be dedicated next June.

They were preceded by a parade of the entire student body, which was reviewed by the ambassador, President W. L. Bryan of the university and members of the state legislature, which is in session in Indianapolis. The prize in oratory offered annually by William Jennings Bryan was contested for this afternoon.

Ambassador Naon was to leave here late for Indianapolis, where he will be the principal speaker of founders day dinner of the Indiana University association of Indianapolis.

WANTS ALL MOBILIZED.

Paris, Jan. 19.—General Ulrich Wille, commander of the Swiss army, wishes to mobilize all Switzerland's military forces, according to a Berne dispatch to the Petit Parisien. CHAMPIONS CAUSE OF THE MAN ON SALARY

He's Standing on Quicksand, Says Benjamin Ide Wheeler.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler.

Wheeler, of the University of California.

"It is apparent that the man living on a salary is standing in quicksand and that the value of his salary is continually oozing away from under his feet," says President Wheeler in a report to Governor Johnson. He emphasizes the necessity of larger salaries for the faculty members at the university.

"The general trend in the rise of the cost of living," says President Wheeler, "is not likely to relent even in peace, being due to universal causes involving presumably the cheapening of gold and the growing scarcity of food."

$200,000,000 Road System is Now Goal of Advocates of Better Highways in America

With Good Highways for Every Farm as Ultimate Aim, Nation-Wide Campaign Under Federal Financing is Expected to Cut Living Cost and Unify Town and Country.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Good roads past every farm; a network of hard-surface highways covering the country, that will solve the national food and freight problems by breaking the grip of the railroads on farm-to-market transportation!

That's the idea behind the nation-wide movement for better highways that will result in the expenditure, within five years, of TWO HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS for improving country roads!

From these sown millions will be reaped billions, say good roads enthusiasts; and an additional crop will be immeasurable: the wiping out of jealousy between cities and country districts. The good road, auto, and parcel post already have done much to eliminate this century-old jealousy, proponents of better highways say.

When the country was young there was a movement for hard-surface roads, and one national highway actually was built across the Alleghanies. But the rise of railroads ended the good roads movement in its infancy. This continued until the nation was at the mercy of privately-owned railroads.

Development of the automobile gave the present road movement its impetus; but opinions differ now as to whether the highway propaganda owes much to the auto industry, or vice versa.

There are today 2,500,000 autos in use in the United States and ... per cent. of those made in the last two years have been bought by farmers, who certainly would have had little use for autos were it not for the recent betterment of roads.

There are now 250,000 miles of fairly good roads in the country, out of a total mileage of 2,275,000.

The federal government has voted $75,000,000 to be distributed among the road departments of the states in the next five years, on condition the states raise amounts equal to the United States fund. Five millions of this amount are available this year, the amount being increased by five millions each year; so that 1921 will see the greatest activity of history in road-building, with more than $50,000,000 to be spent.

Besides the $150,000,000 to be spent by the federal government and the states in conjunction, it is estimated at least a third of that amount will be spent in the next five years by counties and small divisions and by good roads and motoring associations, bringing the total good roads appropriation to $200,000,000.

Indiana, Texas, South Carolina and Kansas are not yet certain of getting government aid this year, as their road departments must be centralized under state heads before the appropriation can be obtained.

The federal appropriation can be used only for roads so situated as to form part of a national highway scheme. Stubs and roads that merely connect two trunk lines cannot be considered in making up the plan of routes to be improved, all of which must be o. k'd. by the office of public roads and rural engineering of the department of agriculture.

The federal appropriation is expected to produce 25,000 miles of first-class road—not merely fair or good roads, but high grade roads that will be kept in as good shape throughout the year as is the average city street.

It will then be up to the local communities to provide connecting links and "feeders" that will put every part of the state or county within touch of the main lines.

The United States fund is intended merely to start the ball a-rolling; after the first $150,000,000 is expended it is believed the country will be so satisfied with the new highway system that more and larger appropriations will be demanded, until the whole nation is spanned by motor-roads the equal of any Europe can boast.

Numerous national road organizations, backing such routes as the Lincoln highway, Midland train, Santa Fe trail, Dixie highway, and others, are improving cross country highways irrespective of federal and in some cases of state aid.

The millions to be expended under government direction are merely giving an impetus to a work already under way.

Modern road-making methods! Temporary railways are built to carry the materials to the spot where roadmakers are working and bring the empty trucks back. The result is a country road on which children can rollerskate just as they would on a city sidewalk. These pictures are from Detroit.

AUDITORIUM SITE TO BE NAMED MONDAY

City Officials Plan Session to Fix Location of Convention Hall.

The site for the location of the proposed convention hall is expected to be named Monday. Members of the board of works plan to take action on the question, which has been their biggest problem for the past three weeks, on Monday morning.

Opinion as to the best location for the new building is divided among the board members and other city officials. Part of the group who are to decide on the location for the auditorium, favor park sites and others believe that private property should be purchased.

Reservoir and Lawton parks have both been named as suitable building grounds for the convention hall. In their belief it is argued that the ground would cost the city nothing. The hall is to be used but a few days a year, one board member pointed out, in arguing for the utility of public ground.

Park properties are not near enough the center of the city, members who oppose the use of the parks say. They believe the Hamilton property near the high school grounds, could best be utilized for public use by placing the auditorium next to the high school.

COMMITTEE WILL MEET.

Will Consider Petition for More School Trustees.

Controversy as to advisability of increasing the number of school trustees and making their position an elective office will be carried on Friday night before the council committee on education. Rumor had been abroad that the council committee would postpone their session. The meeting will be called in the council chamber at 8 o'clock.

A resolution asking the legislature to increase the number of school trustees and to make their offices elective will be before the committee. There will be open opposition to the proposed plan, it is said. Many citizens prefer to keep the management of school affairs out of politics, it is pointed out.

DO IT NOW.

City Attorney Sees No Reason Why Candidates Should Delay

Since the legislature has definitely decided that names of all candidates for city offices must be filed with the city clerk before February 4 and since February 4 comes on Sunday, there is a problem for City Attorney Guy Colerick. He is determining whether or not a day of grace should be allowed in that case and if candidates might file their names as late as February 5.

Colerick does not believe the technicality will be tested. He expects all candidates for Fort Wayne offices to have their names before Gustav Boerger long before February 4. There is no reason for delay, Colerick says. If you are a candidate for any city office, why not file your petition now?

Whitewash Basement.

Assistant Park Superintendent Yobst is overseeing work of spraying all rooms in the basement of the city hall, with whitewash. The task of coating all the stone walls will be completed by Friday night.

HAZARDOUS TASK.

City Workmen Are Engaged in Delicate Bit of Tunneling.

City workmen are carrying on a delicate bit of tunneling in their effort to repair the damage caused by the cave-in of the intercepting sewer, at a point near the Central foundry.

Sand and clay, which fell into the five-foot tube, has filled the big sewer line for three hundred feet, because water in the tube carried the earth down the channel.

Workmen are digging out the sand and hoisting it, thirty feet, through a man-hole to the ground surface. There is constant danger of another cave-in of the sewer walls.

The sewer above the wall of earth, formed by the cave-in, is filled with water. As the dirt, which chokes the tube and keeps back the water, is removed, there is increased danger of the wall of earth being broken away and the workmen being engulfed in the water.

Meeting Postponed.

Meeting of the council committee to take up the resolution for the increase of the number of city school trustees from three to five members, will not be held Friday night. The meeting has been postponed owing to illness of Robert John, councilman from the Fifth ward and member of the committee.

LOSSES IN LAKE STORMS.

Insurance Value of Fourteen Vessels Was $625,000.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—The insurance value of the fourteen vessels lost on the great lakes last year was $625,000 according to the annual report of the Great Lakes Protective association read at its convention here today. The organization carries 25 per cent. of the insurance on vessels owned by its members.

Although there were a few more marine accidents in 1916 than there were during the previous year the percentage was smaller because more boats were in commission.

PACKED AUDITORIUM TO HEAR SPECIAL SERMON

Services at Bible School Thursday Attract the Largest Attendance.

The attendance at the special services at the Bible Training school last evening was the largest yet, the auditorium being filled with hardly a single seat vacant. The song service, though slightly briefer than usual, was unusually inspiring. As a visitor remarked, "The singing at the school is somehow different from what we often hear, it seems cleaner, holier."

"Wherefore come ye out from among them and be ye separate," was Rev. Oyer's text; his lesson being the deliverance of Lot from Sodom; and his subject, "Border-line Christians." He pointed out seven things Lot got in Sodom: First, an official position; second, daily vexation of soul; third, a low estimate of morals; fourth, lost the respect of his own family; fifth, developed a degraded appetite; sixth, an ungodly posterity; seventh, ashes for possessions. These were among the rewards he received for his half-hearted Christian life, barely saved at last," the pastor said.

In the after service two souls sought and found salvation.

UTILITY BUILDING IS PLANNED FOR OFFICES

Will Be Most Modern of Its Kind in City When It is Completed.

Plans have been outlined by Kilbourne & Perry, real esate dealers, who have the leasing of the entire Utility building, for making that structure one of the most desirable office buildings to be found in the state. The building is owned by Samuel and Charles Murdock and Samuel E. Mulholland and is now nearing completion in East Wayne street.

Because the building could not be completed in time for the Pidgeon Millinery company to occupy the third and fourth floors, as was the plan, when its season opened, way was then opened for making the entire second, third and fourth floors into office apartments. There will be forty thousand square feet of office rooms. The Pidgeon Millinery company was to have occupied the building on December 20.

The Indiana Lighting company will have the west thirty feet of the first floor, and the balance of the first floor will soon be leased. There will be approximately 100 office rooms. THREE PATIENTS AT HOSPITAL IMPROVING

Two Cases at Lutheran Hospital Are Attracting Much Attention.

Three patients, one at St. Joseph's and the other two at the Lutheran hospital, are showing much improvement. The two cases at the Lutheran hospital are attracting much attention among the medical profession as well as others who are acquainted with the cases.

The two remarkable cases at the Lutheran hospital are James Allard and Earl Trevebaugh. The former suffered a fractured skull two weeks ago when he was struck on the head by a brick which fell fifty feet. The latter is the coal wagon driver whose back was broken three weeks ago.

When they were admitted as patients at the hospital it was thought that neither would recover. Allard is well on his way to recovery. Although Trevebaugh's condition is much improved the outcome is still doubtful.

Miss Mary Nierman, who attempted suicide Thursday at her father's home, is improving at St. Joseph's hospital. However, it is stated that her throat is badly burned and is causing her much pain.

ANOTHER MURDER SUSPECT IS HELD

Jesse Fesser, of Bluffton, Arrested on Charge of Carrying Gun.

Jesse Fesser, thirty-five, Bluffton, laborer, is the second man to occupy a cell in the city jail as a suspect in connection with the murder of Joseph Parrant, the grocery clerk, Monday evening.

Fesser was in Fort Wayne last Monday. He brandished a large revolver in the presence of several Fort Wayne citizens, it is said. He was arrested in Bluffton Thursday night by Bluffton police upon order from Police Chief Lenz.

Fesser was brought to Fort Wayne Friday afternoon by Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, who was sent to Bluffton after him. Fesser was arrested on a warrant, signed by Brennan and which charges the Bluffton man with carrying concealed weapons.

George Geerken, delivery man, who was in the little grocery where Parrant was shot will be called to the police station Friday afternoon. He will face Fesser. He will be asked if the Bluffton man has the appearance of the person who turned his smoking revolver on Geerken, after Parrant had been shot.

Geerken has said that Julius Wrasse, of Mishawaka, who is still held in the jail as a suspect, answers in a general way the likeness of Parrant's murderer.

Claim Alibis.

Both Fesser and Wrasse say they will be able to prove alibis for Monday evening, when Parrant was murdered.

Brennan admits that he was told that Fesser was on his way to Bluffton on an interurban car at the hour when Parrant crashed to the grocery floor with a bullet through his head. Fesser says he will be able to prove that he was in Bluffton, Monday night, although he admits being in Fort Wayne during the day and to having carried a 38 calibre revolver.

Wrasse, who was brought to Fort Wayne from Kendallville, says he was in Elkhart on the night of the murder. Wrasse will be subjected to another questioning by Chief Lenz on Friday evening.

Mayor Calls on Chief.

Mayor Hosey called on Police Chief Lenz Friday afternoon, and the pair were in consultation for nearly an hour. Lenz admitted that they had discussed phases of the murder. He declined to give out whether the mayor had suggested a new angle upon which police may proceed in the case.

Chief Lenz admitted, after departure of Mayor Hosey, that other arrests may follow in connection with the murder case. Several new clues were suggested Friday, Lenz said.

MODERNNESS OF BOOK IS PASTOR'S SUBJECT

Dr. Henry B. Master Speaks Before Members of Quest Club.

In speaking from the subject, "The Modernness of the Book," before members of the Quest club at the Commercial club Friday noon, Dr. Henry B. Master, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, said that for 1,900 years the book had recognized the points of safety first, service and efficiency.

The modern idea of service, Dr. Master said, was an overplus of value, which the public had a right to demand. Efficiency, he declared, meant conservation. Christianity, Dr. Master asserted, had always been considered a progressive religion, whereas it was really retrogressive, going back over the line of march preventing the wasting and leaks in life. This retrogressive phase of religion, the speaker said, did much to reclaim those who had fallen by the wayside.

NEUTRAL INTERESTS MUST NOT INTERFERE

London, Jan. 19.—A statement that neueral interests shall not be allowed to interfere with Germany's struggle for victory was made at the opening of the Prussian diet yesterday by Herr Friedberg, leader of the national liberty party, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuters. Herr Friedberg was one of a number of speakers who urged a vigorous prosecution of the war and increased submarine activity. He said:

"We must expect from every neutral that he do not lay stress on his own interests where for us it is a fight for existence. Such interests must not prevent us from gaining a peace that will satisfy German aspirations and safeguard the world from new and similar catastrophes."

PALLBEARERS NAMED.

Judge Edward O'Rourke, J. E. Graham, E. V. Emrick, O. N. Heaton, Thomas E. Ellison and Sol A. Wood have been named as pallbearers for the funeral of Thomas W. Wilson, pioneer attorney, who died Thursday evening. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Klachn & Melching chapel.

STATE-WIDE DRYS TO SEEK ACTION MONDAY

Planning to Push Indiana Prohibition Measure to Passage.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—With the state-wide prohibition bill ready for third reading in the house on Monday and with approximately 200,000 names signed to petitions asking the legislature to vote Indiana dry, to be presented today, a favorable setting was arranged for the dry forces of the state yesterday. The house committee on public morals reported favorably on the bill yesterday morning, and the report was adopted without opposition.

The printed copies were laid on the desks of the members afterward, and the bill is expected to go to second reading at this morning's session. The house is expected to adjourn at noon today until Monday, and when the members return to their seats after the week-end adjournment the liquor bill will be before them for final consideration. The dry forces expect the bill to pass the house by a large majority.

A few amendments to the bill giving druggists the right to sell alcohol under specified conditions and providing that manufacturing chemists may continue their enterprise without being in violation of the law were accepted by the house without opposition.

Petitions, which will be presented in the house probably urging the passage of the law, will come from the Anti-Saloon league and the Dry Federation of Indiana. The petitions come from all sections of the state, and it was the plan yesterday to give each member of the house the petitions from his legislative district and ask him to present them.

PEPPERED BY SUBMARINE.

British Steamer Escaped After Fifty Shots Had Been Fired.

Portland, Me., Jan. 19.—Officers of the British steamer Palm Branch, which arrived here yesterday from Cardiff to New York, reported today that a submarine fired fifty shots at the vessel while in the English channel early in November. Ten or twelve shots took effect, they said, one passing entirely through the ship above the water line. The steamer escaped by suddenly changing her course. A boy was struck and slightly injured. The Palm Branch returned to Cardiff for repairs and the officers said they learned the submarine later was captured or sunk.

DRIVERS AND DOGS TO SLEEP ON SNOW AND LIVE ON FROZEN FISH ON 500-MILE RACE.

CAPT. BALDWIN ANDERSON, OF RIVERTON, BRITISH COLUMBIA, AND HIS RACING DOGS.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 19.—The longest dog race ever run on the American continent will start from here Jan. 24 and finish in St. Paul, 500 miles distant, with the fastest dogs and best dog drivers of the Canadian trails entered.

It will be a contest between Indians and white men, and between their methods. Indians lash their dogs cruelly in attempts to gain ground; white drivers use the long lash seldom. The red-skin governs his pack by brutal force; the pale face by kindness.

This derby will be longer than the Alaskan derby, run annually between Nome and Candle and return, 412 miles. It will be 200 miles longer than the famous non-stop derby of the Hudson bay region.

Cash prizes of $1,000 will be awarded the winners if they are white men. Should an Indian get in among the leaders he receives a winter's supply of groceries, for they refuse to race for mere money. Gold coin means nothing to them; food and blankets do.

Tommy Spence, of Bad Throat, Man., the most noted of all Cree Indian drivers, is the redskin favorite. John Isfeld, who took 100 dogs to Shackleton, the British explorer, for the Antarctic trip, stands foremost among the white drivers. He will drive a pack of huskies, as pure bred as a husky can be. A husky traces his ancestry back years to a cross between the Canadian timber wolf and the Scotch collie.

It is expected the race will last six days, a trifle over 80 miles being traveled in a day. Spence and Isfeld have a side wager that the winner will make it in three days.

Drivers and dogs will sleep on the snow and live on frozen fish. Any other food, drivers say, would weaken the dogs' endurance, and might ruin their digestion for their stomachs have become accustomed to the frozen fish diet.

The drivers will run alongside their dogs most of the way, hopping into the carryalls from time to time for rest.

NATURALLY THOUGHT THEY WERE MARRIED

Landlady Felt Sure Couple Were Man and Wife When They Quarreled.

An experienced landlady, on South Calhoun street, felt sure that Oscar Murphy, of Danville, Illinois, and Esther Weverly, of Grand Rapids, Mich., were man and wife, because she could hear them quarreling in their room, she told the police.

The couple had told her they were married, she said. But police heard differently and removed the couple. They pleaded "not guilty" to an associating charge. Murphy summoned Attorney A. J. Noonham, of Grand Rapids, to defend him, in police court Friday.

Murphy claimed that the room on Calhoun street was for the girl alone and that he had not stayed with her. He had only visited her at times, he said.

Judge Kerr found the couple guilty. He fined them both $25 and costs. Jail sentence of thirty days was suspended in each case. Attorney Noonham will take the woman back to Michigan, he says and Murphy was told to leave Fort Wayne as soon as he is released from jail.

Other Police Court Cases.

William Hammond, of Bismarck, N. D., who has been in Fort Wayne but a week and who was charged with having been intoxicated on Thursday evening, insisted on calling Fort Wayne's leading street, "Kihune" street. He was fined $1 and costs.

Other cases of public intoxication were Edward Hill, $10 and costs; William Binkley, $5; William Mulligan was released.

Harry Lindemier, Robert Junk and Bruce Sterling, three negroes, were released after pleading guilty to loitering charges. Frank Smith, Mark Gorman and Frank Brown were allowed to leave town after being convicted of vagrancy.

CALL IS EXTENDED TO REV. E. W. ALLEN

Former Local Pastor Will Probably Succeed Rev. E. H. Clifford.

Rev. E. W. Allen, of Auburn, New York, former pastor of the West Jefferson street Church of Christ, who comes here Sunday, January 28, for a series of revival meetings, will probably be the next pastor of the East Creighton avenue Church of Christ, succeeding Rev. E. H. Clifford, who has tendered his resignation to accept a call from Clinton, Ind.

Rev. Allen will, in all probability, accept the call extended some days ago. He is well known in Fort Wayne.

Rev. Clifford came to the pastorate of the East Creighton avenue church in October of 1914. During his ministry here there have been added to the membership of the church 135. All departments have grown under his leadership.

For the past eighteen months Rev. Clifford has served as secretary of the Fort Wayne Ministerial association. He took an active part in the Lyan evangelistic campaign, serving as chairman of the press and publicity committee. Fortwo seasons he has been the teacher of the Sunday school community training school. During his residence here Rev. Clifford has made many friends, all of whom, while regretting to see him leave, wish him unlimited success in his new charge. He expects to take up his work at Clinton on February 1.

THRIFT DAY WILL BE OBSERVED FEBRUARY 3

National Movement on Foot to Promote Saving Among People of Country.

For the benefit of such people who it is very possible would give an answer to the question, "What are you saving for a rainy day?" "My overshoes," Fort Wayne will with nearly every other city in the country observe February 3 as Thrift Day. This is the second annual observance, but the one this year will be more extensive than it was last year.

Several of the Fort Wayne banking institutions are displaying placards announcing the date when old and young might be especially encouraged to look into his personal habits and begin the elimination of waste and the practice of good management and thrift.

Telegrams and letters will be sent to the governor of the state of Indiana from Fort Wayne asking him to issue a proclamation, declaring February 3 as Thrift Day

Business men and manufacturers will also observe this day in fitting manner and will endeavor to bring home to the men whom they employ the value of economy, saving and thrift.

WILL ORGANIZE TONIGHT.

The movement for an organization of the building trades crafts affiliated with the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, which has been in progress for some weeks, will result in a permanent organization at Carpenter's hall tonight. The executive officers of all the building trades unions will hold the final conference there tonight, when permanent organization and the election of officers will be made. The idea, of course, is the building up of the trades affected.

AUBURN NEWS.

Auburn, Ind., Jan. 19.—Among the pneumonia patients in this city are Mrs. Alex Kinmont, of Ensley avenue, and Mrs. Alec McClure, a short distance south of this city. Both are very ill.

Mrs. Richard Shull passed away Thursday afternoon at the family home on West Third street, after an illness of six weeks. Mrs. Shull was a victim of pneumonia and for ten days her friends have had no hope of her recovery. She leaves her husband and one sister, Mrs. Charles Schaab, of this city.

Attorney Fred Shearer and John Keeran were visiting at Albion yesterday.

Mrs. Effie Hogue, mother of Frank Hogue, passed away at the home of her son, on North Main street, last night, at the advanced age of 91 years. Mrs. Hogue was born in Pennsylvania. She moved with her parents to Ohio when she was but a small child and shortly after came to Indiana, where she has since resided. Her companion died 44 years ago. She leaves three children, three having preceded her in death. The children are Miss Lydia Hogue and the son, Frank, both residents of this city, and Mrs. Florence Houke, of Salma, Cal. The funeral will be held from the late home, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and interment will be made at the Cedar Creek cemetery, which is near the old home at New Era, where she resided for eighty years.

Mrs. T. H. Leasure left Thursday for Mount Ayr, Iowa, where she was called by the critical illness of her mother and sister.

Miss Blanch Tuttel, of Ludington, Mich., came this morning to visit Miss Elizabeth Bourns, of South Jackson street.

Fire prevention day will be observed in this city Tuesday, January 24, at which time several state fire inspectors will be here to address the people. The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the court house.

Rev. John McMillan, residing six miles northwest of Auburn, was found in an unconscious condition in the woods on his farm, Wednesday evening. He had been ill for some time but was much better and started for the woods. When he did not return soon his wife became alarmed and when the daughter, who is a student in the Waterloo high school, returned from her school she started to hunt her father and found him lying in the snow unconscious. He was removed to the house and lived but half an hour. The deceased was a circuit minister, having four churches in his charge. Owing to the fact he could not secure a house in Waterloo he moved to the farm. Besides his wife he leaves four children, Miss Angie, at home; a son and daughter married, residing near Plattsville, Mich., and a daughter attending college at Huntington. The funeral will be held at the Evangelical church at Waterloo, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and interment will be made at Plattsville, Mich.

Several General Electric men from the east have been in the city this week conferring with officials of the local plant on business matters. Among them were W. A. Iehler, of the transformer engineering department of the Pittsfield plant; A. E. Blanchard, who has charge of the oil testing laboratories at Pittsfield, and Jack Brobst, of the Schenectady office.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

ICE BLOCKS TRAFFIC ON THE WABASH

Mass Thirty Feet High Moves Down on Ferry at Detroit.

The accumulation of ice in the Detroit river, where the railway and the other ferry boats run, is the greatest at present within the recollection of old residents of that city. At places the ice is twenty to thirty feet deep and whenever it shifts down to the ferry lines, there is nothing doing in that business until the ice moves on. Last night the mass of ice prevented the passage of the ferry boats on which Wabash trains are transferred from the Canadian to the United States shores and as a result it became necessary to annul westbound Wabash train No. 9 and send a "make-up" over the line from Montpelier, Ohio, to St. Louis. The passenger ferry at Woodworth avenue was also out of service a good portion of the time yesterday and last night, on account of the great volume of ice.

NEW PENNSY PATROLMAN.

George E. Sanderson Takes Place on the Force.

George E. Sanderson is now a member of Capt. H. C. Stoll's force of patrolmen on the Western division of the Pennsylvania, commencing service this morning. Mr. Sanderson was formerly a soldier and served Uncle Sam three years in the regular army and later several months on the Mexican border, being a member in the latter service of Company E, First infantry. He will work out of Fort Wayne and be subject to assignment at any point where his services as patrolman may be needed.

THIRTY-SIX HOURS ON DUTY.

(Bellevue Gazette.)

After thirty-six hours of continuous service in the yards of the Nickel Plate here, Trainmaster C. E. Maxfield, of the Cleveland division, who came here from Cleveland Sunday afternoon, last night sought rest for the first time since taking charge of the local railroad yards early Sunday evening. This morning he was again on the job, assistin in working cars through the serious blockage which has resulted here from embargoes which have been placed in effect by many roads. Trainmaster E. S. Kirby, of the Fort Wayne division of the road, also was here assisting in the work today. The blockade, which has existed in the Bellevue yards of the Nickel Plate for several days, is reported to be one of the most serious in the history of the railroad and all available track space has been crowded and the task of moving cars through the congestion has taxed the capacity of the equipment here, which has been augmented by the addition of a large yard engine from the Cleveland yards of the company.

CONNECTED BY BRIDGES.

The steel girders for two bridges connecting buildings No. 26 and No. 19 at the General Electric works, were placed in position over Wall street this morning. One bridge is from the second story and the other from the fourth story of the big buildings. They will be used chiefly for pedestrians in passing from one building to the other. There are several of these bridges between buildings on the east side of Broadway and one, which connects the transformer room in the old factory building with the second story of the main factory building, No. 19, on Broadway, is called the "bridge of sighs," because of an imaginary resemblance to the famous passageway in the tombs prison in New York.

CHICKEN DINNER NEXT.

The members of the fire department at the General Electric works, whose abilities at a well provided table are exceeded only by the fire fighting abilities, will have a chicken dinner Thursday night, February 1. The feast will be at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a social gathering in the basement of the office, at which a prominent feature will be an address by Robert Gaskill, electrician and superintendent of the city fire department. Another feature will be a contest at the shuffleboard between William Bracht and Edward Holmes, to decide the question of championship. The committee of arrangements consists of F. G. Duryee, Charles Strodel, James Sivits, Harry Zimmerman and E. J. Stroud.

HOD CARRIERS APPLY FOR CHARTER.

Formal application for a charter was forwarded to Albany, N. Y., yesterday, by the men who are back of the organization of a local Hod Carriers' and Building Laborers' organization, and within the next few days a permanent organization will be effected. The next meeting will be held in the Elite hall, 131 East Main street, next Thursday night. Everybody will be made welcome who is eligible to membership. President John E. Werkman, of the Barbers' union, is the organizer and with President S. W. Burgoon and H. C. Leonard addressed the meeting last night along the lines of union labor.

RETIRED SHOPMAN IMPROVING.

Fred Starke, who suffered a light stroke of paralysis a week ago, and was taken to the Lutheran hospital last Monday, is making satisfactory progress toward recovery and his physician and the members of his family expect to see him around with accustomed activity in a week or so. Mr. Starke is eighty-four years old and was among the early ones in the shops to go on the pension list. He was retired in 1903, after working in the shops forty-three consecutive years.

WILL RETURN TO FARM.

Evidently H. L. Egolf, a helper in the Pennsylvania boiler shop, does not like shop work very well. He came here three months ago, expecting to work until summer. This week he closed a deal for eighty acres of land near Columbia City, and today announced his intention of resigning to take up farm work. While Mr. Egolf did not make the announcement, it is learned that he is to be married to a popular young lady from near his home and that they will immediately go to housekeeping on the farm.

TO NEPHEW'S FUNERAL.

Conductor and Mrs. A. D. Hodel, the former of the Nickel Plate, went to the country near Van Wert yesterday to attend the funeral of their nephew, Clifford O. Balyeat, the young man who was so badly injured at Bryan, Ohio, Wednesday, that he died a few hours later. MYSTERIOUS RAIDER DROPS OUT OF SIGHT

No Definite News Since She Parted With Jap Ship Week Ago.

Rio Janiero, Jan. 19.—Except for the accounts brought to Pernambuco by survivors of vessels which had been sunk, no authentic information has been received here regarding the unidentified German raider which has been roving the south Atlantic for more than a month. Since she parted company with the Hudson Maru, a week ago the raider has dropped out of sight and so far as can be ascertained is still at large.

Great anxiety is felt for the safety of various vessels in waters which are regarded as in the danger zone and various vessels reports of additional sinking are current but there is no indication that these stories have any substantial basis. The French merchantman Samara, 6,007 tons, which was reported to have been sunk, is safe and is due at Rio Janeiro this afternoon.

The vessel in regard to which the greatest concern is felt is the 8,000 ton British steamship Ortega, on her way to Pernambuco. It is reported from that city that she has returned to St. Vincent, but the report lacks confirmation.

No official information has been received in corroboration of the reported arrival at St. Vincent, Cape Verde islands, of the British steamship Yarrowdale, one of the vessels captured by the raider, which is supposed to have on board the crews of eight destroyed steamers.

From accounts given by men from the destroyed steamships as published in the newspapers, it appears that the raider has a speed of about 16 knots. The crews of the French barks Nantes and Asnieres, which arrived at Pernambuco on the Hudson Maru, took passage today on the Brazilian ship Minas Geraes for Bahia, Brazil, where they will await a French steamship to take them home.

SWEEPSTAKE CONTESTS ARE DECIDED TODAY

Valuable Poultry Prizes Are Awarded—The Homing Pigeons.

The exhibitors at the poultry show, two squares north of the court house, are especially interested in the action of the judges today because of the fact that at this time the judges will award the special prizes and the sweepstake honors. The association this year awarded in special classes, six valuable gold watches of the best known standard American makes, and a large and valuable collection of trophy cups, which are being assigned to the winners today. Special trophies for exhibitors from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, and many special cash prizes are also being placed.

Record-Breaking Homing Pigeons.

The display is made by members of the Old Fort Homing club, which is affiliated with the American Racing Pigeon union, with headquarters at Washington, D. C. Most of the larger cities of America have these racing pigeon clubs which are affiliated with the Washington association or with the International Federation of American Homing Pigeon Fanciers and the American Racing Pigeon association. It has been the good fortune of the city of Fort Wayne, however, to hold tightly to the world's flight records in six years, and the record now held will probably remain unbroken for many years to come.

The officers of the Old Fort Homing club are: President, Henry Beach; vice president, E. H. Menefee; treasurer, C. H. Volmerding; recording secretary, Al Dondot; corresponding secretary, A. M. Boerger; race committee, E H. Menefee, O. W. Anderson, C. H. Volmerding, Elmer Brown and George Lenz.

Twice the world's records have been broken by birds owned by Dr. Carl Schilling, twice by birds of Henry Beach, and once each by birds owned by Louis Gebfert and O. W. Anderson. Concerning the methods adopted by the club in managing the races, Mr. Eggeman says: "Before we ship the birds out to the place from which they are to make their homeward flight, the race committee places upon the leg a metal band with a countermark on the inside, bearing the number of the bird, which identifies its owner. When the bird returns home from its flight, we have our timing."

Poultry Show Crowds.

The homing pigeon display is only one of the "side issues" of the big poultry show. The real royal representatives of poultrydom are to be seen among the thirty classes of splendid specimens arranged on the two floors of the exhibition building, two squares north of the court house.

The show will continue all this week, morning, afternoon and evening.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Nervousness over dangers to ocean shipping was plainly manifest in the wheat market today and sentiment quickly changed in accordance with rumored developments. Refusal of the interstate commerce commission to increase storage charges on export grain seemed to have been anticipated and did not affect the market. Opening quotations, which ranged from ⅜c to 1c higher, with May at $1.90½@1.91 and July at $1.54 @1.54⅜, were followed by a quick setback to well under yesterday's finish and then a recovery.

Corn hardened on account of scantiness of country offerings. After opening unchanged to ⅝c higher, the market underwent a moderate general sag.

Oats took the same course as corn.

Higher quotations on hogs gave strength to provisions.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 19.—Shipping stocks were the leaders in today's early advance, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies rising 4½ points, with 1 to 2 for marines. Motors figured prominently in the movement with Pittsburg Coal, American Locomotive, Industrial Alcohol, International Paper, papers and fertilizers. United States Steel and Republic Iron were better by a point, also Central Leather, Western Union and American Zinc. The only noteworthy feature among the rails was the strength of Missouri Pacific issues. Bethlehem Steel was again reactionary, falling 5 points.

On the further rise of the first hour United States Steel touched 115⅝, or within half a point of its top price thus far this year. Bethlehem Steel fluctuated widely, however, showing unusual activity on its decline to 410, an overnight loss of 25 points and 60 under Tuesday's final quotation. The shipping group strengthened very substantially, including United States Fruit and Pacific Mail. Coppers improved with equipments and various miscellaneous issues. After a period of dullness trading became active again, Bethlehem Steel regaining 20 points, with a brisk inquiry for Mexican. Bonds were irregular.

MAY CHOOSE ANOTHER BUILDING FOR SHOW

The members of the Automobile Trade association will hold a meeting within the next twenty-four hours at which, it is said, they may decide to hold the coming automobile show in another building than the Utility.

The committee on buildings has in mind several places regarded as more commodious than the one orgally selected and as several insurmountable obstacles seem to face the exhibitors for that building it is probable that a change will be made.

It has been given out that if certain plans carry there is hardly any doubt about the coming show being the largest and best ever attempted in Fort Wayne.

MIDNIGHT HOURS BRING NO ALARM OF DREAD CROUP

POSTS GUARD AT BEDTIME.

And Mother Sleeps Without Fear of Hearing that Awful Brassy Choking Cough.

This fine boy is Master Charles Kern, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hurley, 1026 Madison St., LaPorte, Ind. Charles has a little "Bodyguard" who lives in a little blue jar, and protects him against croup, colds, sore throat, bronchitis—in fact all kinds of cold troubles.

The name of this "Bodyguard" is Vick's VapoRub Salve, and the best thing about him is that he doesn't have to be swallowed. To "post the guard," Charles' mother just applies VapoRub externally and covers with a warm flannel cloth. Quick relief comes by absorption through the skin and by inhalation as a vapor.

"We always try to keep VapoRub in the house," writes Mrs. Hurley, "as the children are very susceptible to croup. By rubbing it on their throats and chests they are soon relieved. My husband and I used VapoRub when we had pleurisy and our pains went almost immediately.

Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00.

SHORT KINDNESS, NOT SHORT SKIRT, DIVORCE CAUSE, SAYS WIFE.

MRS. ROSE CUFF

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Short skirts or short kindness—which is the better reason for divorce?

The circuit court here has decided a skirt two inches above the boot tops is cause for divorce and on this basis has freed William P. Cuff from his pretty, blithesome, 20-year-old wife.

But Mrs. Cuff protests the divorce should have been granted to her on the short kindness she says her husband bestowed upon her.

"If my skirts were as short as my husband's kindness he might have some cause for complaint," she says.

Cuff is 46 and married four years ago, when Mrs. Cuff was 16. The couple has two children, William, 3, and Marion 2.

"Mine was another tragedy of an early marriage," Mrs. Cuff says. "My parents live on a ranch in the west and sent me here to be educated. I ran away from school to marry.

"I wore a short skirt because I had to support myself by going on the stage."

FRANCE WILL MAKE CHANGES IN HER MAP

Napoleonic Method of Division is Now Cause of Complaint.

Paris, Jan. 19.—France is likely to come out of the war with a new map whether her exterior boundaries are changed or not. Napoleon's organization of her 86 departments, dating from 1799, has been condemned by nearly all French statesmen as inadequate for modern France. A strong movement that has, since the war, developed into an effective experiment in the organization of "regional economic consultative committees" may bring about a political redivision of the country into something like 18 admnistrative and legislative "regions."

The object is concentration of regional interests now scattered among the departments, with a decentralization of administrative measures. It would bring the French republic into closer analogy with the government of the United States by giving the proposed "regions" independence as to local regulations and economic problems such as the 86 departments have never had.

The man who has directed the movement is one of the younger men in public life, Jean Hennessy, deputy for the department of Charente and a member of the well known Hennessy family of southwestern France. He introduced a bill to that end in the chamber in 1913. It was still unacted upon when mobilization was ordered, and M. Hennessy joined his regiment. In the interval before the government returned from Bordeaux to Paris, he had earned the French military medal and the British distinguished service order. With the reassembling of parliament, he came back to push his project and succeeded in passing a compromise measure for the organization of economic consulting committees in each of the 19 military regions of France. A committee of the chamber has reported that the results of the experiment are excellent; they have furnished a forceful argument in favor of M. Hennessy's original proposition.

"The task of the French citizens after the war will be a hard one," said M. Hennessy to the Associated Press, "and they mustn't be handicapped by a superannuated administration that centralizes the administrative machinery in the capital, despite the 86 departmental divisions, and cramps the economic life of the country. Heretofore everything has gone to Paris or by way of Paris. All the big railway lines converged upon the capital and left the provincial regions out of touch with each other and without adequate direct communications with foreign countries.

"This centralization has prevented France from adapting herself to the economic transformations of the epoch. She failed to profit from her incomparable geographic position and she left a great part of her enormous natural riches unexploited. her economic installations were too slow in developing; her waterways were neither properly developed nor organized; industrial organization was perfected in only isolated cases and not generalized; several hundred thousand horse power in natural waterfall was neglected; agriculture even did not produce the maximum; there was no co-operation between scientists and practical business men; our capital was mostly applied to the development of other countries than our own.

"The only cure for all that is the cutting of the red tape that binds those regions to the capital and prevents the free play of local initiative.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate set on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—Advertisement.

THE GRIP.

Grip is something of a joke to those who have never had it, but when they get it they become dead to all sense of humor. No disease was ever more appropriately named because grip takes hold of the entire system. To get rid of it take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and carefully observe the directions with each bottle. This remedy is highly recommended by those who have used it and know its real value. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Says "Cadomene Tablets Proved Their Worth"!

Man to Man Talking Says: "Yes, Sir, Cadomene Tablets Revived Me After a Vain Search for Help."

"Several years ago, at forty-five, I was a nervous wreck, physically and mentally—but Cadomene Tablets made a well man of me; I was 'down and out,' as the saying goes. Why, I couldn't sleep, was weak, nervous, irritable, moody and gloomy, tired and worried-looking; in fact, was half-sick all the time—the result of hard work, some mild dissipation and a general carelessness about health, until this condition crept upon me. Then I began to worry, for I could compare the present with the past and realized my inefficiency becoming more pronounced, and I defy anyone to avoid 'worrying' under such a handicap at work, at home or anywhere. A vacation helped some, but soon I was in the same old rut.

"Now, friend, you look about like I felt at that time, and from what you've told me of your plight, I take it that my practical and experienced advice will be accepted." I want you to try Cadomene Tablets as I did; it's not a 'secret' medicine; the label tells us it contains iron, phosphorous and valuable tonic extracts from the best drugs known to science, and I can honestly say that in ten days' time I could notice a big change for the better after I began their use. Every tablet I took seemed to advance my condition and every step taken was held—no sliding back. Now I sleep well, eat heartily, arise refreshed, enjoy my work, and seek pleasures with keenest relish. Those dreadful pains in head and back, which you have, are all gone; ambition, energy and hope came surging back as in youth—and all told, I feel fine, like a new being.—glad to meet my duties whether business, social or domestic."

Cadomene Tablets promote the efficiency of food-energy, tone up, and regulate the functions so greatly, that the proprietors guarantee each package to give entire satisfaction or refund the purchase price. All wide-awake druggists sell them, in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration. Take a fresh lease on an enjoyable life, by taking Cadomene Tablets.

HE WILL CARRY OUT JOHNSON POLICIES

Next Governor of California Will Follow in His Footsteps.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 1?.—When Hiram W. Johnson resigns as governor of the state some time in February, Lieutenant-Governor W. D. Stephens will step into the executive's chair.

California's next governor says he believes strongly in the Johnson policies and that he will do all in his power to sustain them.

Stephens, who is 58, was appointed lieutenant-governor by Johnson last year, following the death of John Eshelman. He was at that time a congressman, enjoying the distinction of having been elected by the largest majority ever given a candidate for such an office.

The next governor of the state has fought his way up to success. He started out in life as a "printer's devil," and later was engaged in railroad construction in the middle west. In California he became a salesman in a firm that developed into one of the largest grocery establishments of Los Angeles. He advanced to a partnership.

While achieving this success he became prominent in politics and civil life. He was once president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and in 1909 was elected mayor of that city.

Before we move you can get Wilson Bros. $2.50 and $3 fine plaited full dress shirts at 98c.

BLINDFOLD CHICKENS TO MAKE THEM ROOST

Residents of Alaska Contend They Now Have Too Much Daylight.

New York, Jan. 19.—Residents of Alaska are opposed to the daylight saving plan. The New York Daylight Saving committee, which is urging the adoption of the plan in this country, has made public the following letter from the secretary of the Skagway Commercial club, of Skagway, Alaska:

"I regret to inform you that the residents of Skagway could not possibly cooperate with you in this movement, from the fact that we would prefer to turn the clock back in the summer time, remembering that in the summer we have all day, all night, with a few minutes at midnight that is called dawn.

"Residents in the northerly part of the Yukon report that there is so much daylight there that it is necessary to blindfold the chickens so they may go to roost."

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Says glass of hot water before breakfast washes poisons from system.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.—Advertisement.

Concordians Hold Inter-Company Indoor Track Meet This Evening

INTER-COMPANY TRACK MEET AT COLLEGE GYM

Annual Indoor Event Will Be Staged Tonight by Concordia Students.

The annual indoor inter-company track meet of the Concordia students will be staged tonight at the college gym. The scene of action is all prepared and the banked speedway has been laid out for the athletes. The athletic program starts at 8 o'clock and will be preceded by a concert by the military band, led by John Verwiere. Several solo numbers will be given by well known artists who have been secured through the assistance of Mr. Verwiere.

Much interest always centers in the inter-company meet, the first of the season at the college, and the students have been working hard in preparation for the affair. The program includes the following events: Forty yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard run, 880 yard run, standing broad jump, standing hop, step and jump, running high jump and 220 low hurdles.

Captain Byroade will be referee and will have full charge. The other officials are Professor J. J. Ritter, track judge; Otto Strieder, field judge; H. B. Ellenwood and Tom Hayes, judges at the finish. A banner will be given the winning company and place winner in each event will be given ribbons.

WALSH MAY BECOME OWNER OF DES MOINES

The retirement of Bid Ed Walsh from major league baseball may forecast the control of the Des Moines Western league team by another member of the White Sox.

Walsh is seriously considering buying a controlling interest in the Des Moines team, following the purchase of the Wichita franchise by Frank Isbell, who held the controlling interest in the Des Moines team for several years.

Isbell was a member of the Sox when that team won the world championship in 1906.

TALKING IT OVER.

Mr. Ban Johnson
Chicago, Illinoy
Dear Ban
When you read
That letter
From Dave Fultz
The other day
You got mad
And said some
Naughty words
And other things
And you said
You would kick
Fultz out of baseball
And fly swat the
Players fraternity
And everything
And Ban tell us
Old dear
Why don't you
Have a record made
Of the things
Dave Fultz
And every year
Just stick it on
A phonograph
And wind it up
And save all the trouble
And not lose
Your angelic temper
And everything?
And send records
To all the papers
And they could use them
Every year.

JIMMY WILDE WILL JOIN ENGLISH ARMY

Jimmie Wilde, flyweight champion of the world, will join the British army in a few weeks, having passed the entrance examination recently.

Wilde was twice rejected by army surgeons on account of his weight. Wilde fights at from 98 to 102 pounds.

The little champion has been accepted for foreign garrison duty and probably will not see much trench fighting.

Before he joins the colors he probably will have a chance to secure permanent possession of the Lonsdale belt, as he is matched to box either George Clark or Young Symonds, former flyweight champion, January 29.

PENNSYLVANIA AND ELECTRICIANS WIN

League Leaders and Their Understudies Cop Again and Keep Standings.

THE STANDINGS

Teams.	W.	L.	Pct.
Pennsy	4	0	1.000
Electric Works	3	1	.750
Bowsers	1	3	.250
Dudlos	0	4	.000

In the first game of the second round of the Industrial Basketball league the standings remain the same, but are a little more pronounced. Some strange things happened in the contests last night. The Dudlo, cellar position, came mighty near putting over a win on the Railroaders, who lead the league. In the contest between the Bowsers and the Electric Works, the score comes far from telling the tale. The Bowser five had a lot more to their credit than will show in the summary, and if the forwards get to registering more often, the Tanks will be right up among the best.

Pennsy Has Narrow Margin.

Pennsy (7).		Dudlos (6).
Doriot	R. F.	Doerfler
Hoffman	L. F.	Wyss
Cramer	C.	Herring
Daley	R. G.	Walda
Henry	L. G.	Kierspe

Field goals—Doriot, 1; Hoffman, 2; Wyss, 2.

Foul goals—Doriot, 1; Herring, 2.

Referee—Harkenrider.

In a low score, rough game the Pennsy league leaders won from the Dudlo five last night by a count of 7 to 6. The guarding in the game was close and at some times ran into holding. Referee Harkenrider did little interfering in the opening period, which ended with a 4 to 1 lead for the Railroaders, but in the second half he had to break up the clinches and call the fouls. The losers came back in the last half, outscoring and outplaying the winners. The stellar playing of the game was done by the guards on both teams, their work keeping the score to where it was.

Rivals Have Battle.

Electric Works (20).		Bowsers (11).
Keplinger	R. F.	Freistroffer-Slater
Miller	L. F.	Weberuss
Vonderhaar	C.	Mens'g-Freistroffer
Blee-Outland	R. G.	Dietrich
Linde'uth-Outl'd.	L. G.	Kennedy

Foul goals—Weberuss, 3; Miller, 6.

Referee—Harkenrider.

The game between the five of the Electric Works and the Bowser outfit was much closer than the score indicates and called forth some mighty good work from the latter athletes on the defensive. The Electrical Works team has a trio of the best players in the city. Miller, Keplinger and Vonderhaar are on the floor together more, in all probability, than any other three players in these parts. With a scoring and floor working machine like they compose, it takes mighty good opposition to hold them down at all.

The Bowser crew had their troubles trying to cage the pill last night and have had all season, but they have credit coming for holding the Electricians down and preventing a massacre. The General Electric guarding was far from poor, and if the Bowser forwards had been sharpshooters they would have had a hard time getting within scoring distance.

The scoring was started by Dietrich when he dropped in the first basket of the game for the Tanks. After overcoming this advantage, however, the Electricians were always ahead, the first period ending with a 9 to 5 advantage for them. Vonderhaar, for the winners, and Dietrich and Kennedy, for the losers, were the stars of the game. The Bowser guards were the big noise in breaking up their opponents' attack.

This game was far from gentle, and Harkenrider had his troubles here, too. Close guarding and holding caused the trouble here, as in the other game.

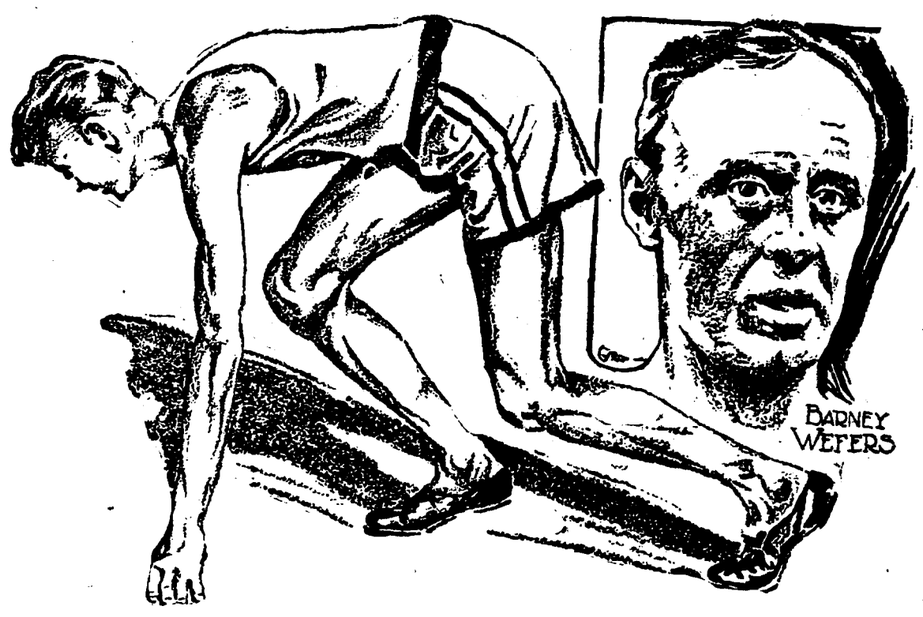
NOTES OF THE SESSION.

After the second game was over last night the league bosses and the managers of the different aggregations put their heads together (figuratively speaking) and decided that something must be done to cut the rough stuff out of the games. They finally hit on the plan of the captains talking to their men, telling them the games must be cleaner or the team will die a hard death, which is the case. No good exhibition of basketball can be given when the guarding is so close it is hard to distinguish from holding. It reminds the spectators too much of the new style of fighting.

This shop league basketball is one of the most popular sport features that was ever introduced in the city. It is a paying game and, if the games are played in the right way and the rooting done in the same way, it creates a friendly rivalry between the employes of the larger industries of the city, which will lead to formation of leagues in other sports and go a long ways toward furnishing amusements. Anyhow, the league is popular.

The Pennsy five is one of the smoothest working machines seen around here in a long time. The players all work together and there is no rivalry to see which can get the most baskets. Their playing has put them on the top now and they stand mighty good chances of finishing the season there.

BARNEY WEFERS, JR., FOLLOWS FOOTSTEPS OF FAMOUS FATHER—BURNS UP THE CINDER PATHS.



BY PAUL PURMAN.

The rule in athletics that the son of a great athlete is never as good as his father in the same sport promises to be broken by Barney Wefers, jr., son of the sprinting champion of fifteen years ago.

A boy of 17, young Barney is already setting records on the track which indicate he will be even greater than his father because he is more versatile.

Young Wefers is not only a crack sprinter, but has won honors in the hurdles and jumps, fields which his father never entered.

But the boy is much better in outdoor competition than on an inside track. Last spring he won four firsts for DeWitt Clinton high school against the Columbia freshmen, taking the 100 and 220 dashes, the 220 low hurdles and the broad jump.

It is the first time in track athletics where a son has given promise of being as successful as his father.

In the ring sons have been failures. Bob Fitzsimmons' son, much press-agented a couple of years ago, was a dismal failure.

The only case of father and son making good in baseball was of the two Jim O'Rourkes, senior and junior. Jim senior was leading batter of the National league in 1884 and a big league player for 21 seasons, 13 of which he batted over .300.

But young Jim, although getting a trial in the majors, only lasted one season and went back to the minors.

Cases of brothers who have made good in the same sport are rare.

The famous Delehanteys are perhaps the best example. The Gibbons brothers, Mike and Tom, are the best examples in the ring. There are two brothers of Charley White doing fairly well in the squared circle. Leach Cross' brother, Phil, also boxed fairly well.

LAKE FOREST PUTS UP OPPOSITION TONIGHT

Evanston Five Will Do Battle With Feds on the Lyceum Floor.

Work has been cut out for the Lyceum Feds when they meet the Lake Forest 'varsity tonight. The local quintet is taking on a big proposition and a win over the collegians this year will be a feather in the hats of the South Siders. They won from the collegians last year but slipping over two swats in the same place is liable to prove a good evening's work.

The Lake Forest 'varsity has been compared quite a little with the 'varsity of Wabash college of Crawfordsville, which quintet won from the Em-Roes last night for the second time this season. Both teams represent comparatively small schools but have been wiping up the products of the big universities right along. Among other outfits, Lake Forest has defeated the University of Chicago.

The Feds are in good condition, having worked out regularly this week, and the floor is improving right along. The five which has been starting the games right along will take the floor this evening and is as follows: Miller and Keplinger, forwards; Vonderhaar, center; Blee and Brown, guards.

WEEGHMAN WILL RULE WITH AN IRON HAND

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Charles H. Weeghman, president of the Chicago Nationals, today added emphasis to his policy announced early this week in dealing with ball players who refuse to sign contracts, and offered the case of James Archer, catcher, as an object lesson. The veteran catcher recently refused a contract calling for $4,000, claiming that the cut from $7,500 was too great. Mr. Weeghman said he had sent Archer a second contract calling for considerable less than $4,000. "I first sent Archer a contract which called for $4,000," he said. "This might be considered fair when it is remembered that he batted at a .220 clip and played in 61 games last season. I've sent him a second contract calling for considerable less money than the first and he can take it or leave it, as he sees fit, or find employment elsewhere. I am ready to take the same action with any ball player who wishes it." Mr. Weeghman pointed out that the Chicago's club salary list last season was $145,000 and asserted that about $75,000 or $80,000 is all a big league club can afford. He reiterated former statements replying to threats by David L. Fultz, president of the baseball players' fraternity, to call a strike of the Chicago players on February 20, that the club's special train would leave for the training camp at Pasadena, Cal., on that date "if there is not a single player on hand."

INTERNATIONAL CIRCUIT

May Close Its Gates During the 1917 Season.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—President B. B. Johnson of the American league has returned from New York with the announcement that the International league will close its gates the coming season should the ball players' fraternity insist on its demands. He also reiterated what he said in the east in regard to the threatened strike, insisting that the National and American leagues would have no dealings with President Fultz of the fraternity in the future.

"The International league held a meeting in New York before I left," said Mr. Johnson, "at which the owners in the league discussed the advisability of closing their gates next season. The league lost a lot of money last year, and as a result of the demands of the players' fraternity this year the owners figure that they would save a lot by nailing up their parks."

CHAMP GIRLS' TEAM PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

Warsaw Sextette Will Give Locals a Good Outfit to Defeat.

The main trouble with the Fort Wayne high girls' basketball team this year has rested in the fact that they have played no teams which furnished them real opposition. Tonight they meet the sextette from Warsaw high, touted as the best in this part of the state, at the James Smart gym. The game starts at 7:15 o'clock in order that the visitors can catch a train.

This visiting aggregation last week played the Elkhart girls at Elkhart and won. This is the first time the Elkhart bunch has been beaten on its own floor in seven years. The Warsaw girls have been piling up scores something like those of the local team all season and the two should put up some game. It will give local fans an idea on how good the Fort Wayne high team is.

An effort to bring the Warsaw boys here tonight to play the 'varsity failed, and the scrubs will oppose the first team after the girls' game. The election of a new captain for the boys' squad, which was to have been held last night, has been postponed until the first of next week.

PINKIE MITCHELL NOW AFTER KILBANE'S JOB

Richie says his brother is the fastest thing he ever saw on two legs and predicts he will be featherweight champion within two years.

"Pinkie" has been boxing with amateurs and has flattened a number in three round bouts staged by the A. A. U. in Milwaukee.

"I've taught that kid everything I know," Richie said, "and he's shown me some things I never saw before. Kilbane better sidestep this youngster when he gets ready to tackle the professionals."

HOW ABOUT DUTCH WITHOUT CARRIGAN?

Boston fans are wondering what success Dutch Leonard will have at Boston this year if Bill Carrigan sticks to his determination to retire from baseball.

For Carrigan has caught Leonard ever since he joined the Red Sox and many critics believe that half of the big southpaw's effectiveness was due to Carrigan's assistance.

Leonard is of a peculiar disposition and is temperamental and no receiver has been so well able to keep him under control as the Sox manager.

PREPARE FOR COMING OF WORLD CHAMPIONS

The St. Mary's five is working hard in preparation for the coming of the Oswego world champions Sunday afternoon. The local crew is going to make one big bid for a swat at the little old title while they have a chance, just to make their claim on the state title more secure (after they win from the Em-Roes). At least the New Yorkers will get a good workout in their engagement in this city and will have a chance to remember the burg.

WITH THE AMATEURS.

Hugs, 31, Turner Juniors, 14.

Packards, 18; St. John's Juniors, 16.

The St. Mary's Mohawks desire a game with any team averaging between 90 and 100 pounds, the St. Paul's Sevenths preferred. Call 2066 green.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Advertisement.

STILL OWE OLD DEBTS.

Paris, Jan. 19.—Discussion of the proposition for the integral reparation of all war damages in France has developed the fact that some French cities and villages have not yet finished paying obligations incurred in order to satisfy requisitions by the German armies in 1870.

Two villages of the old department of the Haute Marne, four villages of the Aisne, one of the Haute Saone, two of the Somme, and eight in Meurthe and Moselle still owe a portion of the money borrowed to pay the contributions levied upon them, while the city of Amiens, fined a million francs during the short occupation of 1914 has not yet finished paying the five millions the Germans levied on the town in 1870. She still owes three millions.

PERTINENT QUERIES PUT BY THE GERMANS

Circumstances Leading Up to War Presented in Question Form.

Twenty-one pertinent questions regarding the circumstances leading up to the war and about the issues that have arisen since its outbreak are asked in a statement given out by the Overseas News agency, a semi-official bureau for dissemination of news to neutral countries. The statement is believed to have been inspired by the German government in answer to the charges made by the Entente reply to President Wilson.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—The Overseas News Agency gave out the following statement, which it says emanates "from a competent and well-informed authority":

"The queries and reproaches raised by the Reuter office by order of the British government, in order to lay at Germany's door the guilt for the outbreak of the war, are not ignored by anybody.

Ask Recall of Grey's Attitude.

"They are the same phases refuted by us long ago. We make some counter-queries:

"Did not Sir Edward Grey declare that England would renounce the idea of a conference for an amicable settlement of the Serbian question which lead to the war if Germany succeeded in making Austria-Hungary negotiate directly with Russia, and did not Germany's steadfast efforts succeed?

"Was not the offer of an arbitration court made on the same day that Russia mobilized against Austria-Hungary, the ally of Germany, and to whose assistance Germany was compelled by treaty?

"Was not this offer an unfair demand which could be answered by Germany only in the fashion in which it was answered?

"Did not the British ambassador in Petrograd as early as July 25, warn M. Sazonoff against ordering mobilization since Germany could not be satisfied with a counter-mobilization, but must immediately declare war?

Were Neutral Offers Made?

"Was it not in England's hands to stay out of the war, but did she not prefer to use the opportunity to assault Germany after Sir Edward Grey had refused to remain neutral even in the case that Belgian neutrality and the integrity of France and the French colonies were guaranteed by Germany?

"Is it not visible from this fact and from the strict refusal to give any conditions whatever under which Great Britain would remain neutral, that it was England's absolute will to attack?

"Did not Russia, after carrying out her mobilization, express her gratitude to England for the 'firm attitude' which was observed by England towards Germany?

"Why is Reuter's silent about Ireland, where British officers, out of sheer lust of killing, shot innocent Irishmen without court martial?

Boer Crisis Pointed Out.

"Do not the British remember the concentration camps during the Boer war when thousands of innocent Boer children perished, and does not the British government know what a great number of Boers now are thinking of England?

"Is the British government ignorant of the duma discussions about the treatment of foreign nationals in Russia?

"Only recently the Russian deputy Tschenkely said in the duma that it had been openly said that the Russian government during the war offended all humanity and divine laws regarding a great number of nations.

"Have not, according to the testimony of duma members, numbers of innocent Jews in Russia been hanged while Mohammedans in the Caucasus have been tortured to death?

"Have not England and France, under hypocritical pretexts of acting as protecting powers, made requests of sovereign Greece which by far exceed those which Austria-Hungary was compelled to ask of Serbia?

Colonies Obtained in Peace.

"As to colonies, Germany obtained hers by peaceful negotiations. Germany is not responsible for an account of guilt such as England is guilty of in India and France in Morocco.

"Can England furnish any proof for the affirmation that Germany, before the British, laid mines in the German sea, placed mines anywhere except off the German and English coasts and approached British waters, after corresponding warning to the neutrals?

"Is not the German submarine war exclusively a reprisal against the British policy of starvation?

"Are the British ignorant of the fact that Paris was a regular fortress and was besieged by the Germans according to the laws of war?

"Do the English know that there are Russian prison camps where thousands of Germans perished miserably, camps such as Totzkoi, where no less than 17,000 died?

"It is known in Europe that in several prison camps frozen bodies were piled upon another in front of the camps.

Envoy Slain Under Police Eyes.

"Why does Reuter's mention the Lusitania case while it does not mention the pogroms at Johannesburg, London and Moscow, the Baralong and King Stephen cases, the case of Felice Pfadt, the shooting of innocent German merchants in Morocco, the assassination of an official of the German embassy in Petrograd, Kettner, under the eyes of and with the assent of the Russian police?

"Does not the British press discuss the British proposals of 1887 about Belgium?

"Do they avoid the confession that the British government knows two interpretations of international law, according to whether it is of advantage to one or the other of her interests?

"Why did the British government prohibit the publication of reports from the Belgian ministers about the encircling policy of England?

"Is it ashamed of its own actions?"

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for January 21

FIRST DISCIPLE OF THE LORD JESUS.

LESSON TEXT—John 1:35-49.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus saith unto him, follow me.—John 1:43.

The words "I see" or "behold" occur fifteen times in this first chapter. John was a witness to the Son of Man. This term, "Son of Man," occurs eighty times in the gospel. The words "Come and see," or their equivalents, occur nine times in this lesson. This is a great invitation lesson. It would be interesting if the scholars would tell what the voices are which say, "Come," and those which are urging them to "stay" away from God. Bethabara was probably two miles from the fords of the Jordan, where John baptized. Jesus was thirty years old, just entering upon his ministry. Tiberius Caesar was the emperor and Pontius Pilate the governor of Judea.

I. The Son of Man Attracts Men. (vv. 35-39), not by his ethical teachings nor alone by his works and his character, but what he was and inspired in others attracted men to Jesus (John 10:41). Crowds still gathered around the baptizer who "changed the hearts of men as by a spell." John, the Baptizer, brought terror to men. He broke through the crust of self-righteousness and indifference, and compelled men to see their need of forgiveness and of a new life, but the time had come when John must step aside, and Jesus "to increase," to begin his ministry. Four successive days are noticed in this chapter. Andrew (v. 40), and doubtless the apostle John, who wrote this account, were the two disciples (v. 35) to whom John, the Baptizer, speaks. It is interesting to note the different kinds of men who were attracted to Jesus; the aggressive Peter, the reflective Thomas, the practical Judas. He had what the souls of men needed, and they followed him. Aware of their questioning, Jesus turns to them with the question: "What think ye?" the first recorded words of his public ministry. This is a great testing question of every man's life. What is the aim and purpose of your life? Jesus, the kingdom of God, goodness, righteousness, usefulness or on the other hand selfishness, worldliness, success, ambition, money, pleasure? These disciples who had listened to this testimony of the baptizer, replied that they wanted to know where he dwelt, implying that they would like to talk with him and discuss the problems which were arising in their minds. Three steps of Christian experience are here suggested. These two disciples heard, they looked and they followed. Other steps must come shortly, but we must first look at Jesus as the Lamb, if we are to follow him as our example. We must believe what he has done (Rom. 3:25) before we can ask what would Jesus do or try to imitate him. It is by following that we demonstrate that we have really looked unto him and been saved.

II. The Son of Man Cares for His Own. (vv. 39-42). The instruction which they received from abiding with him impelled them, as we have already indicated, to go out and spread the good news. The greatest act in the life of Andrew was the bringing of his brother Peter to Jesus. Jesus changed Peter's name, and gave him a prophecy of his future life and career. He saw the possibilities within him, though it took much instruction, bitter experiences, prayer and long abiding with Jesus before he attained to those possibilities. It is this passage which gave rise to the organization of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which has adopted, first, the "Rule of Prayer," that of daily prayer for the spread of Christ's kingdom among young men; second, "The Rule of Service," to make an earnest effort each week to bring at least one young man within the hearing of the gospel of Jesus Christ. On the morrow Jesus would go forth to Galilee, that is to the East side, across the Jordan river, and on the way he found Philip. It was Philip who asked the question, "Show us the Father," and of whom the question was asked as to the resources sufficient to feed the hungering multitude (John 6:5). John, the Evangelist, alone tells us about Philip. Philip saw not only the resources of Jesus, but he saw a union of the law of the prophets (v. 45) in this Jesus, and therefore could and did invite his brother to Jesus.

Nathaniel (v. 46) repeated a proverb of the country, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" Philip's reply was: "Come and see," and to his amazement Jesus reveals not only his character but his supernatural power; whereupon Nathaniel's reply was: "Thou art the Son of God, the King of Israel" (v. 49). Jesus, seeing his faith, promised that he should see still greater things (vv. 50, 51).

Everybody in this lesson who found Jesus seemed to go at once for someone else, and though some were sceptical, yet their scepticism ended, even as Nathaniel's, in following him.

BELGIAN KING NOW SHOWING CLEMENCY

Former Iron Discipline is Now Relaxed on Military Prisoners.

The Hague, Netherlands, Dec. 30.—Correspondence of The Associated Press)—King Albert, as commander-in-chief of the Belgian army, has recently exercised clemency towards 150 military prisoners incarcerated at Fresnes. After the experiences of his army at Liege, Namur and Antwerp, the king was obliged to introduce an iron discipline in order to maintain a high morale among the troops. The slightest offense was punished with the greatest severity. Men who in ordinary circumstances would have received a light penalty, during the days of the battle of the Yser were condemned to five or six years' penal servitude. Today, with the army again strongly organized and permeated with a high spirit, clemency can be exercised without danger, and groups of the condemned are set at liberty from time to time.

The latest batch of released men exchanged their prison garb for a new uniform at Le Mans. They received their new equipment with a cry of "Long live the King!" and subsequently were sent direct to the front.

HAPPY OLD AGE.

When old age carries with it hosts of friends, good health and an abundance of this world's goods, it should be as happy as any period of our existence. That is old age as it should be, but too often it means poor digestion, torpid bowels, a sluggish liver and a general feeling of ill health, despondency and misery. This condition can be greatly alleviated, however, by taking one of Chamberlain's Tablets each day immediately after supper. That will strengthen the digestion, tone up the liver and regulate the bowels, then that feeling of despondency will give way to one of hope and good cheer. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

NEGROES SAY LABOR MEN FOOLED THEM

Brought to Elkhart from the South With Many Promises.

Elkhart, Ind., Jan. 18.—One hundred negroes from Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi are now being employed with the construction gangs of the New York Central railroad working out of this city. The men are hired, it is claimed, because it is impossible to secure the necessary unskilled white labor.

Some of these negroes came to this city as early as last summer. Many of them have broken into the local police court on several occasions. About six weeks ago a party of them appeared before the local police magistrate and claimed that they had been brought to this city by promises which had never been fulfilled.

The laborers assert that they were induced to come north by promises made to them by labor contractors, and that upon arriving, these promises were never kept. The railroad officials are not to blame for the trouble. These officials contracted for so many negroes at a certain figure, it is claimed, and made no promises, other than those of employment.

The negroes claim that the man who hired them promised to give them free transportation to allow their wives to join them here. In case they became dissatisfied they were to be given free transportation back to their homes.

The men are being quartered at the hump and at the old roundhouse. Many of them are dissatisfied and are anxious to join their wives back in the sunny southland.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head, soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.—Advertisement.

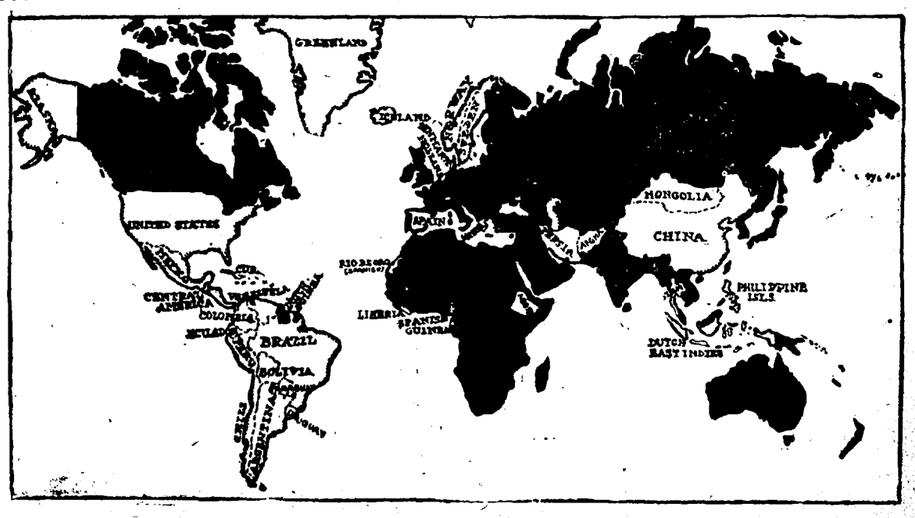
WHEN YOU SPEAK OF THE WORLD WAR" YOU MEAN PRECISELY WHAT YOU SAY.



Three-fifths of the world's population are subjects of states now engaged in the great war!

The black territory in the map above shows the nations involved in fighting, with their colonies, which in most cases have sent soldiers to the front. Aside from the republics of the western hemisphere, the only nations not in the combat are seven in Europe: Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Spain, Switzerland and Greece; Abrasinia and Liberia, in Africa, where also there are Spanish colonies; Persia, Afghanistan, Siam, and the Chinese empire.

The war involves all the islands of the Pacific except the American and Dutch possessions.

ECONOMY EVERYWHERE.

London, Jan. 19.—As a result of the War Savings committee appeal for less extravagance, weddings conducted in Belgravia's most fashionable church have been shorn of their most expensive trimmings. Church decorations and orders for bouquets have been reduced about ninety per cent. and the flowers which used to be sent now go to the hospitals. Bridesmaids have almost been dispensed with and the bride usually carries a prayer book instead of an expensive bouquet, while her dress is simplicity itself.

The verger at the famous St. Georges church, Hanover Square, says that while the wedding awning used to go up many times a month, it has only been used twice since last August. There is scarcely ever a choral service now and the bride and groom more often drive direct to the railway station than to a reception.

COAL PRODUCTION RECORDS SMASHED

Washington, Jan. 19.—The production and consumption of coal in the United States in 1916 exceeded all past records. The quantity of bituminous coal mined last year is estimated by C. E. Lesher, of the United States geological survey, department of the interior, as slightly more than 509,000,000 net tons, an increase, compared with 1915, of more than 66,500,000 tons or 15 per cent., and greater by 31,000,000 tons than the record of 1913.

Data furnished by the anthracite bureau of information indicate that the production of Pennsylvania anthracite was 88,312,000 net tons, about 600,000 tons less than in 1915. The total output of coal in the United States is thus estimated at 597,500,000 net tons and the official figures when compiled may shoow 600,000,000 tons, compared with 570,000,000 tons in 1913.

The estimate, which is to be followed shortly by a more detailed statement, shows that the increase was general, only three states, Maryland, Oklahoma and Texas, having had a smaller production than in 1915.

Ohio Heads Increases.

The largest increase was in Ohio, whose production in 1916 is estimated at 37,000,000 tons, compared with 22,435,000 tons in 1915, a gain of 65 per cent. Colorado, New Mexico, Virginia and Washington show increases of more than 20 per cent., and Kentucky, Montana, North Dakota, Tennessee, West Virginia and Wyoming oof 14 to 18 per cent. In Pennsylvania the increase was about 17,000,000 tons or 11 per cent.

The consumption of coal by the railroads in 1916 is estimated to have been 17,500,000 tons greater than in 1915, the use of coal in the manufacture of coke was greater by 20,500,000 tons, export increased about 7,000,000 net tons, the coal miners used 500,000 tons more for steam and heat, and the increase in consumption, mainly by the manufacturing industries, was 21,000,000 tons.

The increased consumption of bituminous coal by the railroads and industrial interests of the country during the year brought about a condition in which the demand for coal was greater than the ability of the railroads to deliver it, and in some localities greater than the ability of the mines to produce it, because of scarcity of labor. There is no lack of coal in the ground, or of mines from which it can be obtained. The soft coal mines, however, are not equipped to store coal that has been mined, and the coal must be loaded into railroad cars as soon as it is dug—in fact, the miners as a general rule do not go into a mine unless the cars are on hand to take the day's output.

Coal Sold on Contract.

The greatest part of the bituminous coal produced in 1916 was sold on contracts at prices (agreed upon during the early part of the year) that represented increases little if any more than the increases in wages granted the miners. The high prices at which the small quantity of coal not contracted for was sold during the last three months of the year were the result of excess of demand over supply. The buyers bid the price up, and as happens in the marketing of any article or commodity under like conditions, there was doubtless some speculative holding and trading that tended to raise prices. This factor and the inclination of the middleman and retailer to exact extra profits are not believed to have been any greater as regards coal than as regards other necessities whose prices have risen during the last few months.

BRYAN LIFTS VOICE TO MAKE STATE DRY

NINE LANDED BY JAP SHIP

Belief Grows That Moewe Has Other Raiders in Drive on Commerce.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Nine Americans were among the crew of the British ship, St. Theodore, taken by the German raider and landed with other survivors at Pernambuco, on the Japanese ship Hudson Maru. Consul Stewart today reported they were all safe and that so far as reported no other Americans were on the other ships.

The state department today made public the following telegram from the consul and received this morning "Hudson Maru brought 237 St. Theodore crew. List shows American Ben Stevens, Royal Gregory, Frank Magee, David Johnson, E. Judy, all colored, and Fred Smith, Harry Picot, Guy Vondoren. Minieh shows Charles Jones. No American on other vessels named. All nine safe here.

Fate of 440 in Doubt.

"Survivors state that Yarrowdale, Georgic, Mount Temple, Voltaire, Snowden Range, King George, one English schooner and one Norwegian were captured to Dec. 12, when prize crew and 440 were placed on Yarrowdale and not heard from since."

Another dispatch from Mr. Stewart, dated Jan. 16 and received here Jan. 17, says: "Crews of St. Theodore, Dramatist, Radnorshire, Minieh, Netherbyhall, Nantes and Asnieres arrived today. Several Americans. Reported no lives lost."

The department also received a cable from Consul General Gottschalk at Rio, containing substantially the same facts as was contained in the report from Consul Stewart with the exception that Gottschalk places the date of the capture of the St. Theodore as January 7 and the sinking of the Minieh as January 9.

Eleven Fighting Craft in Search for Daring German Raider.

New York, Jan. 19.—Notwithstanding the activity of British warships, eleven of which are hurrying from many directions into south Atlantic waters in search of the German commerce destroyer which sank the Voltaire, Georgic and other entente vessels, increased apprehension was felt in marine circles today owing to undenied credence which the shipping world in general has placed on overnight reports that the black raider,

ABANDON HOPE FOR MISSING AVIATORS

Military Authorities Fear Two Army Airmen Have Perished.

Calixeco, Cal., Jan. 19.—Military authorities practically convinced of the death of Lieutenant E G. Bishop and Lieutenant W. A. Robertson, jr., who have not been heard from since attempting an airplane flight from San Diego January 10, were nevertheless determined today to prosecute the search until all doubt of their movements since that date, had been removed. Three army airplanes are to ascend today to visit the locality in the desert of northern Sonora, Mexico, where rumors said, Papago Indians reported yesterday they had seen the bodies of two white men clad only in underclothing at a water hole. Whether the unarmed aviators perished of thirst or exposure, was not indicated by the reports.

SAY WHIPPLE WILL ACCEPT

Boston Lawyer is Expected to Appear as "Leak" Attorney.

RESENTS MESSAGE FROM UNTERMYER

Washington, Jan. 19.—Members of the house rules investigating committee, investigating the leak on President Wilson's note, apparently were confident today that Sherman L. Whipple, noted Boston lawyer, would accept the committee's invitation to act as its counsel in the inquiry. He will come to Washington tomorrow to confer with the committee and definite announcement of his acceptance is expected to follow.

Mr. Whipple was agreed upon by the committee last night, after a long and bitter contest over the selection of counsel Samuel Untermyer, a New York lawyer, had been strongly urged for the place, but on objection by some democrats, as well as all the republicans, his name was dropped.

The committee will hold no further public hearings until Monday, when a score or more of witnesses will be on hand ready to testify. Meantime, the committee will confer with counsel to perfect plans for continuing the leak investigation.

Resent Untermyer Telegram.

A telegram from Untermyer protesting against the use of his name as though he "had been seeking a job" read to the house by Representative Fitzgerald, precipitated a new discussion of the leak inquiry. The telegram declared Untermyer did not want the place and could only have accepted it at a great sacrifice. Representative Miller, Minnesota, objected to the tone of the message, which he said reflected upon the house.

"I think he is not justified," said Mr. Miller, "in sending a message that is an insult to congress. I do not think his message is either parliamentary or decent."

Mr. Fitzgerald said he objected to the "throwing of bricks" at private citizens who have rendered public service.

Representative Moore, republican, Pennsylvania, ended the discussion by saying: "Mr. Untermyer was retained to investigate the money trust; he was the people's representative for that inquiry, but I know that he represented great corporations. When Lawson suggested Untermyer I questioned his right to serve. He is the last person to be considered in connection with counsel for this investigation."

CALLS NEW BALFOUR NOTE FALSIFICATION

Amsterdam, Jan. 19.—The Cologne Gazette, commenting on the note of Arthur Balfour, British secretary of foreign affairs, says "The note is a falsification of history apparently aimed to wipe out the bad impression made in large circles of Americans and neutrals by the entente's rude reply to President Wilson. Naturally Balfour suppresses the fact that England possesses a world empire which certainly was not brought together by peaceful means. He suppresses the fact that a ring was drawn around Germany which was designed to exclude us as far as possible from the distribution of colonial territory to be disposed of. He invents for this purpose a story of Germany's lust for world empire without giving the least proof of his charges.

"We now know exactly the aims of the entente and our answer will be by deeds. We do not want peace such as they offer, not even by neutral mediation. We ourselves will secure such a peace. Our sword will prove stronger than their lies."

The Cologne Volks Zeitung says: "Our reply to English arrogance, distortion and menaces must be the sword and torpedo."

INDIANA GUARDSMEN ARE MUSTERED OUT

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—The five units of the Indiana national guard which recently arrived at Fort Benjamin Harrison, after service on the Mexican border, were mustered out of the federal service this morning and were to leave the fort for their homes this afternoon. All the guardsmen will leave the fort, only the army post detachment of the regular army remaining. The units mustered out are: Battery C of Lafayette, sanitary detachment of Martinsville and Battery A, headquarters company and supply company of Indianapolis. The troops were not expected to get away from the fort before 2:30 o'clock.

RUSSIANS HAVE TAKEN OVER 428,000 IN YEAR

London, Jan. 19.—More than 428,000 officers and men were taken prisoner by the Russians during the past year, and 525 guns captured, according to the Russian service organ, as quoted in a Central News dispatch from Petrograd today. The journal closes its review of the war operations during the year with the following approximate figures of men and booty taken: Officers, 8,770; men, 420,000, guns, 525; machine guns, 1,661, trench mortars and mine throwers, 421. More than eight per cent of the foregoing was yielded by the operations of Gen. Brussiloff.

INDIANAPOLIS MEN ARE HONOR GUESTS

Indiana Engineering Society Hears Many Speakers at Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 19.—One hundred members of the Indianapolis branches of the National Societies of Electrical Engineers and Mechanical Engineers were guests of honor at today's sessions of the Indiana Engineering society convention here. A joint meeting was held this afternoon. Peter Junkersfeld, of Chicago, and Harrington Emerson, of New York, were the speakers, dealing with technical subjects. Prof. C. Francis Harding, of Purdue, spoke on "Public Utility Regulation," and said it should be given a thorough trial before being condemned. Harry O. Garman, reviewed the work of the Indiana public service commission during 1916. Tonight the convention banquet will be served.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Neither Berlin nor Petrograd today reports any notable change as the result of the fighting in Rumania. The Germans, according to their report, repulsed attacks north of the Suchitza valley, on the Moldavian frontier. German long range guns, the Russian statement announces, are bombarding Ocna, an important town on the lateral railway behind the Russian front in southwestern Moldavia, doubtless with the object of interfering with Russian transportation on this line. In eastern Galicia the Germans took the offensive in the sector near Zborow, east of Lemberg, but according to Petrograd, were repulsed after they had succeeded in penetrating the Russian lines at one point.

Elsewhere in the field of military operations there have been few activities of importance. This holds true of the Franco-Belgian front, where the quiet has been broken recently only by the British activities north of the Somme, which have resulted in advances for them recently near Beaucourt-sur-Ancrex. Indications are not lacking, however, that the present comparatively pacific conditions are not likely to endure long, and in this connection the extreme southern sector of the line is being closely watched. A belief is said to exist in Switzerland that the Germans contemplate an offensive with the object of freeing Alsace of the invaders.

The Swiss federal council early this week, while expressing confidence that none of the powers contemplated a violation of Swiss neutrality, ordered the mobilization of additional troops as a measure of precaution. Both Germany and France assured Switzerland that they would continue to respect her neutrality.

No further news of the whereabouts of the German sea raider, which has been sinking entente shipping in the south Atlantic, has been received, but the arrival at Cape Verde Islands of the British steamer Yarrowdale with the crews of eight ships disposed of by the raider, said to number some 400 persons, is reported in unofficial advices received at Rio de Janeiro.

SUBSTITUTE PLAN SUBMITTED BY LEE

Trainmen's Head Offers New Rail Legislation Program.

Washington, Jan. 19.—W. G. Lee, head of the Trainmen's Brotherhood, today presented a substitute plan for President Wilson's railway labor legislation to the house commerce committee. A board of eight, equally divided between railway workers and operating officials, appointed by the president, would solve all the present difficulties over working conditions he said, would command unqualified support of the four brotherhoods and despite the fact that it would be evenly divided he predicted there would be no deadlocks.

Lee appeared primarily to oppose the Adamson bill to compel 90 days of a strike or lockout. "Let the president create so as to take it out of politics," said Lee. "A board of eight members for handling this work, four practical railroad workers such as conductors, brakemen, trainmen or engineers, and four practical operating officers.

"There would be few deadlocks on such board, despite the fact that it was evenly divided. Men who know their subject as these men should, would seldom be without a majority. Under such a plan both sides would get justice and there would be no necessity for the Adamson bill now before you or any other legislation relating to hours or wages."

Okmulgee, Okla., Jan. 19.—A posse of ten men which left here early today in search for alleged bank robbers, returned about noon with the bodies of Oscar Poe, Will Hart and Harry Hart.

The men killed were engaged in a skirmish with the posse about 18 miles southwest of this city.

BARS COAL SHIPMENT UNTIL BLOCKADE ENDS

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 19.—Orders were issued yesterday by M. S. Conners, general manager of the Hocking Valley, that no cars of that company should be loaded with coal for shipment to points requiring transfer at Toledo to the Pierre Marquette, Michigan Central, Lake Shore line or the Ann Arbor, until the present congestion on those four lines is relieved. The Hocking Valley has 1,200 cars of coal in the Columbus yards and 1,400 cars in Toledo the bulk of which is for delivery to the four connecting lines.

The order does not affect coal destined for public institutions or public utilities. General Manager Conners said he expected conditions to ease up within a few days when the order will be modified.

WILSON ASKS MORE STEAM

FEARS TO RELY ON NEXT HOUSE

Washington, Jan. 19.—In an effort to clear the legislative calendar of administration measures before the next house with questionable political status comes into power, President Wilson conferred at the capital today with the senate steering committee.

For two hours he went over the program he outlined in his opening address to congress last December, laying particular stress upon the railroad labor measures, he said, that he still desired enactment of the whole program before March 5 if possible.

What Wilson Wants.

In addition to revenue legislation the president also urged action on a corrupt practices bill, the Webb bill to permit domestic corporations to maintain collective foreign selling agencies;

OVER 1,000 AMERICANS ASK HELP TO GET AWAY

Number Seeking to Flee Syria and Palestine Now Trebled.

Washington, Jan. 19.—More than 1,000 Americans have petitioned Ambassador Elkus, at Constantinople, to get them out of Syria and Palestine. The ambassador cabled the state department today that the original estimate of 300 has more than trebled since the Turkish military authorities acceded to strong representations by the state department that American citizens be allowed to leave.

From Jaffa and Jerusalem alone an increase of over 500 American refugees has been noted, while the remainder come from scattered localities.

TAKES WALLOP AT INDIANA BREWER

Bill for New Constitution Advanced by House to Engrossment.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—William J. Bryan spoke two hours upon current issues in the senate chamber of the Indiana general assembly this morning. He emphasized woman suffrage and prohibition in particular. The galleries were packed as were the corridors. Mr. Bryan was escorted to the rostrum by a special committee of the senate and Governor Jas. P. Goodrich, who shared the platform with Lieut. Gov. Bush during the address.

Mr. Bryan remarked in the beginning that "It is a pretty good thing sometimes to be forced to show respect for an opponent," in reference to the evenly divided membership of the senate. "It is never safe to be too harsh with anyone who differs with you, for you never can tell when you will need him and you never can tell when he might change his mind," he added. "New questions are arising constantly," said Mr. Bryan, "that do not divide us on party lines."

"I am not so presumptuous as to come from the outside and attempt to discuss with you questions that are purely local.

A Word for Economy.

"Economy is a subject that is sure to be talked about during the campaign and very likely to be forgotten afterward. I think you are very fortunate, in this state, in having a governor who is willing to join with those out of power to reduce the number of those in power."

Mr. Bryan then discussed the housing question, in which he advocated steps to make all public buildings fire proof and urged a strict supervision of

ARMED MOB OF 150 STORMS COUNTY JAIL

Clay, W. Va., Jan. 19.—A mob of more than 150 armed men appeared at the Clay county jail here early today and demanded Andrew and Howard Sampson, who were confined there charged with murdering Preston Tanner and burning his home. The turnkey, who had the keys, could not be found and the mob fired into the jail but no one was wounded.

On the promise of the lawyers that a special term of court would be called and the prisoners given a speedy trial the mob dispersed.

ORPHAN SAYS HUNGER DROVE HIM TO MURDER

Cleveland, O., Jan. 19.—Starving pangs of hunger drove Lawrence Southall, 14, a Chicago orphan, to murder Charles H. James, 40, Baltimore & Ohio railroad car inspector, who had befriended him here late last night, the boy confessed today, say the police.

The lad had been ordered out of town. He took refuge in the railroad yards. Nearly frozen, he was taken into the Inspector's shanty by James to warm himself. He says he attacked James to get money for something to eat. James' body was found by fellow workmen.

Gov. Goodrich Hears Arguments in Lee Case

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—Arguments before Gov. Goodrich on the charges filed against Edwin M. Lee, former progressive state chairman, asking his removal as a member of the Indiana public service commission, were to be heard this afternoon. The final evidence was submitted late yesterday.

The testimony at yesterday's hearing was to the effect that two men employed in the advertising departments of local newspapers were directed by D. R. Mellett, publicity agent for the progressives, to call at the office of Democratic State Chairman Korbly to get copy for a half page advertisement during the last campaign.

The direction, it was alleged, was given in Lee's presence. One of the charges against Lee is that he is a democrat. Lee testified he had voted a straight progressive ticket. Evidence in the form of letters and telegrams he signed, answering requests that he support some of the national democratic candidates were introduced in his behalf. Lee refused to do as requested

Germany Has Withdrawn Charge Against Vopicka

Washington, Jan. 19.—Germany has withdrawn charges of unneutral conduct against Minister Vopicka, accredited to Rumania, Serbia and Bulgaria, it was announced today at the state department. An explanation of the full facts in the charge of unneutral conduct was made to Germany which proved satisfactory. It is probable that Minister Vopicka, now in Berlin, will be granted leave of absence, which he requested many months ago and to which he is entitled, in order to avoid embarrassment in sending him on to his post at the Rumanian capital at Jassy, just after gaining considerable military information in his trip through the central empires.

The removal of Minister Vopicka from Bucharest was explained by Germany to have had nothing to do with the previous charges of unneutral conduct, but to have been occasioned by the insistence of the military authorities that all neutral diplomats be withdrawn. This is in accord with international law and the diplomat is accredited to the government and not to the locality. All other neutrals have left except the Persian minister who is to go shortly.

Who will care for American interests in the occupied part of Rumania and for the allied legations and interests entrusted to Minister Vopicka on the withdrawal of the allied diplomats has not been decided. There is no American consul resident nearby and it is probable that a special agent with consular rank will be dispatched shortly by the department

Who shot Joseph Parrant?

Police, who have been working day and night since the murder, feel that they are little nearer solution of the crime mystery than they were when Parrant, the grocery clerk, crashed to the floor in the little Maumee avenue store, with a bullet through his head, while his slayer fled through the front door into the sheltering blackness Monday night.

George Geerken, delliveryman for the Cattez grocery and who was in the room when Parrant was shot, has told but one story since he dashed, wild-eyed, into the saloon next door and gasped out, "Parrant is shot."

Geerken only knows that a tall man in a long black overcoat and wearing a stocking cap fired the fatal shot.

Julius Wrasse, of Mishawaka, who was brought to Fort Wayne from Kendallville Wednesday as a suspect, is still being held in the city jail. He will be sharply questioned again on Friday afternoon. Police believe that Wrasse may be able to prove an alibi for himself, as Wrasse says he was in Elkhart on the night of the murder.

There are other suspects. While all clues which police have followed so far have led to nothing, yet Chief Lenz says he feels that some more definite action may come before the week-end.

Referring to the primary election law, which was pending, he said, during a previous visit, Mr. Bryan indorsed the second choice idea and expressed the hope that the legislature would not "take a step backward" by repealing this provision.

Constitutional Convention.

In advocating a constitutional convention Mr. Bryan, when corrected in the assertion that this promise was a part of the platforms of both political parties and informed that it was a part of the recommendations of both the retiring and incoming governors, said, "Well, that's even better. For I have known platforms to be ignored after election. But when a democratic and republican governor can get together on anything it ought to make it certain."

"You will find very few states that have a constitution as old as yours," he said. "You need a new constitution in this state more than most states, because your constitution hampers you in attempting to change the constitution."

Attacks Compulsory Training.

Mr. Bryan attacked compulsory military training, saying, "You cannot have compulsory training unless you cultivate a military spirit that is a menace to your country."

The speaker declared the railroads of the country are trying to secure "less regulation" by having supervision of their affairs transferred from the states to the nation and he argued against such a change. He advocated an official newspaper for the nation and state, to be bi-partisan in character and carrying official news and editorials from both "sides."

Introducing his plea of suffrage Mr. Bryan said, "There is one advantage in talking on this subject, that is you know you are on the side that is going to win. And that is a consolation I have not always had."

Raps Indiana Brewer.

Mr. Bryan charged that "a man connected with a brewery in Indiana was one of a committee of four who brought in a minority report against suffrage" at the democratic national convention in St. Louis and he asked that this man be rebuked as his colleagues have been. Mr. Bryan added: "I believe this country needs the votes of the women more than the women need the ballot. I am anxious that the women shall be invited to help us in that titantic struggle which shall not end until this nation is saloonless forevermore."

Mr. Bryan advocated a law prohibiting newspapers from carrying liquor advertisements and added: "I want Indiana to join with Nebraska and the other states to throw her influence on the side that is high and holy."

Passed to Engrossment.

The bill providing for a constitutional convention was passed in the house to engrossment this afternoon, after an amendment, offered by Representative McGonagle, republican, and seconded by democratic floor leader, Cravens, had been adopted.

The amendment provides that the representation in the convention shall be based on the legislative instead of the senatorial districts but does not change the number of delegates to the convention.

After being in session only a few minutes, during which the committee on judiciary A reported for passage the bill to place a tax of 50 cents on all mortgages of $100 value, the lower branch of the legislature this morning recessed for one hour to permit the members to hear William Jennings Bryan, who addressed the senate on invitation of the members of the upper house. The house by a vote of 54 to 33 earlier in the week declined to invite Mr. Bryan to address a joint session of the legislature.

New Primary Bill Coming.

Representative Mason, of Milton, announced today that he would introduce a new primary election bill in the lower house next Monday, to replace the primary bills killed in committee yesterday. The bill will provide for the holding of primaries in May, but will not be effective until 1918, whereas the bills killed changed the primary dates this year. The Mason bill, according to the author, would provide for holding the registration of voters on the same day as the primary. By this feature, he asserts there will be a larger vote cast in the primaries and the choice will represent more nearly the will of the people.

Kills Off Primary Change.

Two bills changing city primary election dates in Indiana from March to May, August or September were indefinitely postponed by the House committee on elections yesterday after a public hearing in which there was a practically unanimous expression of opinion that the March date should be permitted to stand this year. Under the present law all primaries will be held March 6.

The bill chiefly under consideration was that written by Senator Kinder, of Gary, changing the Indianapolis primary date to the first Tuesday after the third Monday in May, and election dates in other cities to the first Tuesday after the third Monday in August. House bill No. 49, by Representative Aildred, of Anderson, proposed a change of all elections to the first Tuesday after the first Monday in September.

Spokesmen for second class cities urged that they be included in the provision applying to Indianapolis. Speakers from Indianapolis preferred the March date, because the primary campaign is far advanced, and a change of date would result in confusion and unnecessary additional expenses.

POSTAL CENSORSHIP ON DEPORTED WORKERS

Belgian Government Gives Out News of German Regulations.

New York, Jan. 19.—A postal censorship affecting deported Belgian workers was established by the Germans, according to a cablegram received from the Belgian government in Havre, France, by Pierre Mali, the Belgian consul here. A translation of the message was made public today by Mr. Mali. It reads:

"Official German record of the military zone in Belgium under date of December 15, publishes a set of regulations for the postal service of the deported workers, prohibiting their mentioning to their families their places of work, thus seeming to indicate that they are working for the German army.

"A new batch of deported working people from Ghent were returned to Ghent, sick and several dying. They relate unheard of suffering on the German front in France and considerable mortality owing to exhaustion from forced labor."

believed to be the famous Moewe, is not operating unassisted.

According to these reports this fugitive raider carried several sets of armament and has furnished guns to at least two of her captive ships, the St. Theodore and the Yarrowdale which in turn became preying rovers.

The Yarrowdale, British, is reported to have arrived at the Cape Verde islands with the crews of eight of the ships which were sunk. Her early departure on a raiding mission would cause no surprise among shippers.

Reports as yet unconfirmed place the present whereabouts of the Moewe a considerable distance north of the Ireland-to-Brazil sea lanes, where her havoc was accomplished. Meanwhile the entent war vessels are keeping close watch on several merchant vessels suspected of supplying the Moewe and her allies with food and of assisting them in other ways.

As a precaution against an illegal use of Brazilian territory as a base of operations for the German ships a portion of the Brazilian navy is maneuvering off that country.

Although there was no suggestion of an extra session in case the president's program cannot be completed by March 4, Senator Kern declard that the thought in the minds of all was that it would be much less difficult to enact the measures to which the democratic party has been committed at this session than in the next congress.

Newlands Divulged It.

Senator Newlands acknowledged to the senate today that it was he who furnished to Interstate Commerce Commissioner Daniels, while it was yet held confidential, the executive session speech of Senator Cummins, attacking the commissioner's confirmation. Opponents of Commissioner Daniels contend that by having possession of the speech, he was enabled to prepare a reply.

After the statement of Senator Newlands, the senate went into executive session to consider the resolution of Senator Norris to investigate the disclosure of the speech.

DOCTOR TO EXPLAIN JUST WHAT HE MEANS

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 19.—Dr. Safford, autopsy surgeon, who examined the bodies of those killed by a bomb explosion during a preparedness parade last July as the result of which Thomas J. Mooney is on trial here, on a charge of murder, is to take the witness stand today and explain to the court just what he means when he said yesterday that in his opinion the bomb had not exploded from the sidewalk because of the wounds in the heads of several of the victims.

The state contends that the bomb was placed on the sidewalk by Mooney and Warren K. Billings, now serving a term in prison. Dr. Stafford was being cross examined by Attorney W. Bourke Cockran when he made the damission which the defense said it considered a break in the chain of state's evidence. Dr. Stafford requested that he be allowed to qualify his opinion.

A half dozen physicians were expected to testify today regarding the death of the ten men and women while two score relatives of the dead will be summoned to the stand.

Must Find Substitute for Saloon Says Former Barkeep, Now Preacher

Man Who Devotes Life to Reclaiming Souls Says Normal Man is Social and Place Must Be Provided Where He Can Be Sociable.

(By HONOR FANNING.)

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 19.—"Big Bill" Saunders, former barkeep at a hotel in Smithton, Pa., is today Rev. William McClellan Saunders, an ordained minister, preaching temperance at the Avondale Presbyterian church, Chicago.

"I'll give the saloon ten years," says the Rev. Saunders. "We will vote them out before 1927.

"We can't close the saloon until we find a substitute for it. The normal man is a social man. Civic, church or social organizations must provide places where men may meet for sociability.

"Worry, loneliness, over-work or no work and sometimes pure devilment are some reasons men go to saloons. Let us give the decent fellows better working conditions and starve out the saloon."

"Just plain decency made me quit the saloon.

"When the light came, I saw myself standing behind the bar warping, maybe killing men's souls. They couldn't hit back at me. My whisky had taken away their only weapon of defense—self-respect and will power.

"Money was rolling in. I was living high.

"But one day a lad was killed on the railroad tracks near my saloon. A bottle with my saloon label was found in his pocket. That made me feel queer.

"A man went out of my saloon drunk and later he committed murder. Then I began to ask myself, 'Am I my brother's keeper?' The jingle of whisky money jarred me after that; the sight of a drunken man made my conscience sting.

"It was while playing cards, strangely enough, that God called me. The card game turned into a Bible class. I saw myself as the wives of drunkards and the children of drunkards saw me—a wrecker of men, a destroyer of homes."

"I sold my saloon. With my family I was reconsecreated in the church—we had all been church members once.

"I was 48, but decided to consecrate the remainder of my life to reclaiming men's souls.

"I entered the Moody Bible institute in Chicago and later I studied at the McCormick Theological seminary for three years. Last April I was ordained and took charge of this parish."

LYRIC THEATRE BLDG.

GLASSES, INCLUDING EXAMINATION, $1.50 UP.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in Fort Wayne by Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. and other druggists.

PLANS IMPROVEMENT OF ELECTION LAWS

Washington, Jan. 19.—One of the most important bills pending in congress was introduced this week by Representative Warren Worth Bailey of Pennsylvania—a bill to permit states to elect their representatives in congress by the proportional system of election. The idea of this system is that all voters, even if they happen to be minority voters, are entitled to representation, in proportion to their numbers. The present system enthrones the majority and entirely disfranchises the minority.

"Our system," said Mr. Bailey explaining his bill, "is supposed to be representative, but everyone knows that it is not truly so. What representation is there for a democrat in Vermont or for a republican in Texas? There are democrats in Vermont, as there are republicans in Texas, but they are as utterly denied representation in congress as if they did not exist. They indeed go through the forms of exercising their citizenship. They vote for candidates for congress. But for all the good their ballots do toward securing for them representation here they would as well stuff their ballot into rat holes or chuck them into the kitchen stove. The only real purpose a democrat serves in Vermont is to entitle the republican in that state to a larger representation in this house than they would otherwise get. But the democrats might just as well be dead in actuality as they are politically for all same is equally true as to republicans same is equally true as to republicans in Texas."

Mr. Bailey shows that the "political boss" and even the "pork barrel" are both by-products of the balance-of-power system now in vogue. Congressmen are nominated and elected by a compact body of controlled voters, who are swung between the parties, and it becomes essential to the representative's political life that he cater to the local influences which control this balance of power, even though in such catering it becomes necessary to get public buildings and river harbor graft.

Mr. Bailey pointed out that the beginning of the end of the progressive party began with the injustice of having only a handful of representatives in congress when the party had cast more votes than the republicans who, in congress outnumbered them about five to one. Under proportional representation the minority parties: Progressives, prohibitionists and socialists, would have representation in congress in proportion to the vote cast. The injustice of the present system is illustrated by the fact that the increase of the socialist vote from half a million in 1912 to a million in 1914 resulted in actually losing the only representative the party had in congress.

The proportionate representation system has just been adopted by the city of Calgary in the province of Alberta, Canada, for the election of members of the council.

It is obvious to those who have looked into the subject even casually that proportionate representation would do much to make our national legislature representative—a thing which it is not at present.

Why Rheumatism Comes With Cold Weather

(By Valentine Mott Pierce, M. D.)

A close connection exists between these two—cold weather and rheumatism. Prof. Alex Haig, of London, has the most followers in the medical profession in the belief that the presence in the system of uric acid, or its salts in excess, is the real cause of rheumatism. Every one has recognized the difference in the appearance of their water as soon as it gets cold; there is often a copious sediment of "brick-dust."

Several causes may lead up to an accumulation of uric acid in the system, which, in turn, cause rheumatism or gout, or creaky joints, swollen fingers, or painful joints. For one reason the skin does not throw off the uric acid, by profuse sweating, as in the hot weather, and the kidneys are unable to take care of the double burden. Another reason is that people do not drink as much water in cold weather as in summer, which helps to flush the kidneys. Again, they eat more meat in cold weather, and some people are so susceptible that they soon develop rheumatism after eating meat.

At all such times persons should drink copiously of hot water, say, a pint morning and night, and take Anuric (double strength) three or four times a day. This Anuric comes in tablet form and can be had at almost any drug store. It dissolves the uric acid in the system and carries it outward. I would advise everyone to take Anuric occasionally, and continue for three or four weeks, and in that way avoid rheumatism, gout and many of the painful disorders due to uric acid in the system.

Make yourself healthy and strong by open-air exercise and diet. Then cleanse the liver by occasionally stimulating its action with a pleasant laxative composed of the May-apple, dried juice of aloe, and root of jalap, sugar-coated and long sold by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.—Advertisement.

Hindenburg's Name Is on Every Lip!

Illustrating the wide homage paid in Germany to Field Marshal von Hindenburg, the Berlin Tageblatt publishes a poem which mentions (freely translated):

Hindenburg honey and Hindenburg money,
Hindenburg brandy and Hindenburg candy,
Hindenburg fats and Hindenburg mats,
Hindenburg ice and Hindenburg spice,
Hindenburg clocks and Hindenburg socks,
Hindenburg beer that gives us cheer,
Hindenburg pills that cure all ills,
Hindenburg rings and Hindenburg stings,
And a thousand other Hindenburg things.

Soldiers' Relatives Get Free Hospital Treatment.

The publicity office of the Berlin magistracy reports:

"The city hospital commission has decided to grant free medical and surgical treatment to the relatives of participants in the war. Furthermore, opportunity for free treatment in a city hospital, following preliminary clinical care, will be given participants in the war, their relatives and the poor."

Germany Has Its Car Shortage, Too.

The United States is not the only nation in which freight is held up because of a lack of freight cars.

The Cologne Volkszeitung, in an article on the sugar-beet crop, says:

"There are factories which were unable to deliver a single load of raw sugar in November, owing to lack of railway trucks."

Emperor's Death on Back Page—Suppression!

Vienna Arbeiter Zeitung prints official notice of the suspension for two months of the Bohemian socialist paper, Norboehmische Volksstimme, because:

"Despite last year's warning, in consequence of the issue of Aug. 18, 1915, containing no article on the imperial birthday festival, the Nordboehmische has recently been guilty again of disloyal conduct in relegating the announcement of the late emperor's death and his successor's proclamation to a back page, and in not exhorting its readers to subscribe to the fifth war loan."

Farmers to Give Unused Products to Needy.

The Bavarian Farmers' associations have united in a special request farmers to give away all their unused products to those who need them.

The East Prussian district of Darkehmen, in a telegram to the war maintenance office, declares it is ready to furnish 5,000 pounds or more of bacon during December and January to a communal society in west Germany or direct to munitions workers, at 2.30 marks (55 cents) a pound. (The regular price of bacon in Germany is about 70 cents.)

YEP; SEEK POTATO SUBSTITUTES NOW

Other Starchy Roots Are Fine, Say Government Experts.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—A number of starchy roots, tubers and corms of vegetables, including Jerusalem artichokes, cassavas, dasheens, yams, yautias, and taros, in addition to the well-known sweet potatoes, have food values and degrees of digestibility approximate equal to those of the Irish or white potato and, like the latter, merit extensive use as a part of mixed diets, according to specialists of the office of home economics of the United States department of agriculture.

Of these vegetables, the sweet potato is best known in this country and is most extensively consumed both in the fresh and canned forms. Cassava is grown extensively in Florida and may be prepared directly as food by cooking or may be made into flour from which bread and cakes are to be prepared. Tapioca, which is prepared from it, it widely used.

The Jerusalem artichoke, a member of the sunflower family, which grows throughout a large portion of the United States, may be obtained in many markets throughout the winter since it is not injured by frost and can be dug when wanted. It may be prepared in many ways and gives a wholesome variety to the diet.

A number of the tropical edible roots are known to Americans chiefly in the island possessions of the United States. The dasheen, however, can be grown easily in the warmer portions of continental United States and, because of its good shipping qualities, already has found its way into a number of markets. The department of agriculture has published recipes for its preparation in a variety of dishes in bureau of plant industry bulletin No. 164 and bureau of plant industry document 1110.

BAD ON BARGAIN HUNTERS.

London, Jan. 19.—Women bargain hunters who have been going over the offerings in the new year bargain sales find this year an average increase of thirty per cent, in woolens, silks and shoes, as compared with the bargain prices of a year ago. One of the big department stores has its counters decorated with notices informing shoppers that owing to the shortage of dress material, this month is probably the last time that it will be possible to offer any materials on the bargain counters.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

Acts 9:1-8.

1 And Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem.

3 And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven.

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

6 And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

7 And the men which journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice, but seeing no man.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1917.

Give It a Fair Trial.

The Indiana house committee on elections has decided to recommend the indefinite postponement of two bills designed to defer to a later date the primary election for the naming of candidates for city offices, and the nominations will now be made in March according to the provisions of the law as it now stands. The important thing in the action is that it removes the element of doubt injected by proposals to change the date to August or September, and candidates already announced or those who are preparing to get into the race may now get busy in the effort to do their respective causes as much good as possible during the few weeks intervening before the voters will render the primary verdict.

In all probability something very similar will happen to the bill by Representative Moore, of Allen county, to abolish the primary plan of nominations altogether and revert to the convention system of making nominations. We shall be much surprised if it does not develop that the legislative axe is not lying in wait for this as well as for the ludicrous proposal in another bill by the Allen county man to forbid a candidate for any office using newspaper advertising space to further his cause, to issue individual placards or other printed matter of similar character in the effort to convince the hesitating voter that he is the pick of the lot and ought to be elected.

Let us admit at once that in the light of experience to date in Indiana the primary system of making nominations is not a complete and glowing success. It has its defects. It is expensive and it is, to a considerable extent, a cumbersome and unwieldly affair, yet the single trial that has been made of it—in the general election last year—is scarcely sufficient to warrant the conclusion that it is unequivocally bad and should be wiped out forthwith. The idea behind the primary is to permit the fullest and freest expression of the will of the individual voter in the selection of nominees. Whether it succeeds or fails in this is not, after all, a question of the law itself but depends altogether on whether the rank and file of the voters make use of the opportunity and manifest enough interest in government to express their will at the primary. The percentage of those who did this last year can hardly be said to have been encouraging, yet it was a first attempt at the working of a law with which voters were generally unfamiliar. They may be glad of an opportunity to manifest a keener interest next time. The thing ought to be given a fair trial before it is condemned and cast out for return to the system, complaint against which brought the primary law about in the hope that it might bring relief.

Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, in a speech in New York sounds the tocsin of alarm by declaring that this country's biggest problem is what he calls "an unheeded and unhindered drift toward federal socialism." Still, it is much to be doubted if Senator Harding can get serious attention for any new perils, problems, menaces or dangers which he sees looming to assail the perpetuity of the nation. Just now we're quite too busy with the war, with the Mexican situation and with the high cost of living to be disturbed by the conjuring of added harassments. Enough is plenty of these as of other things.

A Richmond woman has just presented her home to Wayne county to be used as a hospital for tubercular patients, and the donation is a splendid manifestation of beneficence and humanitarian interest in the welfare of the unfortunate victims of the white plague. Yet the generosity of the Fort Wayne public, recently displayed in the purchase of the Christmas seals, was equally splendid. We cannot all do so large a thing as this fine-spirited Richmond woman has done, but we all have opportunity, if in a smaller way, to aid the good cause in which she has aided so largely.

And very shortly the Indiana legislature is going to give us a practical demonstration of whether or no it believes the 200,000 Indiana citizens who have signed petitions asking the passage of the state-wide prohibition bill are worth listening to, or whether it regards the expression of their convictions as more or less a joke.

A Rushville man has just brought suit to recover $3,200 which he alleges he lost playing poker with two of his cronies in that town. This is the kind of thing that invariably makes one wonder what sort of attitude the man would have taken in the matter had he won the $3,200 instead of losing it.

Carranza should be able to sympathize deeply with the war department over the fact that conflicting reports as to Villa's operations makes it quite impossible to know just what the bandit chieftain is doing. The constitutionalist first chief is in the same fix.

Five bills designed to remedy city court conditions in Indianapolis are ready for introduction in the legislature, which leaves one to infer that with the exceptions noted city court conditions in Indianapolis are about as good as one could expect to find them.

Yet we fail to see why the creation of an additional court at Gary should occasion so much fuss in the legislature. Gary seems to need a few more courts in dealing with conditions that crupt there every once in awhile.

What Indemnity Due for No Man's Land?

Whatever the peace terms—no matter when they are made—who can estimate a just indemnity for No Man's Land?

That narrow strip which twists and turns between the trenches of Europe's opposing armies has a value different from any other stretch of land on earth.

Over 5,000,000 men have been killed since the war began, according to figures computed by the War Study society of Copenhagen. How many hundreds of thousands have died in No Man's Land will not be known until the army records of all nations have become a part of history.

It is not by its width and length that the price of the uneven lane between the barbed wire entanglements can be reckoned; the number of its dead, the blood which the ground has soaked up, the agony of wounded men who lived hours or days beyond help of a friend or mercy of an enemy, the thwarted purposes of youth must be added to the estimate.

With the last breath of every soldier dying so, there went out to the world a spark of heroism—and who can set a price on heroes?

Every man dying there left behind some unfulfilled ambition, some duty unaccomplished, some plan of living uncompleted, some work of love undone—just as dear to him, and just as likely to be made true by him, had he lived, as any great project or hope of men living in the safe places of the world today.

Painters, sculptors, poets, inventors, men of the shops and the fields all are buried or burned together, or their bones lie bleaching somewhere along this modern "sacra via" of the nations.

All who survive the war will profit by their sacrifice if the right kind of peace is made. All the world is debtor to them, but all the nations together cannot pay a suitable indemnity for No Man's Land.

No material compensation can be made for spiritual values.

The most that anyone can do is to stop, once in a while, and think in all humility and sincerity of those who died in war that a better world may come.

Letters from The Sentinel Readers

To the Editor of The Sentinel:

If the saying, "A state is no greater than her citizens," is true, which we all will admit, then most invariably we must say that the neighborhood or community is no better than its inhabitants. Coming down to the point: We may think that our thoughts, words and deeds will not effect the community in which we live. In this we are very much mistaken.

Every bad thought which we harbor in our minds may form word or deed which may visibly and vitally effect the community center. On the other hand every good thought we cherish may develop in word and deed which also may vitally effect the same, but for betterment.

At a glance, we may say that the idle, vacant-minded "store boy whittler" doesn't make history very fast. I will admit he doesn't make history himself, but his actions cause much future history to be made. He is ever ready with tongue and knife—tonguing and knifing nearly every one in the community who is trying to do something for himself and others in the world.

Besides having curses against the Almighty or a vulgar story at his tongue's end, he never fails to interest some young boys who have not had proper raising or are wayward, and very easily interested in such things. In studing such a personage we now will say that the acts of such a one will influence the youth of the community in the wrong way in life.

If you are not sick of the "filthy story" or the curse against God, get sick as soon as possible. For these two things are certainly a disgrace to a neighborhood. Such influences thrown round as environment in which to live will make a poor class of citizens for a community. Remember that some boy may be led wrong by hearing such things.

The "tattler" comes in for his or her share of the blame for the standard of efficiency in the neighborhood.

Don't tattle every bad thing you hear about your neighbors and make it a little worse than it was told to you. Don't believe that every bad thing you hear about some one is true until you are absolutely sure.

If you can't tell anything good about someone, don't say anything at all. Don't be the first one to kick at one who is down. If he's down help him up instead of kicking him on down further. Enough will do that during his trials; be in the minority. Help him instead of kicking him on down.

We have quite a job to hold down if we tend strictly to our own business. We will be classed as heroes if we do this.

But when we try to tend to everybodys business we let our own suffer greatly. Besides we cause trouble for ourselves and nearly everyone else. Thereby the community welfare has to suffer.

Think of a community where every one set the right example, where every one did right. We would find there a true, high-minded citizenship with every one striving for high community ideals. Each one esteeming the other better than himself. What would this mean? Certainly a model community, nearly a heaven in which to live.

The question is: Don't we all want such a community? I believe we do. We all wish to be called boosters of "Community Welfare" and not knockers. None of us claim to be saints. We have all been guilty of some of the things mentioned possibly. That's not the question. Let us be willing to get behind a movement in our community which will give to it the best possible environment.

If this is obtained there will be no room for the curse, the dirty story, the untruth and other tools of the devil. What is past is gone. Let us here resolve to make the community better during this year because we have lived therein.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Miss Lucy Rosselot, of 101 Riverside avenue, has accepted a position at Mergenthelm's Bazar.

The good sleighing has opened the logging traffic and logs are being hauled to the city day and night.

Yesterday Mrs. James Liggett, wife of the liveryman, was 45 years old, and a surprise party was tendered herself and her husband last night.

Miss Lizzie Stemen has resumed her duties as bookkeeper in the office of Dr. Stemen after a visit at Warsaw.

A sleighing party, chaperoned by Miss Kate Reinnert, came to a disastrous end the other evening, by the upsetting of the sled. Fortunately no one was injured.

George B. Fleming, formerly of this city, has been appointed chief of the clerk's document room in the government department at Washington at a salary of $1,600 a year.

Last evening a large party of young people went to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Furthmiller, one mile east of New Haven, where the greater part of the evening was spent in a very pleasant manner to all.

Dr. S. Curtice has moved to this city from Springfield, Q., and will practice medicine in the drug store at 363 South Lafayette street. He is the father of John F. Curtice, the real estate man, and lived here many years.

At noon today Clarence Nulf, a brakeman on the Fort Wayne road, was brought home from Lima, O., where he was placed under the care of physicians last night, suffering with frozen feet, both members having been badly frozen from exposure. Mr. Nulf resides at 110 Thomas street.

Messrs. Joe Schwerzgen and August Bruder have been appointed a committee to secure new quarters for the Philharmonic club, the present rooms at 108 Calhoun street being too small to accommodate the present membership, which has greatly increased since the first organization.

Peter Nussbaum will have a handsome brick residence erected on Spy Run avenue on the premises of the old Tivoli Garden, which has been abandoned and the ground platted into residence building lots. The property is owned by Mr. Nussbaum, who is head brewer at Centlivre's. The plans for the house will be drawn by J. M. E. Riedel.

WOULD PRAISE GIRLS' BLOW AT "HIGH COST"

Short Skirt Seen as "Real Economy" by Milwaukee Assemblyman.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19.—Assemblyman Carl Pieper, of Milwaukee, believes the eighth wonder of the world is the American girl who has tackled the high cost of living proposition and is making a good job of it.

Because he regards the short skirt as "real economy and retrenchment" he has prepared a joint resolution congratulating the women of the state for pointing out one avenue for the smashing of high prices.

"What has bothered our best experts," said he, "is accomplished by the American girl with a grace and style that excites the admiration of every human being, from the bootblack in the street to dignified justices of the supreme court.

"Having gone the limit in saving material in the make-up of the dress from the neck down, the American girl now startles the world with her economy and retrenchment on the other end."

Tonight sure! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascarets from the drug store now? Eat one or two tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarets never gripe or bother you all the next day like calomel, salts and pills. They act gently but thoroughly. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascaret any time. They are harmless and children love them.—Advertisement.

Get Rid of Constipation and Your Skin Clears up at Once

Take Tollo Water—A Wineglassful Will Flush the System in Thirty Minutes.

Keep you bowels regular, your liver active and your skin will clear up and stay clear. Sallow skins, pimply faces, coated tongues, foul breath, headaches, biliousness, dizzy spells and that nervous, tired, run-down feeling all come from poisonous toxins the blood absorbs from decaying waste in the bowels.

Tollo Water from Dawson Springs, Kentucky, will give quick relief. Get a 15-cent bottle from the drug store and take a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water before breakfast. In half an hour it will wash out the stomach and bowels and start you feeling good.

But to clear up the skin and remove the poison from the system you should take a wineglassful before breakfast for several mornings. After that you can keep your bowels as regular as a clock, your liver active and your skin clear and peachy by taking a wineglassful occasionally.—Advertisement.

DEMANDS $1,000 DAMAGES.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 19.—Suit for $1,000 damages has been brought by John H. Grindle, a farmer, residing near Burket, against Earl R. Barr, of Akron. The plaintiff alleges that on March 18, 1916, he contracted with Barr, a stockbuyer, for the sale of fifty-four head of cattle and eighty-four hogs. A written contract was signed by both men, providing that Grindle deliver the hogs at Burket in June, 1916, and that he should receive $8.50 per hundred. The cattle were to be delivered at the same place in July at the same price per hundred. Grindle claims that Barr accepted the hogs, but refused the cattle.

STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY.

Rev. John McMillan is Found Lying in Snow Unconscious.

Auburn, Ind., Jan. 19.—Apoplexy caused the death of Rev. John McMillan, pastor of the Radical United Brethren Waterloo circuit Wednesday evening at his home six miles northwest of Auburn.

Rev. McMillan was hauling small logs for wood from the woods near his home and was at the house at 3 o'clock. Soon after he went back to the woods and his continued absence worried Mrs. McMillan.

When the daughter, Miss Angie, a student in the Waterloo high school, came home, the mother expressed her anxiety and shortly afterwards the daughter started out to hunt her father.

She followed his tracks to the woods and found him lying in the snow unconscious. It was evident that he had lain there some time as the snow was melted around his body. He was taken to his home and lived about a half hour, passing away shortly after 7 o'clock, never having regained consciousness.

LIGHT ORDINANCE SIGNED.

Van Wert, O., Jan. 19.—With the signing of the two light franchise ordinances by C. S. Mauk, new mayor of the city, the fight on the granting of the franchises to the Northwestern Ohio Light company will end and the ordinances will become effective as soon as signed by the officials of the company. In brief, the ordinances call for an extension of the contract of the city for four years, or for ten years from the present time, gives the light company to adopt a minimum charge of 50 cents a month to consumers of light current for which in return the company will install a new ornamental lighting system on the main streets to supplant the old arch system now in use, at no cost to the city.

AUTO STRIKES BOY.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 19.—When he stepped from a tea wagon in front of an automobile driven by Manson Reiff, grocer, Russell Shaneyfelt, residing in the south part of the city, was knocked down but was not injured Wednesday afternoon. The accident occurred in front of the Rev. T. J. Simons home on West Cherry street. The boy did not notice the auto approaching and did not have a chance for escape. Reiff was in no way to blame for the accident. He was driving slowly and the automobile was stopped soon enough to prevent running over the boy.

CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 19.—A most satisfactory and decided change in the mouths of the pupils of the public and parochial schools was noticed by the dentists of this city who, assisted by Dr. R. G. Knoff, of Geneva, made the annual dental inspection Wednesday. The change noted was very much for the better. In some of the schools the teachers have been urging the daily use of the tooth brush and some dental cream or powder and it was certainly surprising and pleasing to see what results had been accomplished. Many schools are using the tooth brush drill regularly.

RAID ON DRUG STORE.

Portland, Ind., Jan. 19.—Headed by Sheriff Thomas Fleming, his deputy Glenn Arbaugh, Henry Miley, who was sworn in as special officer, and Deputy Prosecutor Wheeler Ashcraft, a raid was made on the Guy Shull drug store at Bryant Wednesday evening, resulting in the confiscation of a quantity of whisky. The raiding force was clothed with a search warrant issued on affidavit filed by Erastus O. Houser, of Bryant, who is vice president of a civic organization banded together for the express purpose of aiding in the enforcement of law.

PAVING COST $10,000.

Pierceton, Ind., Jan. 19.—The paving at Pierceton completed last fall cost $18,989.30, according to the assessment roll just issued by Engineer McCarter. Of this amount the town is assessed $4,397.44 and the property owners $14,589.86. The town board will offer bonds for sale on January 22 to pay their share of the paving expense. It is probable that the majority of the property owners will pay cash for their pavement rather than have a lien placed upon their home for a period of ten years.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 19.—John H. Ebersole, aged 70, a well known resident of this city, died at his home on West Market street Thursday morning at 1:30. For some time his condition had gradually been growing worse and for the past six weeks he had been confined constantly to his bed.

EARNINGS TOTAL $11,000.

Auburn, Ind., Jan. 19.—That the Auburn Electric Light and Waterworks plant showed a net earning above operating expenses for the year just closed of nearly $11,000, and that among its customers are numbered practically every family and business of the city, are some of the interesting facts brought out in the report of Supt. E. E. Wineland for the year 1916.

FARM IS TRADED.

Plymouth, Ind., Jan. 19.—Through a local agency Theodore Duwelius Wednesday traded his 160-acre farm west of Plymouth on the Pretty lake road to Emanuel Giller for his 80-acre farm two and one-half miles north of Plymouth on the Michigan road, the brick residence on North Michigan street, built by Ed Garn, and the 88-foot frontage on Laporte street, just west of the Bissell building.

Huntington, Ind., Jan. 19.—In honor of Miss Frances E. Hutsell, retiring teacher of the fifth grade of Tipton street school, the twelve teachers of that school, composing the faculty, will entertain her today at noon at a farewell party. Mrs. G. E. Chenoweth, wife of Principal Chenoweth, and Albert Lininger, custodian of the school, will be guests at the event.

SCHOOLS HIGHLY PRAISED.

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 19.—The schools of Kosciusko county, outside of the city of Warsaw, are highly praised in a report made as the result of an inspection made by J. P. Pearcy, of Indianapolis, who has just completed his annual inspection. Mr. Pearcy was accompanied on his inspection by County Superintendent Bruner.

SOCIETY

The bridge party series under the management of the Woman's Club league, began today at the Anthony hotel, sixty-four tables of players occupying the ball room, while other ticket holders who did not care to play, amused themselves in the hotel reception hall enjoying music and visiting. The playing began at 2:45 and four games were played. There were ladies who acted as hostesses for every two sections of tables. They were Mrs. Frank Bohn, Mrs. B. W. Rhamy, Mrs. B. H. Hudson, Mrs. Austin Stults, Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Mrs. Ferd Urbahns, Mrs. C. J. Schoo, Mrs. Louis Stiefel and Miss Geraldine Bulson. A dozen handsome china salad plates was the prize given to the winner of the highest score today. As the object in giving the series of parties is to make money, none was spent for decorations and no refreshments were served but punch. The prizes were contributed by a number of ladies active in the league and in the arrangements for the parties. They included besides Mrs. A. E. Fauve, president of the league, and Mrs. C. R. Fairbank, president of the state organization of clubs, ladies who acted on committees to make preparations and were Mrs. Walter Shepard, Mrs. D. F. Urbahns, Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Mrs. Louis Stiefel, Mrs. Austin Stults, Mrs. LaVon Sperry and Mrs. B. H. Hudson.

AT THE PALACE.

COMEDY DRAMA "DOPE."

The Joseph Medill Patterson comedy dramatic story, "Dope," a cleverly written bit of serio-comedy, is being related by Herman Lieb and his Broadway players, as the feature attraction on the bill for the remainder of the week at the New Palace. Two reformers attempt to cause the arrest of the druggist who has been selling cocaine to men, women and children, but their virtuous righteousness is smashed to smithereens when the druggist shows them that they are as bad as he, since the money they are spending is derived from the dope selling, directly. The girl's mother owns the building and the youth's uncle owns the wholesale company that sells the drugs to the dealers.

Jimmy Lucas and his partner have a medley of foolishness and song that goes over big, Lucas' enthusiasm helping it materially. Roy and Arthur close with the gill with a laughable stunt, Fun in a Dining Car, in which one of them juggles dishes while the other smashes them. Kate Watson, the inimitable Hoosier Girl with the amusing stories and more amusing songs; the Three Du For Boys in songs and comedy dancing, and Charles and Anna Glocker, the water juggling novelty artists, complete this bill.

The Second Anniversary bills open with the coming of the Boyle Woolfolk Junior Follies, the first of the week. Three special added vaudeville attractions will help make this bill the house's record breaker.

AT THE LYRIC.

Five-Year-Old Leading Lady Stars in Film at Lyric.

Another "Little Mary Sunshine" picture, starring Baby Marie Osborne, is to be shown here soon. Everyone remembers "Little Mary Sunshine" and "Shadows and Sunshine," which made two of the biggest hits ever scored by a motion picture in this city.

A particularly interesting point about the production of "Joy and the Dragon," little Marie's latest vehicle, is that in it her director, Henry King, also plays an important part.

The story is by Will M. Ritchey, one of the most successful scenario writers in the business, and it deals with the manner in which Little Joy succeeds in softening a hardened miner and restoring him, a changed man, to his father. In addition she is responsible for saving the miner's life and is the means of rounding up a band of clever crooks.

Lessons in All Needlework

BY BETTY BROWN.

Nighties, unless they be grandma's, are no longer respectable looking gowns. Harem-gowns or pajamas take their place. You'll know what I mean if you take a look at the fluffy person in the picture. The newest slumber robe is a one-piece pajama. The too masculine coat has been discarded and a bifurcated garment made usually of flowered silk, or rose crepe de chine or blossom-sprinkled cotton crepe is what shoppers want. The model is wearing a lace coat over her flesh color crepe de chine one-piece pajamas.

INDUSTRIAL NIGHT.

All of the girls' clubs which are joined together under the industrial extension department of the Y. W. C. A. met last night at the association. The Elex club held its annual election, which resulted as follows: Cora Blue, president; Emily Guth, vice-president; Eleanor Honcier, secretary; Evelyn Bockman, treasurer. They also initiated nine new members. All of the other clubs had some sort of "stunts" to help with the entertainment and a "big time" was enjoyed by all who were present. Announcement was made of the Federation banquet which will be held February 15.

Woman's Secrets!

There Are Three of These She NEVER Will Tell Any Man, Says Winona Wilcox!

(By Winona Wilcox.)

Woman has some special secrets which she never discusses with any man. She has pretenses and affectations, such as a pet timidity, to which she will coyly confess. If married, she will betray the hidden dreams of her spinster sisters. If a bachelor girl, she will ridicule the concealments of her married friends.

But of the one great universal feminine secret she will never talk to any man!

This secret is her supreme horror of that indefatigable worker in human clay, that most accomplished and most merciless of sculptors, Father Time.

The fact that woman often conceals her age or mis-states it, amuses man; but from it he can never guess the depths of the tragedy which advancing years holds for her.

It is customary to glorify the serenity which age brings and to exalt the wisdom of great-grandmothers, but all this is no comfort to any woman, although she may pretend it is. She may repeat this fine philosophy as if it were a litany, but in her heart she scorns it like a heretic.

Father Time may mold majesty into her form and dignity into her features, but no woman ever yet watched the rose tints fade from her cheeks and a net of wrinkles masque her face without a spasm of secret tears.

The change may denote a spiritual improvement—but when did man prefer that to beauty?

A woman never seems old to herself so long as she is sure that a man loves her—and her alone.

When he divides his allegiance and his admiration, she first begins to criticise the work of Father Time. She finds the first flaws when the man she adores looks past her, beyond her, at a younger face in the crowd.

She may not cry out—but from that minute she begins to experiment with wrinkle eradicators and chin bandages.

Youth is very short and age is very long. And the great riddle of every woman's life is not how to make the best of youth and beauty—they will take care of themselves—but how to make love last when both have passed.

Some women pose before Father Time in the flapper's dress and the actress' make-up; some represent industry and usefulness; some symbolize power or patience; but anyone of these models is apt to prove as faulty as another.

Ask their secret of those who have acquired the perfect pose, those beautiful old women who keep their men folk loyal to the grave, and they are never able to tell it.

Self-forgetfulness! That is the mainspring of woman's happiness.

A man seldom ceases to love a woman who "finds herself" only through her devotion to him. Absolute devotion of this kind is probably the only antidote for the poisoning fear of age which haunts and spoils the lives of most women.

(The second of these secrets of women will be reavealed in The Sentinel soon.)

FASHIONS OF SUMMER WILL BE LOUD, LOUDER, LOUDEST.

SPLASHING GREAT DESIGNS OF FASHIONABLE SPRING FABRICS.

Note the curves of the brims—there lies the secret of all that is most charming in Easter millinery.

Becomingness means style this year. No matter how good looking a hat may be it is not YOUR hat unless it makes you smile every time you put it on.

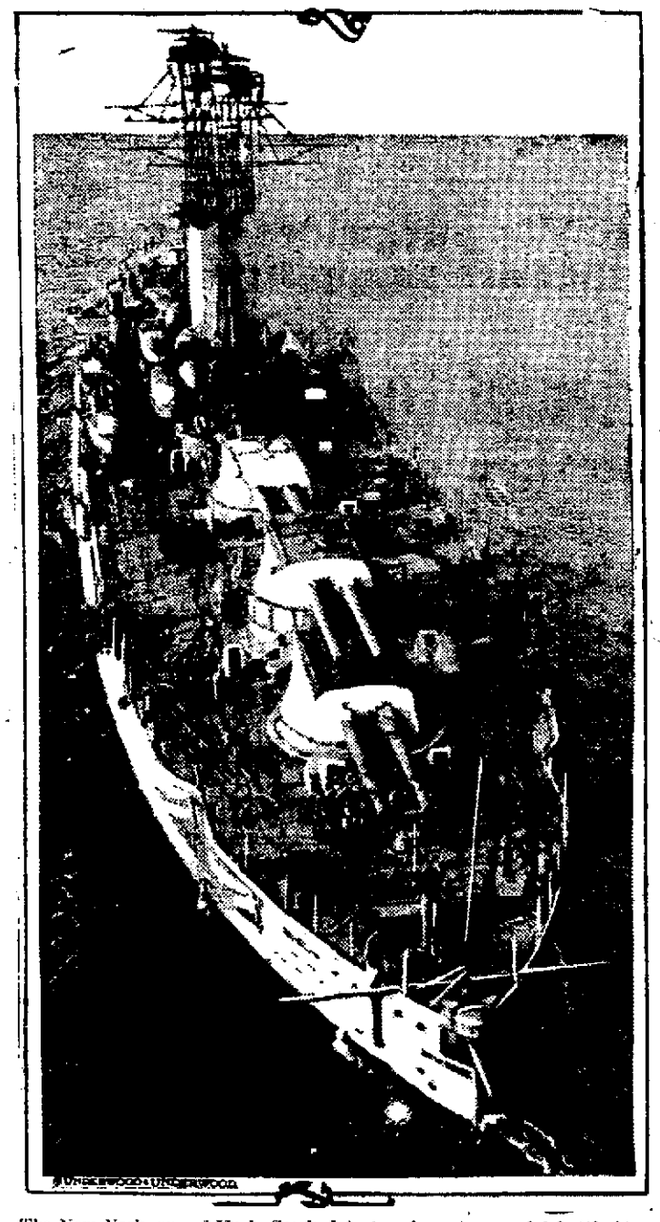
The large hat of the illustration is of a style which almost any woman can wear. It is of gray hair braid and has a facing of blue Georgette crepe. The flowers are novelties made of twisted braid, the small fruits are of blue velvet, and the final touch of becomingness is given by a smashing bow of blue ribbon placed well toward the back of the right side.

Sport hats are now worn with the most elaborate of chiffon frocks.

For facing and banding the hat with the striped brim, blue and gold taffeta was pulled into a swirled effect. The line of the crown and brim of this hat are most artistic.

Equally elegant in shape and unique in decoration is the smaller hat of coarse blue straw. The facing is of crepe and the flat embroidered blossoms are worked in crewel directly on the straw.

UNCLE SAM'S $15,000,000 BATTLESHIP ON WAY TO MANEUVERS.



The New York, one of Uncle Sam's latest and most powerful battleships, is on the way to Guantanamo for maneuvers. The New York cost about $15,000,000, carries ten 14-inch guns and four torpedo tubes and has a speed of 21 knots an hour.

HIGH STORAGE RATE BLOCKED

Says Remedy for Abnormal Conditions Must Be Lawfully Permissible.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The interstate commerce commission today disapproved proposals by railroads to double and quadruple storage charges on export grain at elevators at New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Newport News and other Atlantic ports, where such grain is held longer than sixty days.

New charges for the storage of export grain in cars awaiting unloading at Baltimore and Philadelphia also were disapproved. The proposals made by the trunk line railroads were designed as a measure to relieve congestion at Atlantic ports and to insure, through enforcement of penalties, a freer flow of grain through the elevators. They were opposed by the Baltimore Chamber of Commerce, the Commercial Exchange of Philadelphia and other similar organizations. A considerable proportion of the millions of bushels of grain shipped to Atlantic ports for export to the warring nations of Europe would have been affected.

Another intention of the railroads was to prevent the premature shipment of grain to the seaboard without export contracts or prior to making arrangements for its ocean transportation. The scarcity of ships is said to have resulted in choking the elevators with grain which could not be moved without long delay.

A large number or cars also have been withdrawn from traffic because of the congestion at the elevators, augmenting the general car shortage and tending indirectly to increase the cost of living. In its decision the commission holds that the objects sought by the railroads should be attained by other methods than the one proposed, which would place heavy penalties upon the traffic.

"We are of the opinion," reads the decision, "that the carriers should study the situation in all its aspects and that they can and should devise methods to correct the misuse of their equipment and facilities, which would have the full sanction of the committee.

"It has not been shown that the proposed charges will accomplish the end they seek, nor will they be free from unjust discrimination. The possibility of abuse leads to abuse and the present chaotic conditions of the carriers' terminals of their tracks and facilities make it imperative that corrective measures should be carefully studied and analyzed and established and enforced rigidly to the end that the equal treatment of all, which the law requires, should not be easily capable of being frittered away in the hands of those who take advantage of the least loophole to escape the obligations which should rest upon all. While abnormal conditions require drastic remedies, the cure must be one which is lawfully permissible."

CHARGES ANARCHIST PLOT TO KILL WILSON

Prosecutor in Bomb Trial Promises to Reveal Conspiracy.

San Francisco, Jan. 19.—Evidence showing that President Wilson's life was threatened by an anarchistic organization known as "The Blasters" will be presented in the trial of Thomas J. Mooney for murder, Edward A. Cunha, assistant district attorney, announced in the superior court in his opening address to the jury.

"I will prove," said Cunha, "that these men plotted revolution against the government. I will prove that they said in an edition of the Blast, 'The weathercock in the White House had better watch out. Suppression of the voice of the discontented leads to assassination.'"

Sees Self-Conviction.

Beginning his address in court, Cunha outlined the history of the bomb explosion here last July in which ten persons lost their lives and in which it is charged Mooney had a part.

"I will show a motive for Mooney's participation in this crime and that he advised and encouraged it," said Cunha. "I will prove that prior to January, 1916, Mooney, Alexander Berkman, Miss M. E. Fitzgerald and others entered into a conspiracy to bring about an uprising against property owners, the confiscation of private property and the destruction of government, and that they called themselves 'The Blasters' and publicly announced in the Blast the objects of their conspiracy.

"I will connect Mooney with this conspiracy by letters in his own writing and by articles he wrote in the Blast. I will show that they planned to create a prejudice against and to betray the American Federation of Labor.

Tells of Plan to Kill.

"I will show that before the parade Mooney declared 'preparedness must be thrown back into the teeth of its advocates.' Mooney declared that if the government had a large army the revolution would be nipped in the bud."

Cunha said that Mooney and the other conspirators in their campaign against preparedness decided that the first one of them to be approached by a recruiting officer should shoot him down.

The Blast, an anarchistic publication, is printed in San Francisco. Berkman, its editor, at last accounts was in New York city raising funds to use in Mooney's defense. Miss Fitzgerald is associate editor. The office of the Blast was raided recently by the district attorney.

Walk from Windsor to Detroit on Ice-Clogged River.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—Scores of persons risked their lives this morning by walking from Windsor, Ont., to Detroit on the ice-clogged Detroit river. For the first time in 14 years ferry boats between the two cities have been unable to get through. Detroit policemen were ordered to prevent any more persons from crossing on the ice. A powerful ferryboat with 300 passengers aboard tried to make the trip to Windsor this morning but was compelled to return to the local dock

ORDER OF SERVICES FOR DEWEY FUNERAL

Committees of Congress Give Out Their Formal Announcement.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—The order of services for the funeral of Admiral Dewey tomorrow at the capital was announced today by the committees of the house and senate having charge of the arrangements. The official announcement follows:

The capitol will be closed on the morning of January 20, to all except members and officers of the senate and house of representatives and remain closed until after the cortege has left the capitol. At 10 o'clock the lower doors under the arches beneath the marble of the senate and house wings of the capitol will be opened to those holding tickets of admission.

The services will begin at 11 o'clock a. m. Saturday.

The body of the late admiral, George Dewey, will be placed in the rotunda prior to the services.

The president of the United States and his cabinet, the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court, the diplomatic corps, the members of the senate and house of representatives, the chief of staff of the army, and the officers of the army and navy will occupy the seats assigned to them.

The suprme court will meet in the supreme court room.

The diplomatic corps and the chief of staff of the army will meet in the senate reception room.

The committee on arrangements will meet in the room of the committee on naval affairs of the house.

After all invited to attend have been announced Chaplain F. B. Brazier, United States navy, will conduct the religious services.

Orders for the placing at half mast of flags on all postoffices throughout the nation in honor of Admiral Dewey were issued today by Postmaster General Burleson, who directed flags to remain at half mast until after the funeral on Saturday and that the postoffice department be closed all that day.

In announcing other details of arrangements today, Secretary Daniels said the midshipmen from Annapolis would form the only escort for the body when it was removed from the Dewey home to the capitol. The officers in charge of the ceremonies decided to exclude the other military organizations from attendance at the home in deference to the admiral's wishes, made known when he first realized the hopelessness of his condition. "The admiral also said at that time," the secretary said, "that he wanted the midshipmen to come as his friends and not under orders. His wish will be respected."

The other military organizations will be stationed at the capitol and after the services there will form the larger escort to accompany the cortege to Arlington cemetery.

The president and Mrs. Wilson will attend the private services at the home.

PRUSSIAN DIET NOW GOVERNMENT CRITIC

But Conservative Leader Refrains from Attack on United States.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—The Prussian Diet took upon itself today the role of critic of the government which the reichstag at its latest session refrained from doing. Nevertheless the prediction which was heard yesterday that the session would be marked by the most vigorous attacks on Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, turned out to be incorrect. The speech of Dr. von Heydebrand, conservative leader, who is associated with the centrist and national-liberal parties, in favor of a more unrestricted use of submarines was far more moderate than on earlier occasions and was not characterized by attacks on the United States.

Paul Breitenbach, minister of public works and the chancellor's second in the Prussian cabinet, said in a carefully worded declaration in behalf of the government: "This grave and difficult epoch requires ever renewed discussion of what ways and means are to be adopted," he added, however, that he considered any expression of the government's views at present to be undesirable. Responsibility for decisions he said rested on the chancellor and he appealed to the patriotism of the house to support this difficult task by refraining from criticism of his policy—an appeal which the proceeding showed to be unnecessary. It was commented that even Dr. von Heydebrand in advocating unrestricted submarine warfare demanded it only at such times as the emperor and Field Marshal von Hindenburg thought to be advisable. "If we are to win a victory it is absolutely imperative to use the weapons which give us the possibility of winning a victory against the toughest and strongest adversary, England. * * * * * * If our military authorities, the higher command and the emperor find it suitable and timely to make the necessary use of unlimited submarine warfare the German and Prussian people will be prepared to bear the consequences."

Columbia City, Ind., Jan. 19.—Mrs. James Graves, 74, is dead at the home of her son, Alexander Graves, five miles north of Churubusco. Death was due to a stroke of apoplexy.

NURSERY MEN WAGE WAR ON NEW PLAN

Washington, Jan. 19.—Legislation to forbid importation of nursery stocks except by the federal department of agriculture for experimental purposes was proposed to the American Forestry association at its conference on the Pine Blister disease here today as the only means of preventing spread of a multitude of insect pests and plant afflictions now threatening forests and farm crops.

Nursery men opposed the suggested legislation on the ground that high prices of many fruit trees and shrubs now imported, would result from their propagation in this country. J. G. Sanders, Pennsylvania state zoologist, declared that many plant diseases heretofore unknown would be imported from Europe unless a federal embargo is established.

Dr. Haven Metcalf, chief of the federal bureau of forest pathology, said, "We must stop all movement into the area west of the Mississippi of nursery stock, five needle pins, currants and gooseberries on which the white pine blister fungus grows." Among other speakers were C. L. Marlatt, chairman of the federal horticultural board; David T. Fairchild, federal agricultural explorer in charge of foreign seed and plant introduction; C. R. Pettis, New York state superintendent of forests, and S. B. Detwiler, federal forest pathologist.

BIG CELEBRATION AT INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Ninety-Seventh Anniversary of Its Founding Duly Celebrated.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 19.—The ninety-seventh anniversary of the founding of Indiana university was celebrated here today with Ambassador Romulo S. Naon of the Argentine Republic as the principal speaker. The exercises were held in the new $200,000 gymnasium which will be dedicated next June.

They were preceded by a parade of the entire student body, which was reviewed by the ambassador, President W. L. Bryan of the university and members of the state legislature, which is in session in Indianapolis. The prize in oratory offered annually by William Jennings Bryan was contested for this afternoon.

Ambassador Naon was to leave here late for Indianapolis, where he will be the principal speaker of founders day dinner of the Indiana University association of Indianapolis.

WANTS ALL MOBILIZED.

Paris, Jan. 19.—General Ulrich Wille, commander of the Swiss army, wishes to mobilize all Switzerland's military forces, according to a Berne dispatch to the Petit Parisien. CHAMPIONS CAUSE OF THE MAN ON SALARY

He's Standing on Quicksand, Says Benjamin Ide Wheeler.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler.

Wheeler, of the University of California.

"It is apparent that the man living on a salary is standing in quicksand and that the value of his salary is continually oozing away from under his feet," says President Wheeler in a report to Governor Johnson. He emphasizes the necessity of larger salaries for the faculty members at the university.

"The general trend in the rise of the cost of living," says President Wheeler, "is not likely to relent even in peace, being due to universal causes involving presumably the cheapening of gold and the growing scarcity of food."

$200,000,000 Road System is Now Goal of Advocates of Better Highways in America

With Good Highways for Every Farm as Ultimate Aim, Nation-Wide Campaign Under Federal Financing is Expected to Cut Living Cost and Unify Town and Country.

Modern road-making methods! Temporary railways are built to carry the materials to the spot where roadmakers are working and bring the empty trucks back. The result is a country road on which children can rollerskate just as they would on a city sidewalk. These pictures are from Detroit.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Good roads past every farm; a network of hard-surface highways covering the country, that will solve the national food and freight problems by breaking the grip of the railroads on farm-to-market transportation!

That's the idea behind the nation-wide movement for better highways that will result in the expenditure, within five years, of TWO HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS for improving country roads!

From these sown millions will be reaped billions, say good roads enthusiasts; and an additional crop will be immeasurable; the wiping out of jealousy between cities and country districts. The good road, auto, and parcel post already have done much to eliminate this century-old jealousy, proponents of better highways say.

When the country was young there was a movement for hard-surface roads, and one national highway actually was built across the Alleghanies. But the rise of railroads ended the good roads movement in its infancy. This continued until the nation was at the mercy of privately-owned railroads.

Development of the automobile gave the present road movement its impetus; but opinions differ now as to whether the highway propaganda owes much to the auto industry, or vice versa.

There are today 2,500,000 autos in use in the United States and - per cent. of those made in the last two years have been bought by farmers, who certainly would have had little use for autos were it not for the recent betterment of roads.

There are now 250,000 miles of fairly good roads in the country, out of a total mileage of 2,275,000.

The federal government has voted $75,000,000 to be distributed among the road departments of the states in the next five years, on condition the states raise amounts equal to the United States fund. Five millions of this amount are available this year, the amount being increased by five millions each year; so that 1921 will see the greatest activity of history in road-building, with more than $50,000,000 to be spent.

Besides the $150,000,000 to be spent by the federal government and the states in conjunction, it is estimated at least a third of that amount will be spent in the next five years by counties and small divisions and by good roads and motoring associations, bringing the total good roads appropriation to $200,000,000.

Indiana, Texas, South Carolina and Kansas are not yet certain of getting government aid this year, as their road departments must be centralized under state heads before the appropriation can be obtained.

The federal appropriation can be used only for roads so situated as to form part of a national highway scheme. Stubs and roads that merely connect two trunk lines cannot be considered in making up the plan of routes to be improved, all of which must be o. k'd. by the office of public roads and rural engineering of the department of agriculture.

The federal appropriation is expected to produce 25,000 miles of first-class road—not merely fair or good roads, but high grade roads that will be kept in as good shape throughout the year as is the average city street.

It will then be up to the local communities to provide connecting links and "feeders" that will put every part of the state or county within touch of the main lines.

The United States fund is intended merely to start the ball a-rolling; after the first $150,000,000 is expended it is believed the country will be so satisfied with the new highway system that more and larger appropriations will be demanded, until the whole nation is spanned by motor-roads the equal of any Europe can boast.

Numerous national road organizations, backing such routes as the Lincoln highway, Midland trail, Santa Fe trail, Dixie highway, and others, are improving cross country highways irrespective of federal and in some cases of state aid.

The millions to be expended under government direction are merely giving an impetus to a work already under way.

AUDITORIUM SITE TO BE NAMED MONDAY

The site for the location of the proposed convention hall is expected to be named Monday. Members of the board of works plan to take action on the question, which has been their biggest problem for the past three weeks, on Monday morning.

Opinion as to the best location for the new building is divided among the board members and other city officials. Part of the group who are to decide on the location for the auditorium, favor park sites and others believe that private property should be purchased.

Reservoir and Lawton parks have both been named as suitable building grounds for the convention hall. In their belief it is argued that the ground would cost the city nothing. The hall is to be used but a few days a year, one board member pointed out, in arguing for the utility of public ground.

Park properties are not near enough the center of the city, members who oppose the use of the parks say. They believe the Hamilton property near the high school grounds, could best be utilized for public use by placing the auditorium next to the high school.

COMMITTEE WILL MEET.

Will Consider Petition for More School Trustees.

Controversy as to advisability of increasing the number of school trustees and making their position an elective office will be carried on Friday night before the council committee on education. Rumor had been abroad that the council committee would postpone their session. The meeting will be called in the council chamber at 8 o'clock.

A resolution asking the legislature to increase the number of school trustees and to make their offices elective will be before the committee. There will be open opposition to the proposed plan, it is said. Many citizens prefer to keep the management of school affairs out of politics, it is pointed out.

DO IT NOW.

City Attorney Sees No Reason Why Candidates Should Delay

Since the legislature has definitely decided that names of all candidates for city offices must be filed with the city clerk before February 4 and since February 4 comes on Sunday, there is a problem for City Attorney Guy Colerick. He is determining whether or not a day of grace should be allowed in that case and if candidates might file their names as late as February 5.

Colerick does not believe the technicality will be tested. He expects all candidates for Fort Wayne offices to have their names before Gustav Boerger long before February 4. There is no reason for delay, Colerick says. If you are a candidate for any city office, why not file your petition now?

Whitewash Basement.

Assistant Park Superintendent Yobst is overseeing work of spraying all rooms in the basement of the city hall, with whitewash. The task of coating all the stone walls will be completed by Friday night.

HAZARDOUS TASK.

City Workmen Are Engaged in Delicate Bit of Tunneling.

City workmen are carrying on a delicate bit of tunneling in their effort to repair the damage caused by the cave-in of the intercepting sewer, at a point near the Central foundry.

Sand and clay, which fell into the five-foot tube, has filled the big sewer line for three hundred feet, because water in the tube carried the earth down the channel.

Workmen are digging out the sand and hoisting it, thirty feet, through a man-hole to the ground surface. There is constant danger of another cave-in of the sewer walls.

The sewer above the wall of earth, formed by the cave-in, is filled with water. As the dirt, which chokes the tube and keeps back the water, is removed, there is increased danger of the wall of earth being broken away and the workmen being engulfed in the water.

Meeting Postponed.

Meeting of the council committee to take up the resolution for the increase of the number of city school trustees from three to five members, will not be held Friday night. The meeting has been postponed owing to illness of Robert John, councilman from the Fifth ward and member of the committee.

LOSSES IN LAKE STORMS.

Insurance Value of Fourteen Vessels Was $625,000.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 19.—The insurance value of the fourteen vessels lost on the great lakes last year was $625,000 according to the annual report of the Great Lakes Protective association read at its convention here today. The organization carries 25 per cent. of the insurance on vessels owned by its members.

Although there were a few more marine accidents in 1916 than there were during the previous year the percentage was smaller because more boats were in commission.

PACKED AUDITORIUM TO HEAR SPECIAL SERMON

The attendance at the special services at the Bible Training school last evening was the largest yet, the auditorium being filled with hardly a single seat vacant. The song service, though slightly briefer than usual, was unusually inspiring. As a visitor remarked, "The singing at the school is somehow different from what we often hear, it seems cleaner, holier."

"Wherefore come ye out from among them and be ye separate," was Rev. Oyer's text; his lesson being the deliverance of Lot from Sodom; and his subject, "Border-line Christians." He pointed out seven things Lot got in Sodom: First, an official position; second, daily vexation of soul; third, a low estimate of morals; fourth, lost the respect of his own family; fifth, developed a degraded appecite; sixth, an ungodly posterity; seventh, ashes for possessions. These were among the rewards he received for his half-hearted Christian life, barely saved at last," the pastor said.

In the after service two souls sought and found salvation.

UTILITY BUILDING IS PLANNED FOR OFFICES

Will Be Most Modern of Its Kind in City When It is Completed.

Plans have been outlined by Kilbourne & Perry, real estate dealers, who have the leasing of the entire Utility building, for making that structure one of the most desirable office buildings to be found in the state. The building is owned by Samuel and Charles Murdock and Samuel E. Mutholland and is now nearing completion in East Wayne street.

Because the building could not be completed in time for the Pidgeon Millinery company to occupy the third and fourth floors, as was the plan, when its season opened, way was then opened for making the entire second, third and fourth floors into office apartments. There will be forty thousand square feet of office rooms. The Pidgeon Millinery company was to have occupied the building on December 20.

The Indiana Lighting company will have the west thirty feet of the first floor, and the balance of the first floor will soon be leased. There will be approximately 100 office rooms. The building will have both passenger and freight elevators and the most modern equipment in the way of electric lights, telephone connections and heating system.

DISCUSS FOOD PROBLEM.

London, Jan. 19.—Premier Clam-Martino of Austria and Gen. Hoefer discussed the food problem with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, Foreign Secretary Zimmerman and Adolf Batocki, German food controller, according to a Hague dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. The conference was mainly concerned with economic questions, including the distribution of the food captured in Rumania. It is understood, however, that peace and Galician questions were discussed exhaustively. The German press, according to the dispatch, treated the conference with marked coolness.

THREE PATIENTS AT HOSPITAL IMPROVING

Two Cases at Lutheran Hospital Are Attracting Much Attention.

Three patients, one at St. Joseph's and the other two at the Lutheran hospital, are showing much improvement. The two cases at the Lutheran hospital are attracting much attention among the medical profession as well as others who are acquainted with the cases.

The two remarkable cases at the Lutheran hospital are James Allard and Earl Trevebaugh. The former suffered a fractured skull two weeks ago when he was struck on the head by a brick which fell fifty feet. The latter is the coal wagon driver whose back was broken three weeks ago.

When they were admitted as patients at the hospital it was thought that neither would recover. Allard is well on his way to recovery. Although Trevebaugh's condition is much improved the outcome is still doubtful.

Miss Mary Nierman, who attempted suicide Thursday at her father's home, is improving at St. Joseph's hospital. However, it is stated that her throat is badly burned and is causing her much pain.

EIGHT MORE DIRECTORS NAMED BY THE LEAGUE

Eight more directors were named on the board by the Anti-Tuberculosis league at its annual meeting held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the league's office. Two were named to take the places of Dr. H. O. Bruggeman and J. F. Conway, who have left the city. H. H. Keegan and Dr. T. C. Wyneken were named as successors.

The new members of the board are Edward C. Miller, J. N. Study, Charles Niezer, Dr. Charles Dancer, Dr. G. H. Gilpin, Mrs. L. G. Ellingham, Mrs. August Detzer and Miss Julia Emanuel.

It was reported at this meeting that there are at the present time twenty-three pupils at the Perry A. Randall open-air school.

Friday afternoon, Miss Irene Byron, executive secretary of the league spoke at a meeting of the Jefferson Parent-Teacher club meeting. She spoke on the work of the open-air school.

SERVICES TONIGHT.

Rabbi Aaron L. Weinstein, of Achduth Veshalom temple, has returned to the city and will hold services this evening at the Wayne street Methodist Episcopal church.

ANOTHER MURDER SUSPECT IS HELD

Jesse Fesser, thirty-five, Bluffton, laborer, is the second man to occupy a cell in the city jail as a suspect in connection with the murder of Joseph Parrant, the grocery clerk, Monday evening.

Fesser was in Fort Wayne last Monday. He brandished a large revolver in the presence of several Fort Wayne citizens, it is said. He was arrested in Bluffton Thursday night by Bluffton police upon order from Police Chief Lenz.

Fesser was brought to Fort Wayne Friday afternoon by Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, who was sent to Bluffton after him. Fesser was arrested on a warrant, signed by Brennan and which charges the Bluffton man with carrying concealed weapons.

George Geerken, delivery man, who was in the little grocery where Parrant was shot will be called to the police station Friday afternoon. He will face Fesser. He will be asked if the Bluffton man has the appearance of the person who turned his smoking revolver on Geerken, after Parrant had been shot.

Geerken has said that Julius Wrasse, of Mishawaka, who is still held in the jail as a suspect, answers in a general way the likeness of Parrant's murderer.

Claim Alibis.

Both Fesser and Wrasse say they will be able to prove alibis for Monday evening, when Parrant was murdered.

Brennan admits that he was told that Fesser was on his way to Bluffton on an interurban car at the hour when Parrant crashed to the grocery floor with a bullet through his head. Fesser says he will be able to prove that he was in Bluffton, Monday night, although he admits being in Fort Wayne during the day and to having carried a 38 calibre revolver.

Wrasse, who was brought to Fort Wayne from Kendallville, says he was in Elkhart on the night of the murder. Wrasse will be subjected to another questioning by Chief Lenz on Friday evening.

Mayor Calls on Chief.

Mayor Hosey called on Police Chief Lenz Friday afternoon, and the pair were in consultation for nearly an hour. Lenz admitted that they had discussed phases of the murder. He declined to give out whether the mayor had suggested a new angle upon which police may proceed in the case.

Chief Lenz admitted, after departure of Mayor Hosey, that other arrests may follow in connection with the murder case. Several new clues were suggested Friday, Lenz said.

MODERNNESS OF BOOK IS PASTOR'S SUBJECT

Dr. Henry B. Master Speaks Before Members of Quest Club.

In speaking from the subject, "The Modernness of the Book," before members of the Quest club at the Commercial club Friday noon, Dr. Henry B. Master, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, said that for 1,900 years the book had recognized the points of safety first, service and efficiency.

The modern idea of service, Dr. Master said, was an overplus of value, which the public had a right to demand. Efficiency, he declared, meant conservation. Christianity, Dr. Master asserted, had always been considered a progressive religion, whereas it was really retrogressive, going back over the line of march preventing the wasting and leaks in life. This retrogressive phase of religion, the speaker said, did much to reclaim those who had fallen by the wayside.

NEUTRAL INTERESTS MUST NOT INTERFERE

London, Jan. 19.—A statement that neueral interests shall not be allowed to interfere with Germany's struggle for victory was made at the opening of the Prussian diet yesterday by Herr Friedberg, leader of the national liberty party, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuters. Herr Friedberg was one of a number of speakers who urged a vigorous prosecution of the war and increased submarine activity. He said:

"We must expect from every neutral that he do not lay stress on his own interests where for us it is a fight for existence. Such interests must not prevent us from gaining a peace that will satisfy German aspirations and safeguard the world from new and similar catastrophes."

PALLBEARERS NAMED.

Judge Edward O'Rourke, J. E. Graham, E. V. Emrick, O. N. Heaton, Thomas E. Ellison and Sol A. Wood have been named as pallbearers for the funeral of Thomas W. Wilson, pioneer attorney, who died Thursday evening. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Klaehn & Melching chapel.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—With the state-wide prohibition bill ready for third reading in the house on Monday and with approximately 200,000 names signed to petitions asking the legislature to vote Indiana dry, to be presented today, a favorable setting was arranged for the dry forces of the state yesterday. The house committee on public morals reported favorably on the bill yesterday morning, and the report was adopted without opposition.

The printed copies were laid on the desks of the members afterward, and the bill is expected to go to second reading at this morning's session. The house is expected to adjourn at noon today until Monday, and when the members return to their seats after the week-end adjournment the liquor bill will be before them for final consideration. The dry forces expect the bill to pass the house by a large majority.

A few amendments to the bill giving druggists the right to sell alcohol under specified conditions and providing that manufacturing chemists may continue their enterprise without being in violation of the law were accepted by the house without opposition.

Petitions, which will be presented in the house probably urging the passage of the law, will come from the Anti-Saloon league and the Dry Federation of Indiana. The petitions come from all sections of the state, and it was the plan yesterday to give each member of the house the petitions from his legislative district and ask him to present them.

PEPPERED BY SUBMARINE.

British Steamer Escaped After Fifty Shots Had Been Fired.

Portland, Me., Jan. 19.—Officers of the British steamer Palm Branch, which arrived here yesterday from Cardiff to New York, reported today that a submarine fired fifty shots at the vessel while in the English channel early in November. Ten or twelve shots took effect, they said, one passing entirely through the ship above the water line. The steamer escaped by suddenly changing her course. A boy was struck and slightly injured. The Palm Branch returned to Cardiff for repairs and the officers said they learned the submarine later was captured or sunk.

DRIVERS AND DOGS TO SLEEP ON SNOW AND LIVE ON FROZEN FISH ON 500-MILE RACE.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 13.—The longest dog race ever run on the American continent will start from here Jan. 24 and finish in St. Paul, 500 miles distant, with the fastest dogs and best dog drivers of the Canadian trails entered.

It will be a contest between Indians and white men, and between their methods. Indians lash their dogs cruelly in attempts to gain ground; white drivers use the long lash seldom. The red-skin governs his pack by brutal force; the pale face by kindness.

This derby will be longer than the Alaskan derby, run annually between Nome and Candle and return, 412 miles. It will be 200 miles longer than the famous non-stop derby of the Hudson bay region.

Cash prizes of $1,000 will be awarded the winners if they are white men. Should an Indian get in among the leaders he receives a winter's supply of groceries, for they refuse to race for mere money. Gold coin means nothing to them; food and blankets do.

Tommy Spence, of Bad Throat, Man., the most noted of all Cree Indian drivers, is the redskin favorite. John Isfeld, who took 100 dogs to Shackleton, the British explorer, for the Antarctic trip, stands foremost among the white drivers. He will drive a pack of huskies, as pure bred as a husky can be. A husky traces his ancestry back years to a cross between the Canadian timber wolf and the Scotch collie.

It is expected the race will last six days, a trifle over 80 miles being traveled in a day. Spence and Isfeld have a side wager that the winner will make it in three days.

Drivers and dogs will sleep on the snow and live on frozen fish. Any other food, drivers say, would weaken the dogs' endurance, and might ruin their digestion for their stomachs have become accustomed to the frozen fish diet.

The drivers will run alongside their dogs most of the way, hopping into the carryalls from time to time for rest.

NATURALLY THOUGHT THEY WERE MARRIED

Landlady Felt Sure Couple Were Man and Wife When They Quarreled.

An experienced landlady, on South Calhoun street, felt sure that Oscar Murphy, of Danville, Illinois, and Esther Weverly, of Grand Rapids, Mich., were man and wife, because she could hear them quarreling in their room, she told the police.

The couple had told her they were married, she said. But police heard differently and removed the couple. They pleaded "not guilty" to an associating charge. Murphy summoned Attorney A. J. Noonham, of Grand Rapids, to defend him, in police court Friday.

Murphy claimed that the room on Calhoun street was for the girl alone and that he had not stayed with her. He had only visited her at times, he said.

Judge Kerr found the couple guilty. He fined them both $25 and costs. Jail sentence of thirty days was suspended in each case. Attorney Noonham will take the woman back to Michigan, he says and Murphy was told to leave Fort Wayne as soon as he is released from jail.

Other Police Court Cases.

William Hammond, of Bismarck, N. D., who has been in Fort Wayne but a week and who was charged with having been intoxicated on Thursday evening, insisted on calling Fort Wayne's leading street, "Kihune" street. He was fined $1 and costs.

Other cases of public intoxication were Edward Hill, $10 and costs; William Binkley, $5; William Mulligan was released.

Harry Lindemier, Robert Junk and Bruce Sterling, three negroes, were released after pleading guilty to loitering charges. Frank Smith, Mark Gorman and Frank Brown were allowed to leave town after being convicted of vagrancy.

Former Local Pastor Will Probably Succeed Rev. E. H. Clifford.

Rev. E. W. Allen, of Auburn, New York, former pastor of the West Jefferson street Church of Christ, who comes here Sunday, January 28, for a series of revival meetings, will probably be the next pastor of the East Creighton avenue Church of Christ, succeeding Rev. E. H. Clifford, who has tendered his resignation to accept a call from Clinton, Ind.

Rev. Allen will, in all probability, accept the call extended some days ago. He is well known in Fort Wayne.

Rev. Clifford came to the pastorate of the East Creighton avenue church in October of 1914. During his ministry here there have been added to the membership of the church 135. All departments have grown under his leadership.

For the past eighteen months Rev. Clifford has served as secretary of the Fort Wayne Ministerial association. He took an active part in the Lyan evangelistic campaign, serving as chairman of the press and publicity committee. For two seasons he has been the teacher of the Sunday school community training school. During his residence here Rev. Clifford has made many friends, all of whom, while regretting to see him leave, wish him unlimited success in his new charge. He expects to take up his work at Clinton on February 1.

THRIFT DAY WILL BE OBSERVED FEBRUARY 3

National Movement on Foot to Promote Saving Among People of Country.

For the benefit of such people who it is very possible would give an answer to the question, "What are you saving for a rainy day?" "My overshoes." Fort Wayne will with nearly every other city in the country observe February 3 as Thrift Day. This is the second annual observance, but the one this year will be more extensive than it was last year.

Several of the Fort Wayne banking institutions are displaying placards announcing the date when old and young might be especially encouraged to look into his personal habits and begin the elimination of waste and the practice of good management and thrift.

Telegrams and letters will be sent to the governor of the state of Indiana from Fort Wayne asking him to issue a proclamation, declaring February 3 as Thrift Day

Business men and manufacturers will also observe this day in fitting manner and will endeavor to bring home to the men whom they employ the value of economy, saving and thrift.

WILL ORGANIZE TONIGHT.

The movement for an organization of the building trades crafts affiliated with the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, which has been in progress for some weeks, will result in a permanent organization at Carpenter's hall tonight. The executive officers of all the building trades unions will hold the final conference there tonight, when permanent organization and the election of officers will be made. The idea, of course, is the building up of the trades affected.

AUBURN NEWS.

Auburn, Ind., Jan. 13.—Among the pneumonia patients in this city are Mrs. Alex Kinmont, of Ensley avenue, and Mrs. Alec McClure, a short distance south of this city. Both are very ill.

Mrs. Richard Shull passed away Thursday afternoon at the family home on West Third street, after an illness of six weeks. Mrs. Shull was a victim of pneumonia and for ten days her friends have had no hope of her recovery. She leaves her husband and one sister, Mrs. Charles Schaab, of this city.

Attorney Fred Shearer and John Keeran were visiting at Albion yesterday.

Mrs. Effie Hogue, mother of Frank Hogue, passed away at the home of her son, on North Main street, last night, at the advanced age of 91 years. Mrs. Hogue was born in Pennsylvania. She moved with her parents to Ohio when she was but a small child and shortly after came to Indiana, where she has since resided. Her companion died 44 years ago. She leaves three children, three having preceded her in death. The children are Miss Lydia Hogue and the son, Frank, both residents of this city, and Mrs. Florence Houke, of Salma, Cal. The funeral will be held from the late home, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and interment will be made at the Cedar Creek cemetery, which is near the old home at New Era, where she resided for eighty years.

Miss Blanch Tuttel, of Ludington, Mich., came this morning to visit Miss Elizabeth Bourns, of South Jackson street.

Fire prevention day will be observed in this city Tuesday, January 24, at which time several state fire inspectors will be here to address the people. The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the court house.

Rev. John McMillan, residing six miles northwest of Auburn, was found in an unconscious condition in the woods on his farm, Wednesday evening. He had been ill for some time but was much better and started for the woods. When he did not return soon his wife became alarmed and when the daughter, who is a student in the Waterloo high school, returned from her school she started to hunt her father and found him lying in the snow unconscious. He was removed to the house and lived but half an hour. The deceased was a circuit minister, having four churches in his charge. Owing to the fact he could not secure a house in Waterloo he moved to the farm. Besides his wife he leaves four children, Miss Angie, at home; a son and daughter married, residing near Plattsville, Mich., and a daughter attending college at Huntington. The funeral will be held at the Evangelical church at Waterloo, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and interment will be made at Plattsville, Mich.

Several General Electric men from the east have been in the city this week conferring with officials of the local plant on business matters. Among them were W. A. Ishler, of the transformer engineering department of the Pittsfield plant; A. E. Blanchard, who has charge of the oil testing laboratories at Pittsfield, and Jack Brobst, of the Schenectady offices.

ICE BLOCKS TRAFFIC ON THE WABASH

Mass Thirty Feet High Moves Down on Ferry at Detroit.

The accumulation of ice in the Detroit river, where the railway and the other ferry boats run, is the greatest at present within the recollection of old residents of that city. At places the ice is twenty to thirty feet deep and whenever it shifts down to the ferry lines, there is nothing doing in that business until the ice moves on. Last night the mass of ice prevented the passage of the ferry boats on which Wabash trains are transferred from the Canadian to the United States shores and as a result it became necessary to annul westbound Wabash train No. 9 and send a "makeup" over the line from Montpelier, Ohio, to St. Louis. The passenger ferry at Woodworth avenue was also out of service a good portion of the time yesterday and last night, on account of the great volume of ice.

THIRTY-SIX HOURS ON DUTY.

(Bellevue Gazette.)

After thirty-six hours of continuous service in the yards of the Nickel Plate here, Trainmaster C. E. Maxfield, of the Cleveland division, who came here from Cleveland Sunday afternoon, last night sought rest for the first time since taking charge of the local railroad yards early Sunday evening. This morning he was again on the job, assistin in working cars through the serious blockage which has resulted here from embargoes which have been placed in effect by many roads. Trainmaster E. S. Kirby, of the Fort Wayne division of the road, also was here assisting in the work today. The blockade, which has existed in the Bellevue yards of the Nickel Plate for several days, is reported to be one of the most serious in the history of the railroad and all available track space has been crowded and the task of moving cars through the congestion has taxed the capacity of the equipment here, which has been augmented by the addition of a large yard engine from the Cleveland yards of the company.

CONNECTED BY BRIDGES.

The steel girders for two bridges connecting buildings No. 26 and No. 19 at the General Electric works, were placed in position over Wall street this morning. One bridge is from the second story and the other from the fourth story of the big buildings. They will be used chiefly for pedestrians in passing from one building to the other. There are several of these bridges between buildings on the east side of Broadway and one, which connects the transformer room in the old factory building with the second story of the main factory building, No. 19, on Broadway, is called the "bridge of sighs," because of an imaginary resemblance to the famous passageway in the tombs prison in New York.

CHICKEN DINNER NEXT.

The members of the fire department at the General Electric works, whose abilities at a well provided table are exceeded only by the fire fighting abilities, will have a chicken dinner Thursday night, February 1. The feast will be at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a social gathering in the basement of the office, at which a prominent feature will be an address by Robert Gaskill, electrician and superintendent of the city fire department. Another feature will be a contest at the shuffleboard between William Bracht and Edward Holmes, to decide the question of championship. The committee of arrangements consists of F. G. MYSTERIOUS RAIDER DROPS OUT OF SIGHT

No Definite News Since She Parted With Jap Ship Week Ago.

Rio Janiero, Jan. 19.—Except for the accounts brought to Pernambuco by survivors of vessels which had been sunk, no authentic information has been received here regarding the unidentified German raider which has been roving the south Atlantic for more than a month. Since she parted company with the Hudson Maru, a week ago the raider has dropped out of sight and so far as can be ascertained is still at large.

Great anxiety is felt for the safety of various vessels in waters which are regarded as in the danger zone and various vessels reports of additional sinking are current but there is no indication that these stories have any substantial basis. The French merchantman Samara, 6,007 tons, which was reported to have been sunk, is safe and is due at Rio Janeiro this afternoon.

The vessel in regard to which the greatest concern is felt is the 8,000 ton British steamship Ortega, on her way to Pernambuco. It is reported from that city that she has returned to St. Vincent, but the report lacks confirmation.

No official information has been received in corroboration of the reported arrival at St. Vincent, Cape Verde islands, of the British steamship Yarrowdale, one of the vessels captured by the raider, which is supposed to have on board the crews of eight destroyed steamers.

From accounts given by men from the destroyed steamships as published in the newspapers, it appears that the raider has a speed of about 16 knots. The crews of the French barks Nantes and Asnieres, which arrived at Pernambuco on the Hudson Maru, took passage today on the Brazilian ship Minas Geraes for Bahia, Brazil, where they will await a French steamship to take them home.

SWEEPSTAKE CONTESTS ARE DECIDED TODAY

Valuable Poultry Prizes Are Awarded—The Homing Pigeons.

The exhibitors at the poultry show, two squares north of the court house, are especially interested in the action of the judges today because of the fact that at this time the judges will award the special prizes and the sweepstake honors. The association this year awarded in special classes, six valuable gold watches of the best known standard American makes, and a large and valuable collection of trophy cups, which are being assigned to the winners today. Special trophies for exhibitors from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, and many special cash prizes are also being placed.

Record-Breaking Homing Pigeons.

The display is made by members of the Old Fort Homing club, which is affiliated with the American Racing Pigeon union, with headquarters at Washington, D. C. Most of the larger cities of America have these racing pigeon clubs which are affiliated with the Washington association or with the International Federation of American Homing Pigeon Fanciers and the American Racing Pigeon association. It has been the good fortune of the city of Fort Wayne, however, to hold tightly to the world's flight records in six years, and the record now held will probably remain unbroken for many years to come.

The officers of the Old Fort Homing club are: President, Henry Beach; vice president, E. H. Menefee; treasurer, C. H. Volmerding; recording secretary, Al Dondot; corresponding secretary, A. M. Boerger; race committee, E. H. Menefee, O. W. Anderson, C. H. Volmerding, Elmer Brown and George Lenz.

Twice the world's records have been broken by birds owned by Dr. Carl Schilling, twice by birds of Henry Beach, and once each by birds owned by Louis Gebfert and O. W. Anderson. Concerning the methods adopted by the club in managing the races, Mr. Eggeman says: "Before we ship the birds out to the place from which they are to make their homeward flight, the race committee places upon the leg a metal band with a counter-mark on the inside, bearing the number of the bird, which identifies its owner. When the bird returns home from its flight, we have our timing."

Poultry Show Crowds.

The homing pigeon display is only one of the "side issues" of the big poultry show. The real royal representatives of poultrydom are to be seen among the thirty classes of splendid specimens arranged on the two floors of the exhibition building, two squares north of the court house.

The show will continue all this week, morning, afternoon and evening.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Nervousness over dangers to ocean shipping was plainly manifest in the wheat market today and sentiment quickly changed in accordance with rumored developments. Refusal of the interstate commerce commission to increase storage charges on export grain seemed to have been anticipated and did not affect the market. Opening quotations, which ranged from ⅜c to 1c higher, with May at $1.90½@1.91 and July at $1.54@1.54⅝, were followed by a quick setback to well under yesterday's finish and then a recovery.

Corn hardened on account of scantiness of country offerings. After opening unchanged to ⅝c higher, the market underwent a moderate general sag.

Oats took the same course as corn.

Higher quotations on hogs gave strength to provisions.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 19.—Shipping stocks were the leaders in today's early advance. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies rising 4½ points, with 1 to 2 for marines. Motors figured prominently in the movement with Pittsburg Coal, American Locomotive, Industrial Alcohol, International Paper, papers and fertilizers. United States Steel and Republic Iron were better by a point, also Central Leather, Western Union and American Zinc. The only noteworthy feature among the rails was the strength of Missouri Pacific issues. Bethlehem Steel was again reactionary, falling 5 points.

On the further rise of the first hour United States Steel touched 115⅜, or within half a point of its top price thus far this year. Bethlehem Steel fluctuated widely, however, showing unusual activity on its decline to 410, an overnight loss of 25 points and 60 under Tuesday's final quotation. The shipping group strengthened very substantially, including United States Fruit and Pacific Mail. Coppers improved with equipments and various miscellaneous issues. After a period of dullness trading became active again, Bethlehem Steel regaining 20 points, with a brisk inquiry for Mexican Bonds were irregular.

MAY CHOOSE ANOTHER BUILDING FOR SHOW

The members of the Automobile Trade association will hold a meeting within the next twenty-four hours at which, it is said, they may decide to hold the coming automobile show in another building than the Utility.

The committee on buildings has in mind several places regarded as more commodious than the one origally selected and as several insurmountable obstacles seem to face the exhibitors for that building it is probable that a change will be made.

It has been given out that if certain plans carry there is hardly any doubt about the coming show being the largest and best ever attempted in Fort Wayne.

MIDNIGHT HOURS BRING NO ALARM OF DREAD CROUP

And Mother Sleeps Without Fear of Hearing that Awful Brassy Choking Cough.

This fine boy is Master Charles Kern, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hurley, 1026 Madison St., LaPorte, Ind. Charles has a little "Bodyguard" who lives in a little blue jar, and protects him against croup, colds, sore throat, bronchitis—in fact all kinds of cold troubles.

The name of this "Bodyguard" is Vick's VapoRub Salve, and the best thing about him is that he doesn't have to be swallowed. To "post the guard," Charles' mother just applies VapoRub externally and covers with a warm flannel cloth. Quick relief comes by absorption through the skin and by inhalation as a vapor.

"We always try to keep VapoRub in the house," writes Mrs. Hurley, "as the children are very susceptible to croup. By rubbing it on their throats and chests they are soon relieved. My husband and I used VapoRub when we had pleurisy and our pains went almost immediately.

Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00.

SHORT KINDNESS, NOT SHORT SKIRT, DIVORCE CAUSE, SAYS WIFE.

MRS. ROSE CUFF

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Short skirts or short kindness—which is the better reason for divorce?

The circuit court here has decided a skirt two inches above the boot tops is cause for divorce and on this basis has freed William P. Cuff from his pretty, blithesome, 20-year-old wife.

But Mrs. Cuff protests the divorce should have been granted to her on the short kindness she says her husband bestowed upon her.

"If my skirts were as short as my husband's kindness he might have some cause for complaint," she says.

Cuff is 46 and married four years ago, when Mrs. Cuff was 16. The couple has two children, William, 3, and Marion 2.

"Mine was another tragedy of an early marriage," Mrs. Cuff says. "My parents live on a ranch in the west and sent me here to be educated. I ran away from school to marry.

"I wore a short skirt because I had to support myself by going on the stage."

FRANCE WILL MAKE CHANGES IN HER MAP

Paris, Jan. 19.—France is likely to come out of the war with a new map whether her exterior boundaries are changed or not. Napoleon's organization of her 86 departments, dating from 1799, has been condemned by nearly all French statesmen as inadequate for modern France. A strong movement that has, since the war, developed into an effective experiment in the organization of "regional economic consultative committees" may bring about a political redivision of the country into something like 18 administrative and legislative "regions."

The object is concentration of regional interests now scattered among the departments, with a decentralization of administrative measures. It would bring the French republic into closer analogy with the government of the United States by giving the proposed "regions" independence as to local regulations and economic problems such as the 86 departments have never had.

The man who has directed the movement is one of the younger men in public life, Jean Hennessy, deputy for the department of Charente and a member of the well known Hennessy family of southwestern France. He introduced a bill to that end in the chamber in 1913. It was still unacted upon when mobilization was ordered, and M. Hennessy joined his regiment. In the interval before the government returned from Bordeaux to Paris, he had earned the French military medal and the British distinguished service order. With the reassembling of parliament, he came back to push his project and succeeded in passing a compromise measure for the organization of economic consulting committees in each of the 19 military regions of France. A committee of the chamber has reported that the results of the experiment are excellent; they have furnished a forceful argument in favor of M. Hennessy's original proposition.

"The task of the French citizens after the war will be a hard one," said M. Hennessy to the Associated Press, "and they mustn't be handicapped by a superannuated administration that centralizes the administrative machinery in the capital, despite the 86 departmental divisions, and cramps the economic life of the country. Heretofore everything has gone to Paris or by way of Paris. All the big railway lines converged upon the capital and left the provincial regions out of touch with each other and without adequate direct communications with foreign countries.

"This centralization has prevented France from adapting herself to the economic transformations of the epoch. She failed to profit from her incomparable geographic position and she left a great part of her enormous natural riches unexploited. her economic installations were too slow in developing; her waterways were neither properly developed nor organized; industrial organization was perfected in only isolated cases and not generalized; several hundred thousand horse power in natural waterfall was neglected; agriculture even did not produce the maximum; there was no co-operation between scientists and practical business men; our capital was mostly applied to the development of other countries than our own.

"The only cure for all that is the cutting of the red tape that binds those regions to the capital and prevents the free play of local initiative.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—Advertisement.

THE GRIP.

Grip is something of a joke to those who have never had it, but when they get it they become dead to all sense of humor. No disease was ever more appropriately named because grip takes hold of the entire system. To get rid of it take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and carefully observe the directions with each bottle. This remedy is highly recommended by those who have used it and know its real value. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Says "Cadomene Tablets Proved Their Worth"!

Man to Man Talking Says: "Yes, Sir, Cadomene Tablets Revived Me After a Vain Search for Help."

"Several years ago, at forty-five, I was a nervous wreck, physically and mentally—but Cadomene Tablets made a well man of me; I was 'down and out,' as the saying goes. Why, I couldn't sleep, was weak, nervous, irritable, moody and gloomy, tired and worried-looking; in fact, was half-sick all the time—the result of hard work, some mild dissipation and a general carelessness about health, until this condition crept upon me. Then I began to worry, for I could compare the present with the past and realized my inefficiency becoming more pronounced, and I defy anyone to avoid 'worrying' under such a handicap at work, at home or anywhere. A vacation helped some, but soon I was in the same old rut.

"Now, friend, you look about like I felt at that time, and from what you've told me of your plight, I take it that my practical and experienced advice will be accepted. I want you to try Cadomene Tablets as I did; it's not a 'secret' medicine; the label tells us it contains iron, phosphorous and valuable tonic extracts from the best drugs known to science, and I can honestly say that in ten days' time I could notice a big change for the better after I began their use. Every tablet I took seemed to advance my condition and every step taken was held—no sliding back. Now I sleep well, eat heartily, arise refreshed, enjoy my work, and seek pleasures with keenest relish. Those dreadful pains in head and back, which you have, are all gone; ambition, energy and hope came surging back as in youth—and all told, I feel fine, like a new being,—glad to meet my duties whether business, social or domestic."

Cadomene Tablets promote the efficiency of food-energy, tone up, and regulate the functions so greatly, that the proprietors guarantee each package to give entire satisfaction or refund the purchase price. All wide-awake druggists sell them in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration. Take a fresh lease on an enjoyable life, by taking Cadomene Tablets.

HE WILL CARRY OUT JOHNSON POLICIES

Next Governor of California Will Follow in His Footsteps.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 17.—When Hiram W. Johnson resigns as governor of the state some time in February, Lieutenant-Governor W. D. Stephens will step into the executive's chair.

California's next governor says he believes strongly in the Johnson policies and that he will do all in his power to sustain them.

Stephens, who is 58, was appointed lieutenant-governor by Johnson last year, following the death of John Eshelman. He was at that time a congressman, enjoying the distinction of having been elected by the largest majority ever given a candidate for such an office.

The next governor of the state has fought his way up to success. He started out in life as a "printer's devil," and later was engaged in railroad construction in the middle west. In California he became a salesman in a firm that developed into one of the largest grocery establishments of Los Angeles. He advanced to a partnership.

While achieving this success he became prominent in politics and civil life. He was once president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and in 1909 was elected mayor of that city.

BLINDFOLD CHICKENS TO MAKE THEM ROOST

Residents of Alaska Contend They Now Have Too Much Daylight.

New York, Jan. 19.—Residents of Alaska are opposed to the daylight saving plan. The New York Daylight Saving committee, which is urging the adoption of the plan in this country, has made public the following letter from the secretary of the Skagway Commercial club, of Skagway, Alaska:

"I regret to inform you that the residents of Skagway could not possibly cooperate with you in this movement, from the fact that we would prefer to turn the clock back in the summer time, remembering that in the summer we have all day, all night, with a few minutes at midnight that is called dawn.

"Residents in the northerly part of the Yukon report that there is so much daylight there that it is necessary to blindfold the chickens so they may go to roost."

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Says glass of hot water before breakfast washes poisons from system.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.—Adv.

Concordians Hold Inter-Company Indoor Track Meet This Evening

INTER-COMPANY TRACK MEET AT COLLEGE GYM

Annual Indoor Event Will Be Staged Tonight by Concordia Students.

The annual indoor inter-company track meet of the Concordia students will be staged tonight at the college gym. The scene of action is all prepared and the banked speedway has been laid out for the athletes. The athletic program starts at 8 o'clock and will be preceded by a concert by the military band, led by John Verwiere. Several solo numbers will be given by well known artists who have been secured through the assistance of Mr. Verwiere.

Much interest always centers in the inter-company meet, the first of the season at the college, and the students have been working hard in preparation for the affair. The program includes the following events: Forty yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard run, 880 yard run, standing broad jump, standing hop, step and jump, running high jump and 220 low hurdles.

Captain Byroade will be referee and will have full charge. The other officials are Professor J. J. Ritter, track judge; Otto Striedor, field judge; H. B. Ellenwood and Tom Hayes, judges at the finish. A banner will be given the winning company and place winner in each event will be given ribbons.

WALSH MAY BECOME OWNER OF DES MOINES

The retirement of Bid Ed Walsh from major league baseball may forecast the control of the Des Moines Western league team by another member of the White Sox.

Walsh is seriously considering buying a controlling interest in the Des Moines team, following the purchase of the Wichita franchise by Frank Isbell, who held the controlling interest in the Des Moines team for several years.

Isbell was a member of the Sox when that team won the world championship in 1906.

TALKING IT OVER.

Mr. Ban Johnson
Chicago, Illinoy
Dear Ban
When you read
That letter
From Dave Fultz
The other day
You got mad
And said some
Naughty words
And other things
And you said
You would kick
Fultz out of baseball
And fly swat the
Players fraternity
And everything
And Ban tell us
Old dear
Why don't you
Have a record made
Of the things
You think about
Dave Fultz
And every year
Just stick it on
A phonograph
And wind it up
And save all the trouble
And not lose
Your angelic temper
And everything?
And send records
To all the papers
And they could use them
Every year.

JIMMY WILDE WILL JOIN ENGLISH ARMY

Jimmie Wilde, flyweight champion of the world, will join the British army in a few weeks, having passed the entrance examination recently.

Wilde was twice rejected by army surgeons on account of his weight. Wilde fights at from 98 to 102 pounds.

The little champion has been accepted for foreign garrison duty and probably will not see much trench fighting.

Before he joins the colors he probably will have a chance to secure permanent possession of the Lonsdale belt, as he is matched to box either George Clark or Young Symonds, former flyweight champion, January 29.

PENNSYLVANIA AND ELECTRICIANS WIN

THE STANDINGS

Teams.	W.	L.	Pct.
Pennsy	4	0	1.000
Electric Works	3	1	.750
Bowsers	1	3	.250
Dudlos	0	4	.000

In the first game of the second round of the Industrial Basketball league the standings remain the same, but are a little more pronounced. Some strange things happened in the contests last night. The Dudlo, cellar position, came mighty near putting over a win on the Railroaders, who lead the league. In the contest between the Bowsers and the Electric Works, the score comes far from telling the tale. The Bowser five had a lot more to their credit than will show in the summary, and if the forwards get to registering more often, the Tanks will be right up among the best.

Pennsy Has Narrow Margin.

Pennsy (7).		Dudlos (6).
Doriot	R. F.	Doerfler
Hoffman	L. F.	Wyss
Cramer	C.	Herring
Daley	R. G.	Walda
Henry	L. G.	Kierspe

Field goals—Doriot, 1; Hoffman, 2; Wyss, 2.

Foul goals—Doriot, 1; Herring, 2.

Referee—Harkenrider.

In a low score, rough game the Pennsy league leaders won from the Dudlo five last night by a count of 7 to 6. The guarding in the game was close and at some times ran into holding. Referee Harkenrider did little interfering in the opening period, which ended with a 4 to 1 lead for the Railroaders, but in the second half he had to break up the clinches and call the fouls. The losers came back in the last half, outscoring and outplaying the winners. The stellar playing of the game was done by the guards on both teams, their work keeping the score to where it was.

Rivals Have Battle.

Electric Works (20).		Bowsers (11).
Keplinger	R. F.	Freistroffer-Slater
Miller	L. F.	Weberuss
Vonderhaar	C.	Mens'g-Freistroffer
Blee-Outland	R. G.	Dietrich
Linde'uth-Outl'd.	L. G.	Kennedy

Foul goals—Weberuss, 3; Miller, 6.

Referee—Harkenrider.

The game between the five of the Electric Works and the Bowser outfit was much closer than the score indicates and called forth some mighty good work from the latter athletes on the defensive. The Electrical Works team has a trio of the best players in the city. Miller, Keplinger and Vonderhaar are on the floor together more, in all probability, than any other three players in these parts. With a scoring and floor working machine like they compose, it takes mighty good opposition to hold them down at all.

The Bowser crew had their troubles trying to cage the pill last night and have had all season, but they have credit coming for holding the Electricians down and preventing a massacre. The General Electric guarding was far from poor, and if the Bowser forwards had been sharpshooters they would have had a hard time getting within scoring distance.

The scoring was started by Dietrich when he dropped in the first basket of the game for the Tanks. After overcoming this advantage, however, the Electricians were always ahead, the first period ending with a 9 to 5 advantage for them. Vonderhaar, for the winners, and Dietrich and Kennedy, for the losers, were the stars of the game. The Bowser guards were the big noise in breaking up their opponents' attack.

This game was far from gentle, and Harkenrider had his troubles here, too. Close guarding and holding caused the trouble here, as in the other game.

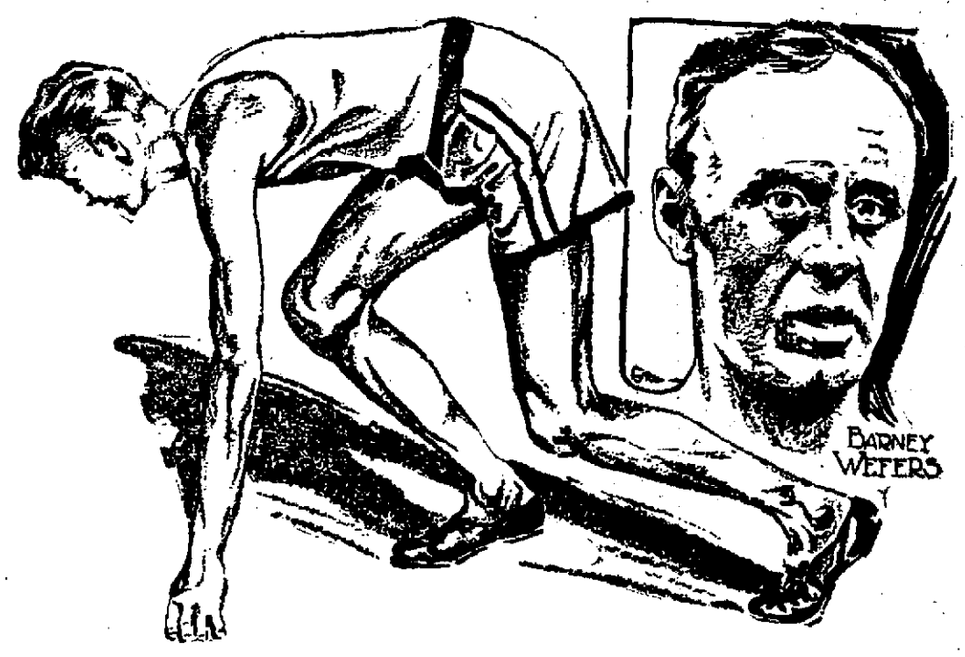
NOTES OF THE SESSION.

After the second game was over last night the league bosses and the managers of the different aggregations put their heads together (figuratively speaking) and decided that something must be done to cut the rough stuff out of the games. They finally hit on the plan of the captains talking to their men, telling them the games must be cleaner or the team will die a hard death, which is the case. No good exhibition of basketball can be given when the guarding is so close it is hard to distinguish from holding. It reminds the spectators too much of the new style of fighting.

This shop league basketball is one of the most popular sport features that was ever introduced in the city. It is a paying game and, if the games are played in the right way and the rooting done in the same way, it creates a friendly rivalry between the employes of the larger industries of the city, which will lead to formation of leagues in other sports and go a long ways toward furnishing amusements. Anyhow, the league is popular.

The Pennsy five is one of the smoothest working machines seen around here in a long time. The players all work together and there is no rivalry to see which can get the most baskets. Their playing has put them on the top now and they stand mighty good chances of finishing the season there.

BARNEY WEFERS, JR., FOLLOWS FOOTSTEPS OF FAMOUS FATHER—BURNS UP THE CINDER PATHS.



BY PAUL PURMAN.

The rule in athletics that the son of a great athlete is never as good as his father in the same sport promises to be broken by Barney Wefers, jr., son of the sprinting champion of fifteen years ago.

A boy of 17, young Barney is already setting records on the track which indicate he will be even greater than his father because he is more versatile.

Young Wefers is not only a crack sprinter, but has won honors in the hurdles and jumps, fields which his father never entered.

But the boy is much better in outdoor competition than on an inside track. Last spring he won four firsts for DeWitt Clinton high school against the Columbia freshmen, taking the 100 and 220 dashes, the 220 low hurdles and the broad jump.

It is the first time in track athletics where a son has given promise of being as successful as his father.

In the ring sons have been failures. Bob Fitzsimmons' son, much press-agented a couple of years ago, was a dismal failure.

The only case of father and son making good in baseball was of the two Jim O'Rourkes, senior and junior. Jim senior was leading batter of the National league in 1884 and a big league player for 21 seasons, 13 of which he batted over .300.

But young Jim, although getting a trial in the majors, only lasted one season and went back to the minors.

Cases of brothers who have made good in the same sport are rare.

The famous Delehanterys are perhaps the best example. The Gibbons brothers, Mike and Tom, are the best examples in the ring. There are two brothers of Charley White doing fairly well in the squared circle. Leach Cross' brother, Phil, also boxed fairly well.

LAKE FOREST PUTS UP OPPOSITION TONIGHT

Work has been cut out for the Lyceum Feds when they meet the Lake Forest 'varsity tonight. The local quintet is taking on a big proposition and a win over the collegians this year will be a feather in the hats of the South Siders. They won from the collegians last year but slipping over two swats in the same place is liable to prove a good evening's work.

The Lake Forest 'varsity has been compared quite a little with the 'varsity of Wabash college of Crawfordsville, which quintet won from the Em-Roes last night for the second time this season. Both teams represent comparatively small schools but have been wiping up the products of the big universities right along. Among other outfits, Lake Forest has defeated the University of Chicago.

The Feds are in good condition, having worked out regularly this week, and the floor is improving right along. The five which has been starting the games right along will take the floor this evening and is as follows: Miller and Keplinger, forwards; Vonderhaar, center; Blee and Brown, guards.

WEEGHMAN WILL RULE WITH AN IRON HAND

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Charles H. Weeghman, president of the Chicago Nationals, today added emphasis to his policy announced early this week in dealing with ball players who refuse to sign contracts, and offered the case of James Archer, catcher, as an object lesson. The veteran catcher recently refused a contract calling for $4,000, claiming that the cut from $7,500 was too great. Mr. Weeghman said he had sent Archer a second contract calling for considerable less than $4,000. "I first sent Archer a contract which called for $4,000," he said. "This might be considered fair when it is remembered that he batted at a .220 clip and played in 61 games last season. I've sent him a second contract calling for considerable less money than the first and he can take it or leave it, as he sees fit, or find employment elsewhere. I am ready to take the same action with any ball player who wishes it." Mr. Weeghman pointed out that the Chicago's club salary list last season was $145,000 and asserted that about $75,000 or $80,000 is all a big league club can afford. He reiterated former statements replying to threats by David L. Fultz, president of the baseball players' fraternity, to call a strike of the Chicago players on February 20, that the club's special train would leave for the training camp at Pasadena, Cal., on that date "if there is not a single player on hand."

INTERNATIONAL CIRCUIT

Chicago, Jan. 19.—President B. B. Johnson of the American league has returned from New York with the announcement that the International league will close its gates the coming season should the ball players' fraternity insist on its demands. He also reiterated what he said in the east in regard to the threatened strike, insisting that the National and American leagues would have no dealings with President Fultz of the fraternity in the future.

"The International league held a meeting in New York before I left," said Mr. Johnson, "at which the owners in the league discussed the advisability of closing their gates next season. The league lost a lot of money last year, and as a result of the demands of the players' fraternity this year the owners figure that they would save a lot by nailing up their parks."

There is a great demand for road building experts and workmen in all parts of the country.

CHAMP GIRLS' TEAM PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

Warsaw Sextette Will Give Locals a Good Outfit to Defeat.

The main trouble with the Fort Wayne high girls' basketball team this year has rested in the fact that they have played no teams which furnished them real opposition. Tonight they meet the sextette from Warsaw high, touted as the best in this part of the state, at the James Smart gym. The game starts at 7:15 o'clock in order that the visitors can catch a train.

This visiting aggregation last week played the Elkhart girls at Elkhart, and won. This is the first time the Elkhart bunch has been beaten on its own floor in seven years. The Warsaw girls have been piling up scores something like those of the local team all season and the two should put up some game. It will give local fans an idea on how good the Fort Wayne high team is.

An effort to bring the Warsaw boys here tonight to play the 'varsity failed, and the scrubs will oppose the first team after the girls' game. The election of a new captain for the boys' squad, which was to have been held last night, has been postponed until the first of next week.

PINKIE MITCHELL NOW AFTER KILBANE'S JOB

Richie says his brother is the fastest thing he ever saw on two legs and predicts he will be featherweight champion within two years.

"Pinkie" has been boxing with amateurs and has flattened a number in three round bouts staged by the A. A. U. in Milwaukee.

"I've taught that kid everything I know," Richie said, "and he's shown me some things I never saw before. Kilbane better sidestep this youngster when he gets ready to tackle the professionals."

HOW ABOUT DUTCH WITHOUT CARRIGAN?

Boston fans are wondering what success Dutch Leonard will have at Boston this year if Bill Carrigan sticks to his determination to retire from baseball.

For Carrigan has caught Leonard ever since he joined the Red Sox and many critics believe that half of the big southpaw's effectiveness was due to Carrigan's assistance.

Leonard is of a peculiar disposition and is temperamental and no receiver has been so well able to keep him under control as the Sox manager.

PREPARE FOR COMING OF WORLD CHAMPIONS

The St. Mary's five is working hard in preparation for the coming of the Oswego world champions Sunday afternoon. The local crew is going to make one big bid for a swat at the little old title while they have a chance, just to make their claim on the state title more secure (after they win from the Em-Roes). At least the New Yorkers will get a good workout in their engagement in this city and will have a chance to remember the burg.

WITH THE AMATEURS.

Hugs, 31, Turner Juniors, 14.

Packards, 18; St. John's Juniors, 16.

The St. Mary's Mohawks desire a game with any team averaging between 90 and 100 pounds, the St. Paul's Sevenths preferred. Call 2066 green.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy; just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Advertisement.

STILL OWE OLD DEBTS.

Paris, Jan. 19.—Discussion of the proposition for the integral reparation of all war damages in France has developed the fact that some French cities and villages have not yet finished paying obligations incurred in order to satisfy requisitions by the German armies in 1870.

Two villages of the old department of the Haute Marne, four villages of the Aisne, one of the Haute Saone, two of the Somme, and eight in Meurthe and Moselle still owe a portion of the money borrowed to pay the contributions levied upon them, while the city of Amiens, fined a million francs during the short occupation of 1914 has not yet finished paying the five millions the Germans levied on the town in 1870. She still owes three millions.

PERTINENT QUERIES PUT BY THE GERMANS

Twenty-one pertinent questions regarding the circumstances leading up to the war and about the issues that have arisen since its outbreak are asked in a statement given out by the Overseas News agency, a semi-official bureau for dissemination of news to neutral countries. The statement is believed to have been inspired by the German government in answer to the charges made by the Entente reply to President Wilson.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—The Overseas News Agency gave out the following statement, which it says emanates "from a competent and well-informed authority":

"The queries and reproaches raised by the Reuter office by order of the British government, in order to lay at Germany's door the guilt for the outbreak of the war, are not ignored by anybody.

Ask Recall of Grey's Attitude.

"They are the same phases refuted by us long ago. We make some counter-queries:

"Did not Sir Edward Grey declare that England would renounce the idea of a conference for an amicable settlement of the Serbian question which lead to the war if Germany succeeded in making Austria-Hungary negotiate directly with Russia, and did not Germany's steadfast efforts succeed?

"Was not the offer of an arbitration court made on the same day that Russia mobilized against Austria-Hungary, the ally of Germany, and to whose assistance Germany was compelled by treaty?

"Was not this offer an unfair demand which could be answered by Germany only in the fashion in which it was answered?

"Did not the British ambassador in Petrograd as early as July 25, warn M. Sazonoff against ordering mobilization since Germany could not be satisfied with a counter-mobilization, but must immediately declare war?

Were Neutral Offers Made?

"Was it not in England's hands to stay out of the war, but did she not prefer to use the opportunity to assault Germany after Sir Edward Grey had refused to remain neutral even in the case that Belgian neutrality and the integrity of France and the French colonies were guaranteed by Germany?

"Is it not visible from this fact and from the strict refusal to give any conditions whatever under which Great Britain would remain neutral, that it was England's absolute will to attack?

"Did not Russia, after carrying out her mobilization, express her gratitude to England for the 'firm attitude' which was observed by England towards Germany?

"Why is Reuter's silent about Ireland, where British officers, out of sheer lust of killing, shot innocent Irishmen without court martial?

Boer Crisis Pointed Out.

"Do not the British remember the concentration camps during the Boer war when thousands of innocent Boer children perished, and does not the British government know what a great number of Boers now are thinking of England?

"Is the British government ignorant of the duma discussions about the treatment of foreign nationals in Russia?

"Only recently the Russian deputy Tschenkely said in the duma that it had been openly said that the Russian government during the war offended all humanity and divine laws regarding a great number of nations.

"Have not, according to the testimony of duma members, numbers of innocent Jews in Russia been hanged while Mohammedans in the Caucasus have been tortured to death?

"Have not England and France, under hypocritical pretexts of acting as protecting powers, made requests of sovereign Greece which by far exceed those which Austria-Hungary was compelled to ask of Serbia?

Colonies Obtained in Peace.

"As to colonies, Germany obtained hers by peaceful negotiations. Germany is not responsible for an account of guilt such as England is guilty of in India and France in Morocco.

"Can England furnish any proof for the affirmation that Germany, before the British, laid mines in the German sea, placed mines anywhere except off the German and English coasts and approached British waters, after corresponding warning to the neutrals?

"Is not the German submarine war exclusively a reprisal against the British policy of starvation?

"Are the British ignorant of the fact that Paris was a regular fortress and was besieged by the Germans according to the laws of war?

"Do the English know that there are Russian prison camps where thousands of Germans perished miserably, camps such as Totzkoi, where no less than 17,000 died?

"It is known in Europe that in several prison camps frozen bodies were piled upon another in front of the camps.

Envoy Slain Under Police Eyes.

"Why does Reuter's mention the Lusitania case while it does not mention the pogroms at Johannesburg, London and Moscow, the Baralong and King Stephen cases, the case of Felice Pfadt, the shooting of innocent German merchants in Morocco, the assassination of an official of the German embassy in Petrograd, Kettner, under the eyes of and with the assent of the Russian police?

"Does not the British press discuss the British proposals of 1887 about Belgium?

"Do they avoid the confession that the British government knows two interpretations of international law, according to whether it is of advantage to one or the other of her interests?

"Why did the British government prohibit the publication of reports from the Belgian ministers about the encircling policy of England?

"Is it ashamed of its own actions?"

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You will get more for your money at Trivers in spite of Special Sales elsewhere

Fact of the matter is, these "special sales" are proof of our many statements that buying of the ordinary retailer means you pay more, because the retailer must make his expenses, and a profit besides, and you have to pay for it.

We Manufacture--and Sell Direct

We are not trying to make you believe that we are doing business without profit—but our profit is that of the manufacturer. We have just one profit to make. Because we sell direct to the wearer we eliminate the retailer entirely, and you, the wearer, benefit to the extent of not having to pay a double set of profits, when you buy Triver's Clothes.

Suits, Overcoats, Evening Clothes

$10 OUR TWO PRICES $15

SAME THE YEAR AROUND

We have cut the cost of selling---thereby cut your cost of buying!!

Our big New York manufacturing establishment is busy every day in the year, turning out just one kind and quality of clothing. If we sold this clothing to dealers, we would charge them the same price as we charge the wearer now. Those dealers would then have to add their profit and expense to that wholesale price—which means you would necessarily have to pay more.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for January 21

FIRST DISCIPLE OF THE LORD JESUS.

LESSON TEXT—John 1:35-49.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus saith unto him, follow me.—John 1:43.

The words "I see" or "behold" occur fifteen times in this first chapter. John was a witness to the Son of Man. This term, "Son of Man," occurs eighty times in the gospel. The words "Come and see," or their equivalents, occur nine times in this lesson. This is a great invitation lesson. It would be interesting if the scholars would tell what the voices are which say, "Come," and those which are urging them to "stay" away from God. Bethabara was probably two miles from the fords of the Jordan, where John baptized. Jesus was thirty years old, just entering upon his ministry. Tiberius Caesar was the emperor and Pontius Pilate the governor of Judea.

I. The Son of Man Attracts Men. (vv. 35-39) not by his ethical teachings nor alone by his works and his character, but what he was and inspired in others attracted men to Jesus (John 10: 41). Crowds still gathered around the baptizer who "changed the hearts of men as by a spell." John, the Baptizer, brought terror to men. He broke through the crust of self-righteousness and indifference, and compelled men to see their need of forgiveness and of a new life, but the time had come when John must step aside, and Jesus "to increase," to begin his ministry. Four successive days are noticed in this chapter. Andrew (v. 40), and doubtless the apostle John, who wrote this account, were the two disciples (v. 35) to whom John, the Baptizer, speaks. It is interesting to note the different kinds of men who were attracted to Jesus; the aggressive Peter, the reflective Thomas, the practical Judas. He had what the souls of men needed, and they followed him. Aware of their questioning, Jesus turns to them with the question: "What think ye?" the first recorded words of his public ministry. This is a great testing question of every man's life. What is the aim and purpose of your life? Jesus, the kingdom of God, goodness, righteousness, usefulness or on the other hand selfishness, worldliness, success, ambition, money, pleasure? These disciples who had listened to this testimony of the baptizer, replied that they wanted to know where he dwelt, implying that they would like to talk with him and discuss the problems which were arising in their minds. Three steps of Christian experience are here suggested. These two disciples heard, they looked and they followed. Other steps must come shortly, but we must first look at Jesus as the Lamb, if we are to follow him as our example. We must believe what he has done (Rom. 3:25) before we can ask what would Jesus do or try to imitate him. It is by following that we demonstrate that we have really looked unto him and been saved.

II. The Son of Man Cares for His Own. (vv. 39-42). The instruction which they received from abiding with him impelled them, as we have already indicated, to go out and spread the good news. The greatest act in the life of Andrew was the bringing of his brother Peter to Jesus. Jesus changed Peter's name, and gave him a prophecy of his future life and career. He saw the possibilities within him, though it took much instruction, bitter experiences, prayer and long abiding with Jesus before he attained to those possibilities. It is this passage which gave rise to the organization of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which has adopted, first, the "Rule of Prayer," that of daily prayer for the spread of Christ's kingdom among young men; second, "The Rule of Service," to make an earnest effort each week to bring at least one young man within the hearing of the gospel of Jesus Christ. On the morrow Jesus would go forth to Galilee, that is to the East side, across the Jordan river, and on the way he found Philip. It was Philip who asked the question, "Show us the Father," and of whom the question was asked as to the resources sufficient to feed the hungering multitude (John 6:5). John, the Evangelist, alone tells us about Philip. Philip saw not only the resources of Jesus, but he saw a union of the law of the prophets (v. 45) in this Jesus, and therefore could and did invite his brother to Jesus.

Nathaniel (v. 46) repeated a proverb of the country, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" Philip's reply was: "Come and see," and to his amazement Jesus reveals not only his character but his supernatural power; whereupon Nathaniel's reply was: "Thou art the Son of God, the King of Israel" (v. 49). Jesus, seeing his faith, promised that he should see still greater things (vv. 50, 51).

Everybody in this lesson who found Jesus seemed to go at once for someone else, and though some were sceptical, yet their scepticism ended, even as Nathaniel's, in following him.

BELGIAN KING NOW SHOWING CLEMENCY

The Hague, Netherlands, Dec. 30.—Correspondence of The Associated Press)—King Albert, as commander-in-chief of the Belgian army, has recently exercised clemency towards 150 military prisoners incarcerated at Fresnes. After the experiences of his army at Liege, Namur and Antwerp, the king was obliged to introduce an iron discipline in order to maintain a high morale among the troops. The slightest offense was punished with the greatest severity. Men who in ordinary circumstances would have received a light penalty, during the days of the battle of the Yser were condemned to five or six years' penal servitude. Today, with the army again strongly organized and permeated with a high spirit, clemency can be exercised without danger, and groups of the condemned are set at liberty, from time to time.

The latest batch of released men exchanged their prison garb for a new uniform at Le Mans. They received their new equipment with a cry of "Long live the King!" and subsequently were sent direct to the front.

HAPPY OLD AGE.

When old age carries with it hosts of friends, good health and an abundance of this world's goods, it should be as happy as any period of our existence. That is old age as it should be, but too often it means poor digestion, torpid bowels, a sluggish liver and a general feeling of ill health, despondency and misery. This condition can be greatly alleviated, however, by taking one of Chamberlain's Tablets each day immediately after supper. That will strengthen the digestion, tone up the liver and regulate the bowels, then that feeling of despondency will give way to one of hope and good cheer. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

NEGROES SAY LABOR MEN FOOLED THEM

Elkhart, Ind., Jan. 18.—One hundred negroes from Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi are now being employed with the construction gangs of the New York Central railroad working out of this city. The men are hired, it is claimed, because it is impossible to secure the necessary unskilled white labor.

Some of these negroes came to this city as early as last summer. Many of them have broken into the local police court on several occasions. About six weeks ago a party of them appeared before the local police magistrate and claimed that they had been brought to this city by promises which had never been fulfilled.

The laborers assert that they were induced to come north by promises made to them by labor contractors, and that upon arriving, these promises were never kept. The railroad officials are not to blame for the trouble. These officials contracted for so many negroes at a certain figure, it is claimed, and made no promises, other than those of employment.

The negroes claim that the man who hired them promised to give them free transportation to allow their wives to join them here. In case they became dissatisfied they were to be given free transportation back to their homes.

The men are being quartered at the hump and at the old roundhouse. Many of them are dissatisfied and are anxious to join their wives back in the sunny southland.

The black territory in the map above shows the nations involved in fighting, with their colonies, which in most cases have sent soldiers to the front. Aside from the republics of the western hemisphere, the only nations not in the combat are seven in Europe: Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Spain, Switzerland and Greece; Abyssinia and Liberia, in Africa, where also there are Spanish colonies; Persia, Afghanistan, Siam, and the Chinese empire.

ECONOMY EVERYWHERE.

London, Jan. 19.—As a result of the War Savings committee appeal for less extravagance, weddings conducted in Belgravia's most fashionable church have been shorn of their most expensive trimmings. Church decorations and orders for bouquets have been reduced about ninety per cent. and the flowers which used to be sent now go to the hospitals. Bridesmaids have almost been dispensed with and the bride usually carries a prayer book instead of an expensive bouquet, while her dress is simplicity itself.

The verger at the famous St. Georges church, Hanover Square, says that while the wedding awning used to go up many times a month, it has only been used twice since last August. There is scarcely ever a choral service now and the bride and groom more often drive direct to the railway station than to a reception.

COAL PRODUCTION RECORDS SMASHED

Washington, Jan. 19.—The production and consumption of coal in the United States in 1916 exceeded all past records. The quantity of bituminous coal mined last year is estimated by C. E. Lesher, of the United States geological survey, department of the interior, as slightly more than 509,000,000 net tons, an increase, compared with 1915, of more than 66,500,000 tons or 15 per cent., and greater by 31,000,000 tons than the record of 1913.

Data furnished by the anthracite bureau of information indicate that the production of Pennsylvania anthracite was 88,312,000 net tons, about 600,000 tons less than in 1915. The total output of coal in the United States is thus estimated at 597,500,000 net tons and the official figures when compiled may shoow 600,000,000 tons, compared with 570,000,000 tons in 1913.

The estimate, which is to be followed shortly by a more detailed statement, shows that the increase was general, only three states, Maryland, Oklahoma and Texas, having had a smaller production than in 1915.

Ohio Heads Increases.

The largest increase was in Ohio, whose production in 1916 is estimated at 37,000,000 tons, compared with 22,435,000 tons in 1915, a gain of 65 per cent. Colorado, New Mexico, Virginia and Washington show increases of more than 20 per cent., and Kentucky, Montana, North Dakota, Tennessee, West Virginia and Wyoming oof 14 to 18 per cent. In Pennsylvania the increase was about 17,000,000 tons or 11 per cent.

The consumption of coal by the railroads in 1916 is estimated to have been 17,500,000 tons greater than in 1915, the use of coal in the manufacture of coke was greater by 20,500,000 tons, export increased about 7,000,000 net tons, the coal miners used 500,000 tons more for steam and heat, and the increase in consumption, mainly by the manufacturing industries, was 21,000,000 tons.

The increased consumption of bituminous coal by the railroads and industrial interests of the country during the year brought about a condition in which the demand for coal was greater than the ability of the railroads to deliver it, and in some localities greater than the ability of the mines to produce it, because of scarcity of labor. There is no lack of coal in the ground, or of mines from which it can be obtained. The soft coal mines, however, are not equipped to store coal that has been mined, and the coal must be loaded into railroad cars as soon as it is dug—in fact, the miners as a general rule do not go into a mine unless the cars are on hand to take the day's output.

Coal Sold on Contract.

The greatest part of the bituminous coal produced in 1916 was sold on contracts at prices (agreed upon during the early part of the year) that represented increases little if any more than the increases in wages granted the miners. The high prices at which the small quantity of coal not contracted for was sold during the last three months of the year were the result of excess of demand over supply. The buyers bid the price up, and as happens in the marketing of any article or commodity under like conditions, there was doubtless some speculative holding and trading that tended to raise prices. This factor and the inclination of the middleman and retailer to exact extra profits are not believed to have been any greater as regards coal than as regards other necessities whose prices have risen during the last few months.
